INDEX

Absorption in self-hypnosis, 210-211 personal narratives, 217, 220
Aitken, Cairns, 13
Alcohol addiction, treatment, 277-287
   definitions, 279
   discussion, 284-285
   etiology, 281
   history and diagnosis, 281
   hypnosis, 283-284
   statistics, 278
   treatment, 281-284
   withdrawal, 282
Alphr rhythms, EEG hypnosis, 150
   and hemispheric specificity, 169-179 Amnesia, following a crime
   hypnosis, 318-320
   and dissociation, 37
   post-hypnotic, early observations, 70
   psychological implications, 320-322 Anosmia, hypnotic, and olfactory evoked potentials, 139-147
Anxiety control training in compulsive disorder treatment, 371-376 (see also Obsessional neurosis) hypnosis, athletes, 359-369
   discussion, 366-367
   electrocardiograph, 361 heart rate results, 366, 368 (continued)
   hypnosis, athletes (continued)
   Lafayette Pursuit Rotor Model 30012, 361, 367
   method, 361
   procedure, 362
   results, 363-364
   state-trait anxiety
   inventory, 361, 363
   results, 365-366, 367
Artificial somnambulism,
definition, 68
Athletes, state anxiety and stress, 359-369
Attention in self-hypnosis, 210, 211, 213
   personal narrative, 217, 218, 219, 220
Autistic
   form-varieties of primary process, 49
   versus socialized use of primary process, 47-48
Aversion therapy, 282
Barber Suggestibility Scale
(BSS), 51
Barbers, historical facts, 5
Barbiturate addiction, treatment, 282 Behavior
   clinical, and hypnotizability, 89-96
   therapy and hypnosis in impotence, 303
Behaviorism, present status,
29-30

421
Bernheim's interpretations of suggestion, 69-70, 71-72 Braid, James, 3, 10, 68 description of 'mesmerism', 68
BSS see Barber Suggestibility Scale
Catalepsy test, 72
Cay, Lorna, 13
Childbirth, audiotaped self-hypnosis, 226-232 (see also Obstetric patients) Chloromethiazole in alcohol addiction, 282
Civil rights, and hypnosis in criminal investigation, 322-323
Clinical behavior and hypnotizability, 89-96
Coercive persuasion and the law, 309-315 America, 311
historical facts, 311-314
magnetism, 312, 314
19th C. investigators, 314
somnambulism, 313
unskilled practitioners, 312
use of hypnosis, 310-314
Colquhoun, J.C., 9-10
Concentration in self-hypnosis, 210, 211, 213 Condensation in hypnosis, 43-44, 45 interpretation, 48
Conscious (consciousness), and unconscious process in hypnosis, 29-40 altered states, 33-34, 79-83 dissociation as alternative, 36-38 heightened suggestibility, 30-31 and preconscious, relationship, 36 and psychoanalysis, 32-34 registration without awareness, 37
Cost-effectiveness, audiotaped self-hypnosis, obstetric patients, 224, 227 Covert conditioning in smoking withdrawal, results, 273-274 Criminal investigations, hypnosis in, 317-325 collection, 323-324 ethical, legal and civil rights, implications, 322-323, 324 examples, 319, 320-322
psychological implications, 320, 324
reliability of recalled material, 318-320 (see also Forensic hypnosis: Law) de Pyuségur, 67
Dental patient, difficult, 409-410 approach to patient, 410-412 classification of patients, 414-416 communication, 416-417
drugs, 419
fear, classification, 414 frightened child, 412-413 hypnosis and hypnotherapy, 419 patient's attitude, 417-418 practitioner's qualities, 416 psychological approach, 419 techniques to eradicate fear, 418-419 Dental phobia, self-hypnosis, 401-407 categories of fear, 402-403
"clenched fist" technique, 403-404 Glasgow Dental Hospital phobia index, 405, and appendix A glove anesthesia, 405
other neuroses, 403
phobia profile, 403
psychotherapies built into self-hypnosis, 404
results, 405
Displacement in hypnosis, 43-44, 44-45 interpretation, 48
INDEX

Dissociation theory, 36-38
Drug addiction, treatment, 277-287
  definitions, 279
  etiology, 280
  history and diagnosis, 281 main features, 279
  treatment, 281-284
  withdrawal, 282

Electroencephalography (EEG) epilepsy, hypnotic, nonhypnotic states, 149-159 evoked potential, hypnotic anosmia and transient olfactory stimulation, 139-147
  (see also Evoked potentials Olfactory)
  left to right hemispheres, deep
  hypnosis, 103-104

Ego
  activity in self-hypnosis,
  personal narrative, 217, 218, 219
  -enhancing and stopping smoking, 271-272, 273
  receptivity in self-hypnosis, 210, 211, 213
  personal narrative, 217, 218, 220

