Niko Alvari holds an MA from the University of Tampere, Finland, and specializes in Russian language and culture. His research interests include construction projects of national identity in the post-Soviet area and development of nation-states in Belarus and Central Asia.

Richard Arnold is Associate Professor of Political Science at Muskingum University, USA, where he teaches courses on Russian politics, Russian foreign policy, comparative politics, international relations, and soft power in international politics. He has published numerous articles in Theoretical Criminology, Post-Soviet Affairs, PS: Political Science and Politics, Problems of Post-Communism, and Nationalities Papers. His book on Russian neo-Nazi violence is under review. His current projects focus on the neo-Cossack movement throughout Russia.

Philipp Casula is a post-doctoral fellow in the History Department of Zurich University, Switzerland. His current research includes the cultural history and analysis of Russia and the role of knowledge and culture in Russia’s foreign relations as well as security and conflict. He has recently published ‘Five Days of War and Olympus Inferno: The 2008 South Ossetia War in Russian and Western Popular Culture’ in Studies in Russian and Soviet Cinema 2/2015 and ‘Russia’s and Europe’s borderlands’ in Problems of Post-Communism 6/2014.

Andrey Makarychev is Professor of Politics and Governance at the University of Tartu, Estonia. He has published widely on a variety of topics related to Russian foreign policy, including a co-edited volume. in 2014, a monograph in 2014, book chapters in edited volumes with Palgrave Macmillan and other publishers, and research articles in major peer-reviewed international journals such as Problems of Post-Communism, Journal of International Relations and Development, Europe-Asia Studies, Journal of Eurasian Studies, Demokratizatsiya, and European Urban and Regional Studies.

Ryhor Nizhnikau is a PhD student at the Institute of Government and Politics, University of Tartu, Estonia, and a doctoral fellow at the Centre for EU-Russia Studies (CEURUS). His research interests include EU policies in the post-Soviet area, European Neighbourhood Policy, and Russia’s foreign policy. His doctoral thesis focuses on the EU’s institutional change and policies in Belarus, Moldova, and Ukraine.

Adilzhan Nurmakov holds a Candidate of Science degree in Political Science and currently works as a senior lecturer in the Department of Media and Communications at the KIMEP University in Almaty, Kazakhstan. His research interests include democratization, petropolitics, civil society, media relations, and political communications. His publications include the chapters ‘Resource Nationalism in Kazakhstan’s Petroleum Sector: Curse or Blessing’ (in Caspian Energy Politics, 2009) and ‘Political uses of social media in Kazakhstan’ (in Social Media, Communication and Culture: An Asian Perspective, 2014), as well as country reports on sexual rights, the role of online communications in electoral processes (Global Information Society Watch, 2011 and 2015), and Freedom on the Net (Freedom House, 2012–2015). He is also a frequent op-ed contributor to the Kazakhstani media on current political affairs.

Bo Petersson is Professor of Political Science and International Migration and Ethnic Relations (IMER) at Malmö University, Sweden. His special areas of interest include nationalism, migration, bordering, and political myth. Among his major publications are Stories about Strangers: Swedish Media Constructions of Socio-Cultural Risk (2006); Majority Cultures and the Everyday Politics of Difference (co-edited with Katharine Tyler, Palgrave, 2008); The Sochi Predicament: Contexts, Characteristics and Challenges of the Olympic Winter Games in 2013 (co-edited with Karina Vamling, 2013); as well as articles in journals such as Development, East European Politics, European Societies, European Studies, International Journal of Cultural Studies, and Problems of Post-Communism.

Karolina Tetłak is Assistant Professor in Tax Law at Warsaw University, Poland, and an academic associate of the Centre for International Sports Law at Staffordshire University, UK, and Thompson Rivers University, Canada. An LLM graduate of Harvard Law School, she is an expert in sports fiscal law, taxation of athletes, and tax treatment of sports mega-events. Her PhD thesis on taxation of international sportspersons has been published in the IBFD’s Doctoral Series. In her legal practice, she advises tax administration and taxpayers on tax procedure, income tax, international taxation, and VAT. She is a member of the Consultative Council on Tax Law to the Polish Minister of Finance and an expert of the International Taxation of Entertainment Group.

