

Introduction

Before beginning this story of my life, I'd like to give credit to so many guys who encouraged me to do things. These people include, here in New York: George Avakian, Brick Fleagle, Rev John Garcia Gensel, Cliff Glover, John Hammond, Nat Hentoff, Dan Morgenstern, Sy Oliver, Hank O'Neal, George Wein and Ben and Jeanne Wright; elsewhere in the USA and Canada: Hughie Clairmont, Stanley Dance, Schifford Garner, Nat Pierce and Pat Scott; in England: Max Jones, Humphrey Lyttelton and Steve Voce; in Europe: Yannick Bruynoghe, John Darville, Felix Debrit, Charles Delaunay, Hugues Panassié, Johnny Simmen and Jack Armitage; and, last but not least, Dr Roger Currie in Australia and Yasuo Segami in Japan.

I should like to make honorary mention of some of my friends who have passed on since I began the book, all of whom have been part of my story: Willard Alexander, Count Basie, Eddie Beal, Kenny Clarke, Bill Coleman, Vic Dickenson, George Duvivier, Clarence Glass, Jr, Earl Hines, Helen Humes, Harry James, Budd Johnson, Dill Jones, Jo Jones, Kenny Kersey, Ed Lewis, Dan Minor, Benny Morton, Bill Pemberton, Peppy Prince, Gene Ramey, Ernie Royal, Zoot Sims, Joe Turner, Dick Vance, Dicky Wells, Cootie Williams and Trummy Young.
