

Palgrave Macmillan Studies in Banking and Financial Institutions

Series Editor: Professor Philip Molyneux

The Palgrave Macmillan Studies in Banking and Financial Institutions are international in orientation and include studies of banking within particular countries or regions, and studies of particular themes such as Corporate Banking, Risk Management, Mergers and Acquisitions, etc. The books focus on research and practice, and they include up-to-date and innovative studies on contemporary topics in banking that will have global impact and influence.

Titles include:

Yener Altunbaş, Blaise Gadanecz and Alper Kara

SYNDICATED LOANS

A Hybrid of Relationship Lending and Publicly Traded Debt

Yener Altunbaş, Alper Kara and Öslem Olgu

TURKISH BANKING

Banking under Political Instability and Chronic High Inflation

Elena Beccalli

IT AND EUROPEAN BANK PERFORMANCE

Paola Bongini, Stefano Chiarlone and Giovanni Ferri (editors)

EMERGING BANKING SYSTEMS

Vittorio Boscia, Alessandro Carretta and Paola Schwizer

COOPERATIVE BANKING: INNOVATIONS AND DEVELOPMENTS

COOPERATIVE BANKING IN EUROPE: CASE STUDIES

Alessandro Carretta, Franco Fiordelisi and Gianluca Mattarocci (editors)

NEW DRIVERS OF PERFORMANCE IN A CHANGING FINANCIAL WORLD

Dimitris N. Chorafas

CAPITALISM WITHOUT CAPITAL

Dimitris N. Chorafas

FINANCIAL BOOM AND GLOOM

The Credit and Banking Crisis of 2007–2009 and Beyond

Violaine Cousin

BANKING IN CHINA

Peter Falush and Robert L. Carter OBE

THE BRITISH INSURANCE INDUSTRY SINCE 1900

The Era of Transformation

Franco Fiordelisi and Philip Molyneux

SHAREHOLDER VALUE IN BANKING

Hans Genberg and Cho-Hoi Hui

THE BANKING CENTRE IN HONG KONG

Competition, Efficiency, Performance and Risk

Carlo Gola and Alessandro Roselli

THE UK BANKING SYSTEM AND ITS REGULATORY AND SUPERVISORY FRAMEWORK

Elisabetta Gualandri and Valeria Venturelli (editors)

BRIDGING THE EQUITY GAP FOR INNOVATIVE SMEs

Kim Hawtrey
AFFORDABLE HOUSING FINANCE

Otto Hieronymi
GLOBALIZATION AND THE REFORM OF THE INTERNATIONAL BANKING AND MONETARY SYSTEM

Munawar Iqbal and Philip Molyneux
THIRTY YEARS OF ISLAMIC BANKING
History, Performance and Prospects

Sven Janssen
BRITISH AND GERMAN BANKING STRATEGIES

Kimio Kase and Tanguy Jacopin
CEOs AS LEADERS AND STRATEGY DESIGNERS
Explaining the Success of Spanish Banks

M. Mansoor Khan and M. Ishaq Bhatti
DEVELOPMENTS IN ISLAMIC BANKING
The Case of Pakistan

Mario La Torre and Gianfranco A. Vento
MICROFINANCE

Philip Molyneux and Eleuterio Vallelado (editors)
FRONTIERS OF BANKS IN A GLOBAL WORLD

Anastasia Nesvetailova
FRAGILE FINANCE
Debt, Speculation and Crisis in the Age of Global Credit

Anders Ögren (editor)
THE SWEDISH FINANCIAL REVOLUTION

Dominique Rambure and Alec Nacamuli
PAYMENT SYSTEMS
From the Salt Mines to the Board Room

Catherine Schenk (editor)
HONG KONG SAR'S MONETARY AND EXCHANGE RATE CHALLENGES
Historical Perspectives

Noël K. Tshiani
BUILDING CREDIBLE CENTRAL BANKS
Policy Lessons for Emerging Economies

The full list of titles is available on the website:
www.palgrave.com/finance/sbfi.asp

Palgrave Macmillan Studies in Banking and Financial Institutions

Series Standing Order ISBN 978-1-4039-4872-4

You can receive future titles in this series as they are published by placing a standing order. Please contact your bookseller or, in case of difficulty, write to us at the address below with your name and address, the title of the series and the ISBN quoted above.

Customer Services Department, Macmillan Distribution Ltd, Houndmills, Basingstoke, Hampshire RG21 6XS, England

The Swedish Financial Revolution

Edited by

Anders Ögren

palgrave
macmillan

Introduction, selection and editorial matter © Anders Ögren 2010
Individual chapters © contributors 2010
Softcover reprint of the hardcover 1st edition 2010 978-0-230-23404-8

All rights reserved. No reproduction, copy or transmission of this publication may be made without written permission.

