

SNOWFLAKE

Lawrence Mark Lesser

Some say “no two alike”,
others say
“not too alike”.
Like Koch,
we iterate
through identities
and intersections—
a thickening
fringe.

Microaggressions
and microaffirmations
quickly crystallize ‘til finite
mind’s surrounded
by endless boundary
whose dimension is not one, yet not two, triggering avalanches and
blizzards of
needles,
platelets,
and rime
over
once safe
terrain.
Who says “fragile” in the climate we have now?

The University of Texas at El Paso
El Paso
USA
e-mail: Lesser@utep.edu