Index

A
Acanthamoeba keratitis, 188–189
Ambrósio’s relational thickness (ART) values, 164
Angle kappa, 36
Astigmatism
  after keratoplasty
    cardinal suture placement, 206, 207
    causes of, 203–207
    graft size, 204–205
    intraoperative determinants, high and/or irregular, 204, 205 limbus and pupil centration, 205, 206 correction with LASIK, 20–21 hyperopic astigmatism correction, 24–25
      in PRK vs. LASIK, 26–28
    intraoperative prophylaxis, 200–201
    irregular, 93
      reasons for, 190
      topography based keratectomy (see Topography based keratectomy (TBK)) myopic astigmatism correction, 25–26
      PRK vs. LASIK, 28–29
    surgically induced, 18
    target induced, 18

B
Belin-Ambrósio Enhanced Ectasia Display (BAD), 164
Broad-beam lasers, 4

C
Cardinal sutures, purpose of, 200, 202, 206, 216
Connective tissue and autoimmune diseases, 40
Contact lens test (CLT), 192
Corneal dystrophies, 44, 187, 188 Corneal scars, PTK for ablation depth, 184
  after herpes keratitis, 189
  benefit, 184
  hypertrophic corneal scars, 185
  pathology, 195
  posttraumatic corneal scars, 185
  rheumatoid ulcers, 185
  Salzmann’s nodular degeneration, 186
Corneal thickness spatial profile (CTSP) concept, 163
Corneal tomography, ectasia, 166
Ambrósio’s relational thickness values, 164 best-fit sphere, 163
best-fit toric ellipsoid, 163
corneal elevation maps, 162
description, 162
enhanced elevation concept, 163
after LVC, 166
pachymetric progression index, 163
PTI and CTSP concept, 163
segmental tomography, 165
Cycloplegia, 35

© Springer International Publishing Switzerland 2016
S.J. Linke, T. Katz (eds.), Complications in Corneal Laser Surgery, DOI 10.1007/978-3-319-41496-6
227
D
Decentered flap, 52–53
DED. See Dry eye disease (DED)
Diabetes mellitus (DM), 40 Diffuse lamellar keratitis (DLK), 71
description, 76
incidence of, 76
internal patient factors, 76 intraoperative erosio corneae and smoking, 79
late onset, 77
management of, 77–79
staging of, 77
v.s. superficial punctate keratitis, 77, 79 Diplopia
causes of, 45
monocular, 93
postoperative, 46
DLK. See Diffuse lamellar keratitis (DLK)
Dry eye disease (DED), 82
description, 86
incidence and symptoms of, 86 tear film osmolarity, 87 tests for, 87

E
Early postoperative LASIK complications
diffuse lamellar keratitis, 76–79
dry eye disease, 86–87
epithelial ingrowth, 84–86
flap striae, 82–84
infectious keratitis, 79–82
Ectasia
Belin/Ambrósio enhanced ectasia display, 160
clinical characteristics of, 165 corneal tomography, 166 Ambrósio’s relational thickness values, 164
best-fit sphere, 163
best-fit toric ellipsoid, 163
corneal elevation maps, 162
description, 162
enhanced elevation concept, 163
pachymetric progression index, 163
PTI and CTSP concept, 163
segmental tomography, 165
due to thick corneal flap, 166, 167 focal biomechanical failure, 165 incidence rate, 157–158 optical coherence tomography, 165 pathophysiology, 158
postoperative diagnosis, 165–166 preoperative screening anterior curvature sagittal map, 159, 160 central corneal thickness, 159 corneal geometry analysis, 159
description, 158–159
ESS-1, 162, 164
Efficacy index (EI), 12, 25
Epi-LASIK, 129
epithelium removal, 131
haze, 144
Epithelial-basement-dystrophy (EBMD), 182
Epithelial erosions
consequences of, 63
during keratectomy, 32
risk minimization, 63
Epithelial ingrowth (EIG), 86 circumferential running suture, 85, 86 double running sutures, 85, 86 flap lift, 85
incidence of, 84
morphological patterns of, 85, 86 predisposing factors for, 84 single interrupted sutures, 85, 86 Errors, in corneal refractive surgery cycloplagic refraction, 35 eccimter nomograms, 35–36 flap and epithelium, 35 refraction measurement, 33–34 technical errors and failures, 37 Excimer laser-assisted deep lamellar keratoplasty (Excimer DALK), 213–214 Excimer lasers, 3
ablation procedure, 4
keratoplasty with, 207–213 therapeutic application of, 5
trephination
complications, 211, 213
donor, 208, 209
nonmechanical trephination,
advantages of, 208–210
practical considerations, 210–212
principle of, 208
recipient, 208, 209
Excimer nomograms, 35–36
Excimer pulses, 36
Excimer surgery, accuracy of, 33

