

Notes on Contributors

Ludwig Amrhein, Dipl.-Soz., Dipl.-Psych. Geront., is research fellow and lecturer in Social Gerontology at the University of Kassel. He finishes a Ph.D. thesis about social and individual lifestyle models of ageing. His research interests are the biographies and lifestyles of ageing persons, the social structures of the care for the elderly and the societal discourse of ageing. Contact: University of Kassel, Department Social Services, Arbold-Bode-Str. 10, 34109 Kassel, Germany. Email: lamrhein@uni-kassel.de

Gertrud M. Backes, Prof. Dr. phil., is professor for Ageing and Society at the University of Vechta and Speaker of the Section "Ageing and Society" of the German Sociological Association. Her research interests are ageing and gender, ageing, social change and social structure, "Lebenslagen", care and gender, gender, body and ageing, life course and gender. Contact: University of Vechta, Driverstr. 23, 49377 Vechta, Germany. +49 4441 15-358 Email: backes@uni-kassel.de; gertrud.backes@uni-vechta.de

Csilla Csoboth, M.D., Ph.D., is an assistant professor at the Semmelweis University Institute of Behavioral Sciences in Budapest and is the program director of the Better Health for Women program. Contact: Semmelweis University Institute of Behavioral Sciences, Nagyváradi tér 4, 1089 Budapest, Hungary. E-mail: csobcsil@net.sote.hu

Gabriele Doblhammer-Reiter, is professor for empirical research and demography at the University of Rostock and co-director of the Rostock centre, a joint research centre of the Max Planck Institute for Demography and the University of Rostock. Her research interests are on the aging process, biological and social determinants of longevity, validation of the oldest old, health and care projections in Germany. Contact: Universität Rostock, Wirtschafts- und Sozialwissenschaftliche Fakultät, Lehrstuhl für empirische Sozialforschung und Demographie, Ulmenstraße 69, 18057 Rostock, Germany. Phone: +49-381-498-4393. Email: doblhammer@demogr.mpg.de

Barbara Domajnko, Ph.D., Assistant of Sociology. Research interests: aging, interprofessional collaboration in health care, qualitative research. Contact: University of Ljubljana, College of Health Studies, Poljanska 26a, 1000 Ljubljana, Slovenia. Email: barbara.domajnko@vsz.uni-lj.si

Valentina Hlebec, is assistant professor of statistics at the University of Ljubljana, Slovenia. Her research interests are social network analysis, questionnaire design, the sociology of adolescents and social gerontology. Contact: University of Ljubljana, Faculty of Social Sciences, Kardeljeva pl. 5, 1000 Ljubljana, Slovenia. Phone: +396-1-5805-284. Email: valentina.hlebec@fdv.uni-lj.si

Friederike Kendel, Dipl.-Psych., is a research associate and lecturer at the Institute for Medical Psychology at Charité-Universitätsmedizin Berlin. Research focus on gender differences in cardiovascular health, member of the Center for Gender Medicine at Charité. Contact: Charité-Universitätsmedizin, ZHGB, Institute for Medical Psychology, Luisenstraße 57, 10117 Berlin. Email: friederike.kendel@charite.de Mónika Erika Kovács, MD, Ph.D., Assistant professor, psychiatrist, coordinator of the Central Eastern European Behavioural Medicine Network (www.ceebm-net.hu). Institution: Semmelweis University Institute of Behavioral Sciences, Nagyvárad tér 4, 1089 Budapest, Hungary. Contact: E-mail: kovmon@net.sote.hu.

Gabriele Kreutzner, Dr. phil.: M.A. American, German and English Studies; media and cultural studies expert. For the past years, her work has come to focus on the developing field of age, health and gender. She has been working for an NGO dedicated to improving dementia care in Germany and is now in the process of building up her own information agency “age – health – gender”. Gabriele is member of the executive committee of the German NGO Aktion Demenz – gemeinsam für ein besseres Leben mit Demenz (“Dementia Campaign – together for a better life with dementia”). Email: gkreutzner@yahoo.de Vera Lasch, Dr. rer. pol. is research fellow at University of Kassel, Unit Gender Research. Research topics are “Women, Work and Health”, “Ageing, Health and Gender”, “Higher Education, Gender and the Bologna Process in Germany”.

Contact: University of Kassel, IAG FG, Mönchebergstr. 21A, 34109 Kassel, Germany. Phone: ++49-(0)551 541664. Email: lasch@uni-kassel.de

Birgitta Lindencrona, Fil.lic./Ph.D. in Literature, deputy assistant under-secretary, now retired. Birgitta began dealing with matters related to gender equality and the growing field of gender research at the Swedish Ministry and Education and Science in the 1980s. She has also acted as a coordinator of these matters and a senior adviser at the Swedish Research Council, between 2001-2003 also as the secretary of the Swedish Gender Research Committee. Contact: Swedish Association of Senior Citizens, Box 22 574, SE-104 22 Stockholm. E-mail: birgitta.lindencrona@telia.com

