

James Chen Annual Award for Best Journal Article

© Springer Science+Business Media B.V. 2010

UMUAI is proud to announce that the following paper has been elected as the recipient of the 2009 James Chen Annual Award for Best Journal Article:

Addressing the assessment challenge with an online system that tutors as it assesses

Mingyu Feng, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Worcester, MA, USA

Neil Heffernan, Worcester Polytechnic Institute, Worcester, MA, USA

Kenneth Koedinger, Carnegie Mellon University, Pittsburgh, PA, USA

The paper appeared in UMUAI 19(3), 2009, pp. 243–266. It was selected based on nominations from journal reviewers and editorial board members, and a subsequent comparative review of the shortlisted papers by an award committee.

The James Chen Annual Award for Best Journal Article has been donated by the Chen family in commemoration of James R. Chen, a creative researcher in the area of user modeling and information retrieval, and twice a UMUAI author. The award carries a cash price of US$ 1,000.