Unfortunately, images for Figs. 1, 2 and 3 were interchanged in the original article. The correct figures and their corresponding captions are as follows:

Fig. 1 Locomotor behavior (collapsed categories). Data are expressed as mean values for the entire data set. Percentage represents each category as a percentage of the total locomotor data set

Fig. 2 Substrate use and positional behaviors. a Support type and maintenance behaviors. b Frequency of locomotor behaviors on different substrate types

Fig. 3 Body size and limb proportions effect on locomotion. The figures are amended from Gebo and Chapman (1995a) to include data from this study (in open triangle). Data labels are first 3 letters of each species name. a Body size and leaping frequency during travel. b Intermembral index and leaping frequency during travel