Majda Pahor, Ph.D., Assistant Professor of Sociology of Health. Research interests: health professions, interprofessional collaboration, aging. Contact: University of Ljubljana, College of Health Studies, Poljanska 26a, 1000 Ljubljana, Slovenia. Email: majda.pahor@vsz.uni-lj.si

Bridget Penhale, is Senior Lecturer in Gerontology at the University of Sheffield. Bridget has a background in Psychology and Social work and worked for many years as social worker and latterly manager in several locations across the UK. She has held academic posts since 1996 and is recognised internationally for her work on elder abuse. Research topics include elder abuse, adult protection, domestic violence, mental health and older people, bereavement and loss in later life. Contact: Community, Ageing & Rehabilitation Department Department, University of Sheffield, 301 Glossop Road, Sheffield, S10 2HL, UK. Phone : +44 114 222 8316. Email: B.Penhale@sheffield.ac.uk

Pasqualina Perrig-Chiello, is professor at the University of Bern, Switzerland. Her teaching and major research interests focus on life-span developmental psychology, especially health and well-being, personality, gender roles, and familial intergenerational relations. Teaching appointments at the Universities of Saarbrücken and Frankfurt/Germany and Basel/Switzerland. She is member of the Swiss National Research Council and chairs the Directory Board of the National Research Program 52 "Intergenerational Relations". Contact: Institut für Psychologie, Universität Bern, Muesmattstrasse 45, CH-3012 Bern, Switzerland. Phone: ++41 (0)61 331 75 19. Email: pasqualina.perrigchiello@psy.unibe.ch

Katja Reimann, is Ph.D. student and research fellow in Social Gerontology, at the Department of Social Services, University of Kassel, Germany. She is actually working on her Ph.D. project, exploring lay body and health concepts in older gay and straight men. She is member of the Gender Research Group at the University of Kassel and of the Interdisciplinary Research Training Group “Public Spheres and Gender Relations. Dimensions of Experience” of the Universities Kassel and Frankfurt/Main (Germany). Contact: IAG Frauen- und Geschlechterforschung, Universität Kassel, Mönchebergstr. 21a, 34109 Kassel, Germany. Email: k.reimann@uni-kassel.de

Monika Sieverding, Prof. Dr. phil., is Professor of Differential Psychology and Gender Studies at the University of Heidelberg, Psychological Institute. Her research deals with health psychology (Research project on “Psychological Determinants of Cancer Screening”) and especially “Gender Roles and Health”. Contact: Psychologisches Institut, Ruprecht-Karls-Universitaet Heidelberg, Hauptstr. 47-51, 69117 Heidelberg, Germany: Phone: ++49-(0)6221 547372. Email: monika.sieverding@psychologie.uni-heidelberg.de Hildegard Theobald, Dr. phil. is research fellow at the Social Science Research Centre Berlin (WZB), Research Group “Public Health Policy”. Her current research interests include international comparative welfare state research on social care, service work as well as on social exclusion and social and gender inequality (Research project on “Care for the Aged at Risk of Marginalization (CARMA), funded by the European Union). Contact: Social Science Research Center Berlin, Research Group “Public Health Policy”, Reichpietschufer 50, 10785 Berlin, Germany: Phone: ++49 (0)30 25491 548. Email: theobald@wz-berlin.de

Beata Tobiasz-Adamczyk Prof. Ph.D. is Professor of Medical Sociology and Head of the Chair of Epidemiology and Preventive Medicine and also Department of Medical Sociology at the Jagiellonian University Medical College in Krakow, Poland. Her main topics of interest relate to the quality of life in older people (the role of subjective health, social network, social support), quality of life in cancer patients, illness behaviours and gender-related differences in health as well as to the social and cultural determinants of professional roles in medicine. She is also involved in extensive didactic activity, teaching students of medicine, dentistry, public health and nursing on relevant topics. Contact: Chair of Epidemiology and Preventive Medicine, Jagiellonian University Medical College, Kopernika 7a st., 31-034 Krakow, Poland, Phone: +48 12 423 10 03. Email: mytobias@cyf-kr.edu.pl

Barbro Westerholm, Prof. M.D.. Vice President, AGE (Older People's Platform), Brussels, Belgium and former President of the Swedish Association of Senior Citizens. Barbro's main research is within the field of drug epidemiology. She has among other things chaired the Swedish Gender Research Committee during the years 1991 - 2000 .Contact: Swedish Association of Senior Citizens, Box 22 574, S 104 22 Stockholm. e-mail: barbro.westerholm@spfpension.se.

Uta Ziegler, is a Ph.D. student and research fellow at the chair for empirical research and demography at the University of Rostock. Her research interests are on the living conditions of the elderly population, especially the determinants of care and dementia and their future impact. Contact: Universität Rostock, Wirtschafts- und Sozialwissenschaftliche Fakultät, Lehrstuhl für empirische Sozialforschung und Demographie, Ulmenstraße 69, 18057 Rostock, Germany. Phone: +49-381-498-4396. Email: ziegler@demogr.mpg.de