

Erratum to: Household Archaeology in Polynesia: Historical Context and New Directions

Jennifer G. Kahn¹

Published online: 21 October 2016
© Springer Science+Business Media New York 2016

Erratum to: J Archaeol Res (2016) 24:325–372 DOI 10.1007/s10814-016-9092-9

The original version of the article unfortunately contained an error in Specialized-Use House Sites and Occupational Specialization section. The term “store scars” should be read as “store sacra”. The corrected paragraph is given below:

Another axes of variability relates to differences between houses used as domestic residences (sleeping houses) and those used as communal structures, including those to house visitors and ritual practitioners, those to store sacra, and those serving as men’s houses where men ate and carried out communal activities.

The online version of the original article can be found under doi:10.1007/s10814-016-9092-9.

✉ Jennifer G. Kahn
jgkahn01@wm.edu

¹ Anthropology Department, College of William & Mary, Washington Hall, Room 103, 241 Jamestown Rd., Williamsburg, VA 23185, USA