Karina Vamling is Professor of Caucasus Studies at the Faculty of Culture and Society, Malmö University, Sweden. Her area of expertise is the Caucasus region and Russia, with a research focus on minorities, ethnic and linguistic diversity, and identity and language policy, primarily in Georgia and the Russian Northwest Caucasus. Among her recent publications are the edited volume Caucasus Studies: Migration, Society, and Language (2011) and the book The Sochi Predicament: Contexts, Characteristics and Challenges of the Olympic Winter Games in 2014 (co-edited with Bo Petersson, 2013).

Anar Valiyev is an assistant professor at ADA University, Azerbaijan. Valiyev is the author of numerous encyclopedia entries, policy papers and peer-reviewed articles on the public policy of post-Soviet republics, democracy and governance, and urban development and planning.

Alexandra Yatsyk is Head of the Centre for Cultural Studies of Post-Socialism and Associate Professor of Sociology at Kazan Federal University, Russia. Her research interests include representations of post-Soviet national identities, sports and cultural mega-events, Russia’s protest art, and biopolitics. She is author of chapters published with Palgrave Macmillan in 2015, and articles in European Urban and Regional Studies, Problems of Post-Communism, International Spectator, Digital Icons, and other international academic journals.

INDEX

A
Adams, L., 41
anti-crisis plan, 201
Asian Winter Games, 114–20
Astana Economic Forum (AEF), 108 autocratic governments, 7
_Aziada_ (see Asian Winter Games)

B
Baku European Games Operations Committee (BEGOC), 137, 138
Baku European Olympic Games, 131–3
Azerbaijan, 135–6, 139–40, 142
BEGOC, 137, 138
benefits, 143–7
EOC, 137
Heydar Aliyev Center, 134–5
IOC, 141
ISG, 140–1
Moscow, 146
NOCs, 138
SOCAR Tower, 138–9
Soviet Union disintegration, 133–4
Beijing 2008 Olympics, 15
human rights, 18–22
reputation of olympics, 22–9
vs. Sochi 2014 Olympics, 29–32
Belarus, IHWC. See Ice Hockey World Championship (IHWC) bid book
diversity, 48–53
IOC, 39
politics vs. Olympic Games, 39–40 Russian Olympic, 43–8
theoretical and methodological, 40–3 _Borat_, 107
boycotts, 23–6

C
Caucasus, 47–8, 66–7
Chechen terrorism, 52
Circassians, 47, 51, 66–72
competitive identity, 181

© The Editor(s) (if applicable) and The Author(s) 2016
A. Makarychev, A. Yatsyk (eds.), _Mega Events in Post-Soviet Eurasia_, Mega Event Planning, DOI 10.1057/978-1-137-49095-7
Congress of the Leaders of World and Traditional Religions (CLWTR), 107–8
Continental Hockey League, 199
cosmopolitan principles, 7

democracy, 8, 43, 45, 82
diversity, 46–53, 182

economy of appearance, 175
environmental degradation, 63–6
Ethnic Diversity in a Tranquil Environment, 51
European Bank for Reconstruction and Development (EBRD), 110
European Olympic Committee (EOC), 137
European Olympic Games. See also Baku European Olympic Games
Eurovision Song Contest, 141, 144, 146
Expo, The, 120–1

F
FIFA Confederations Cup 2017, 163
FIFA World Cup, 1, 17, 161–4, 193, 201–5
FINA. See World Aquatic Championship (FINA)
Formula 1 European Grand Prix, 140
Foucault, M., 42
The Future Energy, 120–1

G
Garcia, B., 186
Gazprom, 203

H Hall, S., 40–1
healing machines, 177–81
hegemonic masculinity, 195–200
heritage brand, 186
Heydar Aliyev Center, 134–5
human rights, 18–22
Beijing 2008 Olympics vs. Sochi 2014 Olympics, 29–32 record and democracy, 82–3
Human Rights Watch (2013), 61–2