Electromyographic activity during deep hypnosis, 102-103 hemiparesis, 185-187, 195-199
  peripheral nerve lesions, hypnotherapy, 183-185
  muscle fatigue, 199-204
  urinary incontinence, 189-193

Electro-oculography in olfactory
  stimulation, 143

Elliotson, John, 9, 11

Endorphins, beta, plasmatic, and
  hypnosis, 259-266
  biochemistry, 260-261
  blood samples, 262
  ACTH and cortisol, 263-264
  extraction of beta-endorphin, 263
  plasma values, 263
  hypnotic analgesia, 262
  results, 263-265
  role in chronic pain, 261

Enhanced suggestibility, 68

Epilepsy, depth EEG, 149-159 background electrical activity, 153-154
  Barber Suggestibility Scales, 151 clinical data, 151, 152 depth EEG data, 151, 152
  discussion, 154-157
  during sleep, 154
  hypnosis, 150
  interictal activity, 154 material and method, 151 non-hypnotic state, 154 physiological responses, 153 procedure and design, 151-153 Ericksonian hypnosis, 72-73

Esdaille, James, 3, 10

Ethical implications, hypnosis in criminal investigation, 322-323, 324

Evoked potentials
  olfactory and hypnotic anosmia, 139-147
  verbal and imagery coding, 161-168
  hypnosis, 164-166
  recording, 163-164
  results, 164-166
  waking state, 164-166

Eye-witness recall in criminal investigation, 327-329

Fisher, David, 12

Forensic hypnosis, effects, 327-343
  eyewitness recall, 327-329 discussion, correct and incorrect answering, 339-342
  methods, 329-334
  results, 334-339
  (see also Criminal investigation: Law)

Freud, Sigmund, 11

General reality orientation in self-hypnosis, 210, 212, 213
  personal narratives, 217, 220
  phobias, 241
Glasgow Dental Hospital dental phobia index, 405 and appendix A Guided memory and hypnosis in witness recall, 350-352 Guillain-Barré's disease, hypnosis, 385-390 case description, 386-387 treatment and results, 387-389 Halliday, John, 12
Hallucinations in schizophrenia and hypnotizability, 46
Heminevrin in alcohol addiction, 282 Hemiparesis, hypnotherapy, 185-188 electrically stimulated contractions, 195-199 EMG studies, 185-187, 195-199
results, 187-188
right, and hypnosis susceptibility, 162-168
evoked potentials, 163-164
hypnosis, 164-166
results, 164-166
waking state, 164-166
right and left, activity, hypnotist/subject, 103-104 specificity and hypnotizability, 169-179 apparatus, 171
definitions, 170-171
discussion, 176-178
experiments, 172-176
formulae, 170
hypnosis as right hemisphere task, 175-176 hypnotizability scores, 171 scoring of data, 171
tasks set, 171
conflicted, 172
Hypnosis
concept, 32-33
changing, 19th C.-1950's, 69-71
definition, 67
general background, 15-18 historical aspects, 4-13, 67-73 Hypnosis (continued)
in Mesmer's time, 18-19 modern practice, 19-23 origin of term, 3, 10
recall, 25
as state, 74-76
current thoughts, 76-80 other considerations, 76-86 scientific acceptance, 84-85 as self-hypnosis, 83 unconscious in relation to, 80-83 effects on subject of examiner, 25 Hypnotist and patient, relationship, 25 interaction see Interaction as regressive transference, 35 Hypnotizability
in clinical behavior, relevance, 89-96 assessment, clinical, 90-91 clinician's question techniques, 91-93 criteria for hypnosis measurement, 91 examining clinical experience, laboratory findings, 93-94 versus hypnotic situation, 91-93 relevance of laboratory scales to clinical events, 94-85
and hemispheric specificity, 169-179 (see also Hemispheres, specificity) measure, 23-24
in psychosis, clinical relevance, 41-64
discussion, 55-60
SHSS: A scales, 49-50
sample variances, 52-55
and socialized use of primary process, 49-52 (see also Psychosis: Schizophrenia)
statistics, 251-252
INDEX