No portion of this publication may be reproduced, copied or transmitted save with written permission or in accordance with the provisions of the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988, or under the terms of any licence permitting limited copying issued by the Copyright Licensing Agency, Saffron House, 6–10 Kirby Street, London EC1N 8TS.

Any person who does any unauthorized act in relation to this publication may be liable to criminal prosecution and civil claims for damages.

The authors have asserted their rights to be identified as the authors of this work in accordance with the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988.

First published 2010 by
PALGRAVE MACMILLAN

Palgrave Macmillan in the UK is an imprint of Macmillan Publishers Limited, registered in England, company number 785998, of Houndmills, Basingstoke, Hampshire RG21 6XS.

Palgrave Macmillan in the US is a division of St Martin's Press LLC, 175 Fifth Avenue, New York, NY 10010.

Palgrave Macmillan is the global academic imprint of the above companies and has companies and representatives throughout the world.

Palgrave® and Macmillan® are registered trademarks in the United States, the United Kingdom, Europe and other countries.

ISBN 978-1-349-58892-3 ISBN 978-0-230-29723-4 (eBook)
DOI 10.1057/9780230297234

This book is printed on paper suitable for recycling and made from fully managed and sustained forest sources. Logging, pulping and manufacturing processes are expected to conform to the environmental regulations of the country of origin.

A catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library.

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

The Swedish financial revolution / edited by Anders Ögren.
p. cm. — (Palgrave Macmillan studies in banking and financial institutions)
Includes bibliographical references and index.

Summary: "How did Sweden go from a financially backward country to one with a well functioning financial system? Why did this financial revolution occur after the mid-nineteenth century and not before? This book discusses the role of politics and economics in this change and what it means for economic development, market integration and financial crises" — Provided by publisher.

1. Financial institutions — Sweden — History. 2. Banks and banking — Sweden — History. 3. Banking law — Sweden. I. Ögren, Anders, 1967–

HG186.S85.S94 2010
332.109485—dc22

2009044421

10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1
19 18 17 16 15 14 13 12 11 10

Transferred to Digital Printing in 2014

Contents

List of Illustrations	x
Notes on Contributors	xii
1 The Swedish Financial Revolution: An In-Depth Study	1
Anders Ögren
Introduction	1
The financial revolution	2
Finance and growth	4
The Swedish financial revolution	5
Institutional changes and the financial revolution	10
Aim of this book	11
Notes	11
References	12
2 The Early Modern Financial System and the Informal Credit Market	14
Klas Nyberg
Introduction	14
Financial and currency problems in early modern Sweden	14
The Swedish credit market, 1720–1834	18
The private credit market	19
Public lending	22
The manufacturing discount bank: A state industry-financed bank	24
The road to the 1834 currency reform	26
The background to the 1777 and 1803 currency reforms	26
The 1830s: The parliament finally takes control of financial power	29
Epilogue: The manufacturing discount bank’s contribution to the nineteenth century	30
Notes	31
References	34
3 The Deposit Market Revolution in Sweden	41
Kristina Lilja
Introduction	41
The deposit market revolution	42

The early stage, 1820–1860	43
Savings banks being market makers	44
Commercial banks entering the deposit market arena	47
The early depositors	49
Expansion and breakthrough, 1860–1880	51
Savings banks' accelerating growth on the deposits market	51
Commercial banks become more interested in deposits	52
A market for life insurance	53
Post deposit revolution, 1880–1913	54
New actors enter the arena	55
The deposit market enters a more mature stage	56
The modern saver enters the deposit market arena	57
Conclusion	58
Notes	59
References	61
4 Cooperation, Interbank Markets and Bank-Industry Networks: The Growth and Characteristics of Swedish Bank Lending, 1860–1910	64
Tom Petersson
Introduction	64
What was the problem and who was going to solve it?	67
Cooperation and the establishment of interbank markets	69
Local bank-industry networks and insider lending	72
Conclusion	74
Notes	75
References	76
5 The Modernization of the National Bank of Sweden: The Riksbank	79
Anders Ögren
Introduction	79
Responsibility of the currency and issuance of base money: Monetary policy of the Riksbank	80
The Riksbank as the bank of the state: The importance of the National Debt Office	85
The Riksbank as the bankers' bank	88
The Riksbank as lender of last resort	90
Conclusion	91
Notes	92
References	93
6 The Evolution of Secondary Financial Markets, 1820–1920	95
Håkan Lindgren
Introduction	95