I
Ice Hockey World Championship (IHWC), 79–80 boycott, 91–2 divided society, 84–6
EU citizens, 92
external image building, 80
Lukashenka, 83–4
mega events, 81–3
politics, 91–2
sports and politics, 86–7 symbols of tournament, 87–8 Imeretian Lowlands, 64 internal political stability, 104
International Ice Hockey Federation (IIHF), 91, 92
International Monetary Fund (IMF), 30
International Olympic Committee (IOC), 39, 44, 100, 117–19, 141, 156–60
Islamic Solidarity Games (ISG), 140–1

K
Kazakhstan, 99–101
Asian Winter Games, 114–20
Astana, 102
communication strategy, 121–2
Constitution, 103
Expo, The, 120–1
legitimacy, 103–4
nation-branding, 123
nation-building, 123 non-rational symbolization, 101 political events to sports, 105–10 positioning, 122
Soviet-style social contract, 104, 105
sports, 110–14
Kazan
healing machines for urban spaces, 177–81
post-political approach, 175–6
Universiade 2013, 173–4, 181–6
Kremlin, 185

soft power, 16 sovereignty, 8–10
sports, 81–2
Tatarstan (see Tatarstan) transformations, 6 trans-national practices, 1–2
2012 UEFA Championship, 164–6
2014 World Ice Hockey
Championship, 166–7
Minsk, 2014 World Ice Hockey
Championship, 166–7
modernisation, 43–5, 54
Molotch, 143
Moscow Olympics of 1980, 90 multiculturalism, 49–52 multi-vector foreign policy, 103

L
LDPR party, 204
LGBT people, 27, 28, 119
liberal cosmopolitanism, 8

N
national Olympic committees (NOCs), 138, 160
national unity, 48
Nazarbayev, N., 102
non-governmental organizations (NGOs), 19, 104
North Caucasus Environmental Watch (NCEW), 66

M
mega events, 153–4
accentuation of plethora, 2
Beijing 2008 Olympics, 15
cosmopolitan principles, 7
2018 FIFA World Cup, 161–4
fiscal rule, 155–6 geopolitics, 154–5
human rights, 18–22, 29–32 inclusion and exclusion, 2–4
liberal cosmopolitanism, 8
Olympic Games, 16–18
policy analysis, 167–70
reputation of olympics, 22–9
shift of, 2
2014 Sochi Olympics Games, 156–60

O
Office for Democratic Institutions and Human Rights (ODIHR), 105 official nationalism, 83
Olympic Games, 16–18
diversity, 50
politics vs., 39–40 reputation, 22–9
security, 42
telos and ethos, 42
Olympic spirit, 198
Olympic tax legislation, 159
“one country—one vote,” 5
Organisation for Security and Cooperation in Europe (OSCE), 105, 109, 110, 119

P
politicization, 195–200
Post-Olympic Sochi, 59–61
Circassians, 66–72
environmental degradation, 63–6 infrastructure, 61–3
white elephants, 61–3
post-Soviet Eurasia, 153–4
2018 FIFA World Cup, 161–4
fiscal rule, 155–6
gopolitics, 154–5
policy analysis, 167–70
2014 Sochi Olympics Games, 156–60
2012 UEFA Championship, 164–6
2014 World Ice Hockey Championship, 166–7 pseudo-democratic governance, 176
Pussy Riot, 21–2
Putin, V., 46, 62–3

R
Russia
bid book, 159
cultural diversity, 182–3
environmental degradation, 21–2
FIFA, 203–5
2018 FIFA World Cup, 161–4
football, 202–3 foreign policy crisis, 194
hegemonic masculinity, 195–200
islamic capital, 185
Olympic law, 160

T Tatarstan
healing machines for urban spaces, 177–81
post-political approach, 175–6
Universiade 2013, 173–4, 181–6
Tax Free Shopping System, 166
Tibetans from China, 20
U UEFA, 113, 164–6
Ukraine, 164–6
UNESCO, 64, 177–8
United Nations Environment Programme (UNEP), 65
Universiade 2013, 173–4, 181–6
urban populism, 176
Uzbek government, 110

V
VAT, 157, 159–62, 164–6
Volat, 88

W
white elephants, 60, 61–3
World Aquatic Championship (FINA), 174, 178 World Chess Championship, 63 World Cup law, 163
World Ice Hockey Championship (2014), 166–7
WWF-Russia, 66

Z Žižek, S., 53