Imagery
future-orientated, 236, 242 phobias, self-hypnosis, 237, 238-239 in self-hypnosis, 209-210
personal narrative, 217, 218, 219, 220
and verbal commands, 161-168
evoked potentials, 163-164
hypnosis, 164-166
results, 164-166
right cerebral hemisphere and hypnosis susceptibility, 162-168
SHSS: A and B, 162
waking state, 164-166
Impotence, male, hypnotherapy, 297-305 and behavioral approach, 303
definition, 298-299
etiology, 299-300
age, 299-300
conversion symptoms, 299 environmental factors, 299 interpersonal relations, 299
methods, 300-302
psychological background, 298, 302 psychological treatment, 302-303
results, 302
secondary, 303
therapy, 300-302
Incontinence, urinary 425
Interactions between hypnotist and subject (continued) results (continued)
relation between power spectra, 104-105 right and left hemispheric activity, 103-104 Involuntary responses, 109-117
(see also Nonvolition)
Kissen, David, 13
Labor, self-hypnosis, audiotaped, 226-232
(see also Obstetric patients)
Language, metaphor, 42-45
(see also Metaphoric language)
Law
coercive persuasion and hypnosis, 309-315 and hypnosis, criminal investigations, 322-323 induction in witness recall, 345-355 conclusions, 352-354
design relevance, problems, 347-348
eye closure, 348
hypnosis and guided memory, 350-352 hypnotic induction and relaxation, 348-349
results, 349
memory studies, 346
age regression, 346
and magnetism, 311-312
McDougall, John, 11
Magnetism
animal, 3
and the law, 311-312 Memory
enhancement by hypnosis, 24-25 in witness recall, criminal investigation, 346 Mesmer, Franz Anton, 8-9
Mesmerism, rise, 7-11, 18-19
Metaphoric language, 42-45
definition, 42-43
displacement and condensation, 43-45 Metaphoric language (continued)
in schizophrenia, example, 45-46 suggestion, 43
trance-logic concept, 43, 45
Metonymy, definition, 42, 44
Multiple personality phenomenon, 391-398 case report and description of personalities, 392-395
discussion, 396-397
hypoanalytic treatment, 391-392 Muscle fatigue, hypnotherapy, 199-204
electrically stimulated contractions, 200-204 EMG studies, 199-204
voluntary contractions, 199-200 Neodissociation theory, 37, 59
Neuromuscular phenomena, and hypnosis, 181-206 electrically stimulated contractions, 193-199
hemiparesis, 195-199
peripheral lesions, 193
muscle fatigue, 199-204
voluntary contraction of muscles, 182-193
hemiparesis, 185-188
peripheral motor nerve lesions, 182-185 urethral sphincter, 188-193 Nonvolition and hypnosis, 109-117 method I: hypnotic, imagination and stimulation conditions, 111-112 method II: hypnotic and simulation conditions contrasted, 111-112 instructions, 112
results, 112-115
Obsessional neurosis, anxiety control training, 371-376
definition, 373
discussion, 375
method, 373-374
results, 374-375
treatment, 374-375
Obstetric patients
cost-effectiveness, 227
discussion, 230-232
method for audirotaped self-hypnosis training, 226-228 questionnaire after delivery, 227
results, 228-230
use of hypnosis, 224-226
cost-effectiveness, 224
mass or group, 224
patient without hypnosis training in labor, 225-226 Olfactory evoked potential and hypnotic anosmia, 139-147 EEG measurement, 143-144 electrode position, 144, 145 experimental setting, 142-143 hypnosis versus waking states, 144 hypnotic induction, 141
method, 141
olfactory stimulation, 142-143
procedure, 141
results, 144-145
subjects, 141
Pain control
concept of pain, 249-250
awareness, 253
biochemical activity, 251 compensation, 254
control/hypnosis, paradox, 252-253 distinction from suffering, 252 guilt, 253
physiology, 250-251
talent for hypnosis, 251-252 hypnosis, effectiveness, 249-258 approaches, 255-256 displacement of symptoms, 255
dissociation, 255
indirect suggestions of relief, 255 substitution of symptoms, 255 time and space distortion, 256-257 Pain control (continued)
in labor, self-hypnosis, audiotaped, 226-232
(see also Endorphins, beta: Obstetric patients)
Peripheral nerve lesions,
hypnotherapy, 182-183
electrically stimulated contractions, 193
EMG studies, 183-185
results, 185
Personalities, multiple, phenomenon see Multiple personalities, phenomenon Phenothiazines in alcohol addiction, 282
Phobias
Glasgow Dental Hospital phobia index, 405, and appendix A self-hypnosis, 235-245
awareness, 241
common features, successful/unsuccessful, 238
discussion, 240-244
distracting thoughts, 242 goal-directed fantasies, 242-243
judge-rated variables, 239-240
results, 238-240
self-report variables, 238-239
training, 237
(see also Dental phobia)
Phrenology, early history, 9
Physicians, historical facts, 5, 6-7
Polypeptides see Endorphins, beta Power spectra, alpha and beta, deep hypnosis, 104-105
Preconscious and unconsciousness, relationship, 36
Primary process phenomena, 44 autistic form varieties, 49-50
discussion, 55-60
SF ratio, 50
socialized use and hypnotizability, 49-51
(see also Psychosis: Schizophrenia) Psychoanalysis and hypnosis, 32-34
Psychosis, clinical relevance to hypnotizability, 41-64
discussion, 55-60
metaphoric language, 42-44, 45-46
primary process, 44
(see also Autistic: Primary process: Schizophrenia) Psychosomatic medicine, general background, 15-18
Psychosomatics, 20th C., 11-13 Psychotherapies built into self-
hypnosis, 304
Registration without awareness, 37 Regression, concept, 32 in relationship between hypnotist and patient, 35 Relaxation
and hypnotic induction in witness recall, 348-349 as state of hypnosis, 76 Repression, concept, 32
Rodger, Ferguson, 11-12 Schizophrenia, metaphoric language, 45-47
Barber Suggestibility Scale, 51-52
hypnotizability, 46, 56-59
discussion, 55-60
normal data, 51-52
sample variances, 52-55
SHSS: A score, 49-50, 52-55 structure of scale, 59 Scientific considerations of
hypnosis, 74-85
early terminology and
definition, 69-72
hypnosis as state, 74-76
later terms, suggestion, trance, suggestibility,
unconscious, 74-85
Scottish contribution, 3-14
Self-hypnosis
audiotaped, obstetric patients, 223-233
(see also Obstetric patients)
Self-hypnosis (continued)
as concept, 82
dental phobia, 401-407
(see also Dental phobia)
esential aspects, 209-214 compared with hetero-
hypnosis, 209-210, 211-212
structural factors, 210-213 trance depth, 211-213
personal narratives, 215-222 (see also specific structural factors)
therapeutic, phobias, 235-245
"future orientated imagery", 236
(see also Phobias)
Sexual disorders and hypnosis, 291-295
hypnotherapy, 293-295
and behavior therapy, 294 case histories, 294-295
methods, 292
SF ratio, socialized form-varieties of primary
process, 47, 50
'Shell-shock', use of hypnosis, 3
SHSS see Stanford Scale Smoking habit, effect of
hypnosis, 269-275
concepts used, 270
convert conditioning, 272
discussion, 274-275
ego-enhancing, 271-272
method, 271
results, 273-274
specific post-hypnotic
suggestions, 271-272
subsequent sessions, 273 suggestions for reinforcement, 272 Socialized versus autistic use of
primary process, 47-48
'SF' ratio, 47, 50
Socialized use of primary process, and hypnotizability, 49-51
Somnambulism
artificial, definition, 68 spontaneous, 313
Stanford Scale A (SHSS: A), 48 hypnotizability in schizophrenia and autism, 49-51
sample variances, 52-55 (see also specific uses of scale)
Stress, hypnosis, athletes, 359-369
(see also Anxiety) Suggestibility
enhanced, 68
with reference to consciousness, 30-32
primary and secondary, 32, 34
and hypnosis, relationship and comparison, 73-76
growth, 76, 77
Suggestion
definition and current thought, 83-84 and suggestibility, 19th C.
observations, 69-70
1950s interpretation, 71-72 Suicide, persons attempting, hypnotic susceptibility, 131-136 pre-suicide syndrome, 132, 134
results, 133-136
hypnotic treatment, results, 135-136
SHSS: A, 132-133
average susceptibility, 133 Surgeons, historical facts, 5, 6, 7
Symptoms of pain, hypnosis, 255-256
displacement, 255
dissociation, 255
substitution, 255
(see also Pain control)
Talent, hypnotic, statistics, 251-252
Tobacco addiction see Smoking habit Trance
depth in self-hypnosis, 211-213 relationship to hypnotic phenomena, 79-80
INDEX