F Fantes grading, corneal haze, 138, 139
Femtolasr assisted lenticule extraction
(FLEX), 7
Femtosecond laser (FSL)
advantages of, 214
flap, 51–53 (see also Flap malformations; Irregular flap)
keratoplasty
advantages of, 215
after complete suture removal, 215
vs. excimer laser, for PKP, 215–217
postoperative outcomes for, 7 keratotomies
vs. blade keratotomies, 65
complications of, 69–70
optical approaches, 66
technology, 6–7
trephination, 199–200
complications, 218–220
drawback of, 7
problem of, 215
Femtosecond lenticule extraction (FLEX), 112 Flap
amputation procedure healthy flap, 99
indication for, 100
myope with small free flap case study, 101–105
anatomical qualities of, 51 button hole, 55
free, 95, 96
incomplete (short), 53, 54
irregular flap
description, 52
end results of, 61–62
technical failure/human error, 52 malformations
complications of, 58
intra operative treatment of, 57–60 late management of, 61
minimization of, 56–57
topography based ablation, 61 types of, 52–56
regular, 53
small, 52, 53
striae, 82–84
thin, 57
torn, 53–54
Flying-spot lasers, 4
Forme fruste keratoconus (FFKC) concept, 159–160
Fuchs' dystrophy, 44, 205, 215, 217

G
Glaucoma, 44–45
Granular corneal dystrophy, PKT advanced, 187, 188
recurrence of, 187

H
Haze
advanced, clinical symptoms of, 138 after hyperopic PRK, 141 after myopic PRK, 139, 141
description, 138
Fantes grading of, 138
late-onset, 144–145
sub-epithelial trace haze, 139
Herpes simples keratitis, 43
Hyperopia correction
LASIK, 21
astigmatism, 24–25
in PRK vs. LASIK, 26–28
Hyperopic PRK, 24–25
vs. LASIK, 26–28
Hypertrophic conical scars, 185
Hyposphagma, 218, 219

I
Iatrogenic keratectasia, 121–122
Infectious keratitis, 121, 136
post LASIK
corneal cross linking, 82 eye onset, 80
gram-positive bacteria and atypical mycobacteria, 80
incidence of, 79
risk factors for, 82
topical therapy, 81
PTK for acanthamoeba keratitis, 188–189
corneal scars after herpes keratitis, 189
Intracorneal ring segment (ICRS) implantation, 168–169
Intraocular (IOP) pressure measurement, 44
Intrastromal keratotomies, 70
Irregular high-order aberrations, LASIK after complicated photorefractive corneal surgery, 92 centration, 92–93
corneal irregularity, 93–95 corneal wavefront analysis, 93 decentration of ablation, 92–93 keratectasia, 95
Zernike terms, 93
after uncomplicated excimer refractive corneal surgery, 90–92 chromatic aberrations, 89 diffraction and scatter, 89 low-order aberrations, 88 topography-driven treatments, 95–96 treatment of, 95–96
vision blurring, causes and sources of, 88–89 wavefront-guided method, 96
Isotretionin, 42

K
Keratoconjunctivitis sicca. See Dry eye disease (DED)
Keratoconus eyes, TBK, 195–196
Keratitis. See Infectious keratitis Keratoplasty. See also Penetrating keratoplasty (PKP) astigmatism after cardinal suture placement, 206, 207
causes of, 203–207
graft size, 204–205
high and/or irregular astigmatism, intraoperative determinants of, 204, 205 limbus and pupil centration, 205, 206
femtosecond laser keratoplasty
advantages of, 215
after complete suture removal, 215
vs. excimer laser, for PKP, 215–217
postoperative outcomes for, 7 prevention of complications, 202

L LASEK, 129
epithelium removal, 130
haze, 138–141
pain, 133–134
vs. transepithelial PRK, 143