The rise of secondary financial markets in Sweden:
Quantitative evidence	96
Trading securities pre-financial revolution	98
The establishment of an exchange for the trading of securities	101
Market efficiency and market breadth: Stock market modernization, 1900–1920	105
Concentration of exchange to get reliable prices and public control to enhance stability and trust – two instrumental explanations	108
Notes	110
References	111
7 Market Integration 1830–1890	113
Håkan Lobell
Introduction	113
The payments system and credit instruments	115
Commercial banks and integration	120
Conclusion	124
Notes	124
References	125
8 Incorporation and Financial Modernization	128
Oskar Broberg
Introduction	128
The demand for incorporation	131
Iron-works and the law of 1848	131
The modern company law of 1895	133
The breakthrough for the limited liability joint-stock company	134
Incorporating new sectors	134
New ventures and the transformation of older firms	137
Incorporation and financial modernization	138
The transformation of capital	138
Commercial banks, at the centre of development	140
Conclusion	141
Notes	142
References	143
9 The Swedish Financial Revolution and the Insurance Industry	145
Mikael Lönnborg & Mikael Olsson
Introduction	145
The formation of a modern insurance market	147

Legislation and the insurance industry	150
Insurance as a source of external finance – financing the industrial revolution?	151
Insurance as a source of external finance – three case studies	154
The bond portfolio of Skandia, 1878–1915	159
Conclusion	162
Notes	168
References	168
10 The State and the Financial System: Regulation and Regime Change around 1900	170
Mats Larsson
Introduction	170
The need for capital – an organizational perspective	171
The financing of the building sector	172
Industrial financing	174
The growth of the Stockholm stock market	176
Institutional changes under the second financial revolution	176
Commercial banks	177
Savings banks	178
Insurance companies	179
Conclusion	179
Notes	180
References	181
11 Why do Banking Crises Occur? An Evolutionary Model of Swedish Banking Crises	183
Hans Sjögren and Sverre Knutsen
Introduction	183
Kindleberger's stage-model	184
Market psychology, speculation and rhetoric	185
An evolutionary model for banking crises	186
Conceptual framework	188
Empirical analysis – three Swedish banking crises	190
Period I	190
Period II	195
Period III	197
Conclusion	200
Notes	201
References	202

12 What we can Learn from the Swedish Financial Revolution: An International Comparison	204
Anders Ögren and Richard Sylla
Introduction	204
The financial revolution as a model	204
The financial revolution – international experiences	208
The Swedish financial revolution – a summary	213
Notes	222
References	222
Index	225

Illustrations

Figures

1.1	Broad money supply in Sweden, 1834–1913	8
3.1	Deposits in the financial sector, share of GDP, 1834–1913	43
4.1	The growth of the Swedish institutional credit market 1835–1910	65
4.2	The formal and informal relationships between commercial banks and savings bank	71
5.1	Swedish per capita foreign debt (SEK), 1834–1913	81
5.2	Legal backing of Riksbank notes, 1834–1913	83
6.1	Turnover on the Stockholm stock exchange under the auction system, 1863–1901	97
6.2	Turnover on the Stockholm stock exchange, 1902–1920	98
7.1	Price differentials of 90 days sterling bills between the Stockholm and Gothenburg exchanges, 3 January 1843–28 December 1880	114
7.2	Foreign exchange trade at the exchanges. Turnover 1834–1890	118
8.1	Number of joint-stock companies founded each year in Sweden, 1850–1922	129
8.2	Subscribed capital relative to Gross Domestic Product in Sweden, 1850–1922	130
9.1	Bonds as a percentage of total assets for three insurance companies, 1872–1914	152
9.2	Loans on mortgage as a percentage of total assets for three insurance companies, 1872–1914	153
9.3	Asset portfolio of Skandia, 1855, 1860, 1865, 1870 and 1872–1914 (MSEK)	156
9.4	Asset portfolio of Skåne, booked value in current prices, 1884–1914 (MSEK)	157
9.5	Asset portfolio of Thule booked value in current prices, 1873–1914 (MSEK)	158
9.6	Bond portfolio of Skandia, 1878–1915	160
11.1	A stylized illustration of banking crises	191

Tables

1.1	Various financial measures in per cent of GDP, 1840–1910	9
3.1	Number of savings banks, savings banks offices, post-savings banks offices, commercial banks and commercial banks offices, 1830–1910	46
3.2	Total deposits, number of account and average balances/account in the savings banks and the commercial banks, 1834–1910	50
3.3	The Swedish Deposit Market, 1830–1910. Shares of the financial organizations	57