Trance (continued)
terminology, 71-73
'trancelogy' concept, 43, 45

Unconscious
and conscious process in
hypnosis, 29-40
dissociation theory, 36-38
registration without awareness, 37
repression and regression, 32 (see also Conscious) processes, early observations, 71-72
Unconsciousness, Freudian theory, and dynamics of hypnosis, 32-34
and preconsciousness, 35-36

Urethral sphincter, hypnotherapy, 188-193

Urinary
incontinence, hypnotherapy, 188-193
EMG studies, 189-193
results, 191-193
retention, hypnosis for, 379-383
case description, 380-381
hypnosis treatment, 381-382
results, 382-383

Verbal and imagery commands, 161-168
evoked potentials, 163-164
hypnosis, 164-166
results, 164-166
waking state, 164-166
right cerebral hemisphere and hypnosis susceptibility, 162-168
SHSS: A and B, 162

Visual memory processing during
hypnosis (continued)
method, 122-123
performances when conditions same, 123-124
procedure, 122-123
reported information processing strategies,
125-126
SHSS: C, 122
subjects, 122
visual memory discrimination task, 121, 123-125

Wakely, Thomas, 9
Witness recall, hypnosis and the
law, 345-355
design relevance, problems, 347-348
eye closure, 348
memory studies, 346
age regression, 346
(see also Law)

Zoist, 9, 11