Laser, 3. See also Excimer lasers, Femtosecond laser (FSL)
Laser-assisted in situ keratomileusis (LASIK), 5, 6, 33, 111 advantages, 19
astigmatic correction, 20–21
early postoperative complications
diffuse lamellar keratitis, 76–79
dry eye disease, 86–87
epithelial ingrowth, 84–86
flap striae, 82–84
infectious keratitis, 79–82
epithelial erosions
consequences of, 63
during keratectomy, 62
risk minimization, 63
femtosecond-laser associated complications diffuse lamellar keratitis, 71
light sensitivity syndrome, 71 opaque bubble layer, 71 suction loss and consecutive cutting errors, 71–72 vertical gas breakthrough, 72 FSL-flap preparation, 70–72 for hyperopia correction, 21 ideal flap, anatomical qualities of, 51 intraoperative microkeratome-related complications epithelial erosions, 62–63
flap malformations, 52–61
irregular flap, 52, 61–62
late postoperative complications irregular high-order aberrations, 88–96 persistent dry eye, 87–88 therapeutic flap amputation, 99–105 traumatic flap dislocation, 96–98 for myopia with astigmatism, 20 vs. PKR, efficacy of, 26–29
vs. topography based keratectomy, 195
Laser-induced optical breakdown process, 6
Laser vision correction (LVC) procedure, 157, 165
LASIK-induced neurotrophic epitheliopathy (LINE), 88
Light sensitivity syndrome, 71

M
Macrostriae, 82–83
Manifest refractive spherical equivalent (MRSE), 20
Manifest subjective refraction (MSR), 34, 35 Microkeratome-related intraoperative complications, LASIK epithelial erosions, 62–63
flap malformations, 52–61
irregular flap, 52, 61–62
Microstriae, 82
Mid-infrared pulses, 8
Mitomycin-C (MMC), 142
Myopic astigmatism correction, 25–26
PRK vs. LASIK, 28–29
Myopic PRK, 25–26
vs. LASIK, 28–29
N
Neuro-ophthalmic disorders, 41–42
Non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs, 134–135
O
Ocular adnexa, 43
Opaque bubble layer (OBL), 55, 71, 116
Ophthalmic lasers, 3
P
Pain
epithelial healing time and, 133
non-steroidal anti-inflammatory drugs, 134–135 postoperative management, after surface ablation, 133, 134 reduction strategies, 135 topical anesthetics, 134 Penetrating keratoplasty (PKP) excimer vs. femtosecond laser trephination benefits of, 217, 218 prospective randomised study, 215–217 intraoperative prophylaxis, 220–221
preoperative prophylaxis, 200 trephination techniques, requirements for, 217 Percentage thickness increase (PTI) concept, 163 Persistent dry eye, 87–88. See also Dry eye disease (DED) Photocoagulation, 3
Photorefractive keratectomy (PRK), 5–6, 44, 130
description, 5
drawback, 129
dry eye disease, 146
early postoperative complications
haze, 138–141
infectious keratitis, 136
mitomycin-C, 142
sterile keratitis, 137
for hyperopic and hyperopic astigmatism correction, 24–25 intraoperative complications bandage contact lens, 135 epithelial healing time and pain, 133
epithelium removal, 130
NSAIDS, 134
recommendations, 131–133
and LASIK, 5, 24
late-onset haze, 144, 145
for myopic and myopic astigmatism correction, 25–26 refractive regression, 145 Phototherapeutic keratectomy (PTK) ablation profiles, 181–182 complication management, in refractive surgery, 189 corneal dystrophies, 187, 188
for corneal scars
ablation depth, 184
benefit, 184
hypertrophic corneal scars, 185
pathology, 185
posttraumatic corneal scars, 185
rheumatoid ulcers, 185
Salzmann’s nodular degeneration, 186
goal of, 177
homogenous corneal surface after, 178, 179 indications for, 127–130, 178
infectious keratitis
acanthamoeba keratitis, 188–189
corneal scars after herpes keratitis, 189 irregular Bowman-lamella/stromal surface, 178, 179 paracentral corneal irregularities/scars, 178 for recurrent erosion Allegretto Wavelight Excimer Laser System, 181
clinical signs, 182
epithelial-basement-dystrophy, 182, 183
and PRK, 183
treatment, 182–183
risk factor, 181
Picosecond infrared laser (PIRL) keratoplasty, 8
Posttraumatic corneal scars, 185
Progressive iatrogenic keratectasia, 157, 158
Pseudo-ring-shaped automated Schwind AMARIS excimer laser ablation profile, 208, 209
Psychiatric disorders, 41
PTK. See Phototherapeutic keratectomy (PTK)
Purkinje image, 36

