Publications include: The Gospel of Christian Atheism (Westminster Press, 1966), Radical Theology and the Death of God (with William Hamilton) (Penguin, 1968), and The New Gospel of Christian Atheism (Davies Group, 2002).

Christopher Craig Brittain is senior lecturer in Practical Theology at the University of Aberdeen. He is on the editorial board of the journal Critical Research in Religion (SAGE) and for the book series Studies in Critical Research in Religion (Brill). Publications include: Adorno and Theology (T&T Clark, 2010) and Religion at Ground Zero: Theological Responses to Times of Crisis (Continuum, 2011).

Clayton Crockett is professor and Director of Religious Studies at the University of Central Arkansas. He is the author of five books, most recently Deleuze Beyond Badiou (Columbia University Press, 2013). He is a coeditor, along with Slavoj Žižek, Creston Davis, and Jeffrey W. Robbins, of the book series Insurrections: Critical Studies in Religion, Politics, and Culture, with Columbia University Press.

Richard Grigg is a professor in the Department of Philosophy, Theology, and Religious Studies at Sacred Heart University in Fairfield, Connecticut. He has studied Tillich as a radical theologian for many years. His book on Tillich is Symbol and Empowerment: Paul Tillich's Post-Theistic System (Mercer University Press, 1985).

Mike Grimshaw is associate professor in Sociology at Canterbury University, Christchurch, New Zealand. He is a series editor for Radical Theologies (Palgrave Macmillan). Publications include editing The Counter-Narratives of Radical Theology and Popular Music: Songs of Fear and Trembling (Palgrave Macmillan 2014) and Bibles and Baedekers. Tourism, Travel, Exile and God (Equinox 2008). He works on the intersections of radical theology and thought, culture, society, and whatever else interests him. Currently, he is editing the letter of Tom Altizer for a forthcoming volume in the Radical Theologies series (Palgrave Macmillan), reassessing the impact and legacy of Romerbrief on the turn to Paul in continental thought and considering—via Vattimo—what a hermeneutic capitalism might look like.

Thomas A. James is pastor of Covenant Presbyterian Church in Southfield, Michigan. Previously, he was on the theology faculty at Union Presbyterian Seminary in Richmond, Virginia. Publications include In Face of Reality: The Constructive Theology of Gordon D. Kaufman (Wipf and Stock, 2011), and, with Chris Baker and John Reader, A Philosophy of Christian Materialism: Entangled Fidelities and the Public Good (Ashgate, forthcoming in 2015).

Daniel J. Peterson is professor in the Humanities for Seattle University's Matteo Ricci College. He is the author of Tillich: A Brief Overview of the Life and Writings of Paul Tillich (Lutheran University Press, 2013) and coeditor with Michael Zbaraschuk of Resurrecting the Death of God: The Origins, Influence and Return of Radical Theology (State University Press of New York, 2014). He has written numerous articles and reviews, the most recent of which have appeared in Dialog, Theology and Science and Comparative and Continental Philosophy. He earned his PhD in systematic theology from the Graduate Theological Union and is an ordained minister of the Evangelical Lutheran Church in America called in a specialized ministry to students at Seattle University.

Russell Re Manning is senior lecturer in Philosophy and Ethics (Western Traditions) at Bath Spa University and Visiting Fellow at St Edmund's College, Cambridge. Past-President of the North American Paul Tillich Society and former Co-Chair of the Tillich: Issues in Theology, Religion, and Culture group of the American Academy of Religion, he is editor-in-chief of the Complete Works of Paul Tillich in English (de Gruyter, 2015f). He is series editor for the Pickering and Chatto series "Pickering Studies in Philosophy of Religion" and, with Tom Greggs, of the Edinburgh University Press series The Edinburgh Critical History of Christian Theology. Publications include: The Cambridge Companion to Paul Tillich (Cambridge University Press, 2009), The Oxford Handbook of Natural Theology (Oxford University Press, 2013), and Science and Religion in the Twenty-First Century (SCM Press, 2013).

Jeffrey W. Robbins is chair and professor of Religion and Philosophy at Lebanon Valley College where he also serves as the Director of the Undergraduate Research Symposium and the Faculty Mentor for the Allwein Scholars Program. He is a contributing editor of the Journal for Cultural and Religious Theory and a coeditor for the Columbia University Press book series Insurrections: Critical Studies in Religion, Politics and Culture. His most recent book publications include Radical Democracy and Political Theology (Columbia UP, 2011), the co-authored Religion, Politics and the Earth: The New Materialism (Palgrave, 2013), and the coedited The Future of Continental Philosophy of Religion (Indiana UP, 2014).

Christopher D. Rodkey is pastor of St. Paul's United Church of Christ in Dallastown, Pennsylvania, and is Instructor of Philosophy at Penn State York, where he is the recipient of the James H. Burness Award for Excellence in Teaching. He is currently a member of the Board of Directors of the North American Paul Tillich Society. His books include The Synaptic Gospel (University Press of America, 2012), Too Good to Be True (Christian Alternative, 2014), and The World is Crucifixion (The Davies Group, forthcoming 2015), and he is series editor of Intersections: Theology and the Church in a World Come of Age, published by Noesis Press.

Mark Lewis Taylor is Maxwell M. Upson Professor of Theology and Culture at Princeton Theological Seminary. His most recent book is The Theological and the Political: On the Weight of the World (2011). Taylor received the Best General Interest Book Award for his 2001 book, The Executed God: The Way of the Cross in Lockdown America (2nd edition forthcoming in 2015). His other major books include Religion, Politics and the Christian Right: Post-9/11 Politics and American Empire (2005), Remembering Esperanza: A Cultural-Political Theology for North American Praxis (2005), and an anthology of Tillich's writings, Paul Tillich: Theologian of the Boundaries (1986).