4.1	The Swedish formal credit market, 1835–1910	65
4.2	The five largest commercial banks' market share on the Swedish credit market, 1870 and 1900	69
5.1	Loans taken by the National Debt Office, 1855–1913	87
8.1	Subscribed capital in new corporations, 1850–1919	136
9.1	Number of actors and structure of the Swedish insurance market, 1889–1920	149
A.9.1	Appendix – Annual numerical data on Skandia (from 1872), Thule (from 1873) and Skåne (from 1884) until WWI	165
10.1	Annual average growth of gross national product 1870–1930	171

Contributors

Oskar Broberg

Assistant Professor at the Department of Economic History at the School of Business, Economics and Law at Gothenburg University. Broberg finished his thesis in 2006 which dealt with the development of limited liability corporations and their connection to the financial sector in Sweden. He currently divides his research between that of financial and business history and consumption and food history. His most recent international publications are: “To do business, to practise ethics, and to produce knowledge: The construction of ‘organic milk’ in Sweden in the late twentieth century” (2008) in Food & History and “Venture capital and the emergence of joint-stock companies during the industrial breakthrough in Sweden” [forthcoming], in Finance and Modernisation: A transnational and transcontinental perspective for the nineteenth and twentieth Centuries (Eds.) Feldman, G. & Hertner, P. Ashgate: Aldershot.

Sverre Knutsen

Professor in Economic and Business History, and Head of Department of Innovation and Economic Organisation at BI – The Norwegian School of Management. He has published extensively in the field of financial history, financial stability and crises, financial innovations and financing of innovations and entrepreneurial ventures. Knutsen is also doing research in the field of transport infrastructures. Besides, Knutsen’s research interests are also directed towards institutional theory and the methodology of economic history.

Mats Larsson

Professor in Economic History at the Department of Economic History and Head of the Uppsala Centre for Business History (UCBH) at Uppsala University. His research covers both business and financial history in which he has published extensively throughout the years. He has a special interest in the development of financial regulatory regimes in Sweden during the twentieth century and the interaction between the market and the state.

Kristina Lilja

Assistant Professor at the Department of Economic History at Uppsala University. Her main research interests are financial history and social history. Her doctoral dissertation (2004) focused on household saving and lending from a life cycle perspective 1820–1910. In the thesis, the transformation of the Swedish capital market was analysed from a household perspective. In an earlier paper (2000), Lilja studied savers and their saving behaviour in the early Swedish savings banks 1830–1914. She has since 2005 been working with a research project concerning auctions and second-hand consumption during the period 1700–1900. At the moment, she studies family savings during the nineteenth century from a life-cycle perspective. She is also working on a project analysing the development of the deposit market during the second half of the twentieth century. Since 2007, Kristina Lilja has been editorial secretary for Scandinavian Economic History Review.

Håkan Lindgren

Professor in Economic History at Stockholm School of Economics (since 1995). He is Head of The Institute for Research in Economic History (EHFF) and former chairman of the board of directors of The Economic Research Institute (EFI) of the School. His alma mater is Uppsala University, where he earlier held office as Associate Professor and Head of the Financial History Unit at the Department of Economic History. His main research area is financial and business history and his most important monograph publications include Corporate growth. The Swedish match industry in its global setting (1979), Bank, investmentbolag, bankirfirma. Stockholm's Enskilda Bank 1924–1945 (1988), Aktivt ägande. Investor under växlande konjunkturer (1994), and Jacob Wallenberg 1892–1980 (2007). He has also published several articles in international journals.

Håkan Lobell

Assistant Professor in Economic History at Lund University. His main research interests lie in fields of monetary and financial history and long-term economic growth and change. Recent research has focused on historical national accounts, research on growth and stagnation in Europe and the project “Historical Monetary Statistics of Sweden” with the Bank of Sweden.

Mikael Lönnborg

Assistant Professor at Department of Social Sciences, Södertörn University (Stockholm) and UCBH – Uppsala Centre for Business History, Uppsala University. Lönnborg has published books and papers on business and financial history, in particular about banks and insurance companies, the Swedish financial model, internationalization, the political economy of transition and financial crises. He has published in Business History Review and is currently finishing an anthology with the title Unplanned.

The transformation of states and financial markets in “Transition” countries co-edited with Mikael Olsson and Michael Rafferty.