R
Radial keratotomy (RK), 66–67
marker, 205, 206
Recurrent corneal erosion, PTK for Allegretto Wavelight Excimer Laser System, 181
clinical signs, 182
epithelial-basement-dystrophy, 182, 183
and PRK, 183
treatment, 182–183
Refractive corneal surgery
corneal dystrophies, 43
effectiveness and safety, 12–13 efficacy index, 12
general clinical history, 39
glaucoma, 44–45
herpes simples keratitis, 43
immunosuppression by drugs, 42
ocular adnexa, 43
patient satisfaction, 11 phototherapeutic keratectomy (see Phototherapeutic keratectomy (PTK)) predictability of cylindrical correction, 16, 18 dioptric change, 13, 15–16 spherical equivalent, 15–17 pregnancy and breastfeeding, 42 retinal lesions, 46
safety index, 12–13
Snellen chart lines, 12–14
strabismus, 45–46
in systemic diseases
connective tissue and autoimmune diseases, 40–41
diabetes mellitus, 40 HIV and hepatitis, 41
neuro-ophthalmic disorders, 41–42
psychiatric disorders, 41
skin queloids, 41
target of, defined, 11
topography based keratectomy (see Topography based keratectomy (TBK)) uveitis, 45
visual acuity, 11–13
Refractive lenticule extraction (ReLEx®)
advantages, 113
femtosecond lenticule extraction, 112 myopia and myopic astigmatism correction, 112
VisuMax® femtosecond laser, 112
Relaxing keratotomy
vs. astigmatic keratotomies, 68
description, 67
limited precision of, 67
Rheumatoid corneal ulcers/scars, 185

S
Safety index (SI), 12–13
Salzmann’s nodular degeneration, 186
Scanning-slit lasers, 4 Scars, corneal
after herpes keratitis, 189
hypertrophic, 185
rheumatoid, 185
posttraumatic, 185
with PTKL, 183
Skin queloids, 41
Small incision lenticule extraction (SMILE), 7
advantages of, 114
cutting error, 73, 74
description, 72
efficacy of, 112
peri-operative complications black spots, 116
cap perforation/tear, 117, 118 diffuse haze at stromal interface, 117, 118 epithelial defects, 117 incomplete lenticule extraction, 116–117 incompletely cut lenticules, 115–116 opaque bubble layer formation, 116 suction loss, 114–115
postoperative complications biomechanical changes, 121–122 Bowman’s microdistortions, 119 corrected distance visual acuity, loss in, 120 epithelial cell island, 119, 120
iatrogenic keratectasia, 121–122
infectious keratitis, 121
interface haze development, 119 interface sterile inflammation, 119 monocular ghost-image development, 120, 121 stromal microstriae, 119 surface dryness, 118–119

Index
refractive success rates, 73 short time safety of, 113 visual rehabilitation, 73
Snellen chart lines, 12–14
Sterile keratitis, 137
Strabismus, 45–46
Stromal dystrophies, 44
Sumatriptan, 42
Superficial punctate keratitis (SPK) vs. diffuse lamellar keratitis, 77, 79 Surface ablation technique, 5, 6. See also Photorefractive keratotomy (PRK) early postoperative complications
ablation depth, 144
antiinflammatory drugs, 142 epithelial removal, 142–144
haze, 138–141
infectious keratitis, 136
mitomycin-C, 142
sterile keratitis, 137
epithelial removal techniques in, 127, 128
intraoperative complications irregular ablation, 130–131
pain, 133–135
recommendations, 131–133
late postoperative complications
late-onset haze, 144–145
persistent dry eye, 146–147
regression, 145–146
principle of, 127
Surgically induced astigmatism (SIA), 18
Symmetric intrastromal arcuate keratotomies, 68

T
Target induced astigmatism (TIA), 18
TBK. See Topography based keratectomy (TBK) Therapeutic flap amputation. See Flap, amputation procedure Topical anesthetic eye drops, 134
Topical mitomycin-C, 142 Topography based keratectomy (TBK), 197 ablation plan of, 192–194 Allegretto excimer laser and topolyzer, 192, 193 contact lens test, 192
indications for, 78, 127–130, 190–192
keratoconus eyes, 195–196
vs. LASIK, 194
visual acuity and quality, 192
Transepithelial PRK (t-PRK), 129, 132
Transepithelial PTK, 179–181
Traumatic flap dislocation, LASIK, 96 diagnosis, 97
severity of, 97
surgical treatment, 98
Trephination
excimer lasers
complications, 211, 213, 214
donor, 208, 209
nonmechanical trephination,
advantages of, 208–210
practical considerations, 210–212
principle of, 208
recipient, 208, 209
femtosecond laser, 199–200
complications, 218–220
drawback of, 7
problem of, 215
mechanical, 202
U Uveitis, 45
V
Vacuum, MK/FSL fixation, 37
Visual acuity (VA), 11 parameters, 12
terms and abbreviations, 12, 13
VisuMax® femtosecond laser, 112
W
Wave front optimized ablation, 27
Wound healing
corneal, 5
delayed, 131, 178, 189
Z
Z-scan, 73