ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This book has grown out of my doctoral dissertation completed at The Institute of Fine Arts at New York University. First and foremost I am grateful to Tom Mathews, my advisor on the original thesis, who has continued to enthusiastically support my project as it grew into this book. I am also indebted to Helen Evans, who always took time out of her busy schedule to encourage and assist in my research efforts, beginning with her supervision of my predoctoral fellowship at the Metropolitan Museum and continuing through the writing of this book. The majority of the writing was done with a generous postdoctoral fellowship from the Program in Hellenic Studies at Princeton University. While I was there, I received constructive comments from several colleagues especially Dimitri Gondicas and Peter Brown who raised many issues present in this study. In addition I traveled throughout Europe on my quest for images of secular dress, especially in Turkey and Greece. My heartfelt thanks goes to Sarah Brooks, my oft travel companion who was by my side through many of the trials of travel, such as fording ice-encrusted rivers to get to remote cave churches in Cappadocia. Others who have provided advice and feedback during this process should also be thanked: Warren Woodfin, Cecily Hilsdale, Rob Hallman, Maria Parani, Derek Krueger, Tom Dale, and MaryAnn Calo. Thank you to my editors and readers, Professors Bonnie Wheeler and Anne McLanan, Farideh Koochi-Kamali, as well as those still anonymous to me. Finally, I dedicate this book to my husband Dave who traveled with me, served as my tech support, and provided much love throughout this project.
