

Handbook of Clinical Child Neuropsychology

Third Edition

Edited by Cecil R. Reynolds and Elaine Fletcher-Janzen

© Springer Science + Business Media, LLC 2009

The American Board of Pediatric Neuropsychology (ABPdN) has enjoyed equal recognition with the American Board of Professional Psychology and American Board of Professional Neuropsychology (ABN) as evidence of expertise in neuropsychology for the purposes of specialty endorsement as a neuropsychologist in a variety of states (e.g., Louisiana). The ABPdN was the first board officially recognized by Florida's psychology licensing board when it was required to approve or endorse specific certifying bodies by legislative fiat. The American Board of Pediatric Neuropsychology, in existence since 1995, is the only board to be exclusively pediatric in focus since its inception. This information was inadvertently omitted from Chapter 1.

DOI: 10.1007/978-0-387-78867-8_33