Klas Nyberg

Professor at the Department of Economic History, Uppsala University and External Associate at the Faculty of Economics and Politics, University of Cambridge, UK. His research focuses on early modern and modern textile history, consumption history and material culture, but also early modern trade capitalism and financial history. He is well integrated with Swedish, Scandinavian and international networks and is a member of several Swedish research councils. Among his recent publications are K. Nyberg (red. [ed.]), Kopparkungen. Handelshuset Björkman i Stockholm 1782–1824 [The Copper King: The Björkman Trading House in Stockholm, 1782–1824] (Stockholm: Stockholmia) and “Cultural transfer and the ‘Skeppsbron nobility’ in eighteenth century Stockholm: Foreign Merchants as Intermediaries in the Introduction of New Wares” in North, M. (Hg. [ed.]) Kultureller Austausch. Bilanz und Perspektiven der Frühneuezeitforschung. (Köln, Weimar, Wien: Böhlau) and K. Nyberg, K. (red. [ed.]) Stockholm's textila handel och manufaktur, 1722–1846. [The textile trades of Stockholm] Forthcoming at Stockholm Förlag 2010.

Anders Ögren

Assistant Professor at EHF – The Institute for Research in Economic History, Stockholm School of Economics, Lecturer at Institute d'Études Politiques de Paris (SciencesPo) and Associated Researcher at both EconomiX, Université de Paris Ovest (Nanterre) and UCBH – Uppsala Center for Business History, Uppsala University. In 2003 he earned his PhD at the at the Stockholm School of Economics after which he stayed three semesters as Post-Doc scholar at the Stern School of Business, New York University. Ögren's main research fields are monetary and financial history and history of economic thought and he has published several articles in international books and journals within these fields – most recently in 2009 “Financial revolution and economic modernization in Sweden” in The Financial History Review. He is currently coordinating two international research projects: Paper money in theory and practice in history and Commercial bank modernization.

Mikael Olsson

Mikael Olsson has for some 20 years has worked extensively with contemporary issues relating to societal transformations in the former Soviet Union and Eastern Europe. In 1999, he defended his doctoral dissertation about Slovak privatization and corporate governance at the Department of Economic History, Uppsala University. Over the years he has held positions with the Department of East European Studies, Uppsala University, the Stockholm Institute for Transition Economics (SITE), Stockholm School of Economics, the Centre for Baltic and East European Studies (CBEES) and the National Institute for Working Life. He currently works as an analyst with the Baltic Sea Unit of the Swedish International Development Cooperation Agency (Sida) at the island of Gotland in the middle of the Baltic Sea and is also project leader for a research project at Södertörn University College.

Tom Petersson

Associate Professor in Economic History at Uppsala University. His research concerns the role of personal networks in banking and industry, as well as long-term, structural changes in the Swedish financial system. His basic approach is broadly institutional, focusing on the mutual interaction among formal rules and informal norms and traditions on the one hand, and organizations, firms and markets, on the other, to explain long-term changes. His dissertation concerned the development of the Swedish banking system in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries. Some titles in English are “Women, money and the financial revolution. A gender perspective on the development of the Swedish financial system,” in A. Laurence, J. Maltby and J. Rutterford eds., Women and their money 1700–1950, Routledge 2008, and “Banking or philanthropy? The development and characteristics of the nineteenth century Scandinavian savings banks” in Revue d’Histoire Nordique, pp. 167–192, 2006:2.

Hans Sjögren

Professor in Economic History at Linköping University and Acting Professor at EHFF – The Institute for Research in Economic History, Stockholm School of Economics. He has to a large degree worked in an international setting, having been Visiting Professor/Fellow at Harvard Business School (twice), European University Institute, Claremont McKenna College in Los Angeles, Bologna University. In 2007, he was awarded the Alfred D. Chandler, Jr., International Visiting Scholarship at Harvard Business School. His main research interests are financial and business history, institutional theory and economic crimes (he has been the Director of the Centre for Education and Research on Economic Crime and Economic Crisis (CEREC), at Linköping University) but also capitalism as a social phenomenon. He has published several books and articles within these fields.

Richard Sylla

Henry Kaufman Professor of the History of Financial Institutions and Markets, and Professor of Economics at the Stern School of Business, New York University. His research focuses on the economic, financial and business history of the United States in comparative contexts. A former chairman of the board of trustees of the Cliometric Society and past president of both the Economic History Association and the Business History Conference, Sylla currently serves as vice chairman of the board of trustees of the Museum of American Finance, a Smithsonian affiliate located on Wall Street in New York City. Sylla has published extensively in the field of economics, finance and financial history – not least within the issues of finance and growth and the financial revolution. His most recent publication is with R. E. Wright, and D. J. Cowen, in Business History Review (2009) “Alexander Hamilton, Central Banker: Crisis Management during the U.S. Financial Panic of 1792.”