

Black Itinerants of the Gospel

And it shall come to pass in the last days, saith God, I will pour out of my spirit unto all flesh: and your sons and your daughters shall prophesy, and your young men shall see visions: And on my servants and on my handmaidens I will pour out in those days of my Spirit; and they shall prophesy.

—Acts 2:17–18

BLACK ITINERANTS
OF THE GOSPEL

The Narratives of John Jea and George White

Edited with an introduction by Graham Russell Hodges

palgrave

BLACK ITINERANTS OF THE GOSPEL

Copyright © Madison House Publishers, Inc., 1993.

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be used or reproduced in any manner whatsoever without written permission except in the case of brief quotations embodied in critical articles or reviews.

First published 2002 by PALGRAVE™

175 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10010

Companies and representatives throughout the world.

PALGRAVE is the new global publishing imprint of St. Martin's Press LLC Scholarly and Reference Division and Palgrave Publishers Ltd. (formerly Macmillan Press Ltd.).

ISBN 978-0-312-29445-8 ISBN 978-1-137-09907-5 (eBook)

DOI 10.1007/978-1-137-09907-5

LIBRARY OF CONGRESS CATALOGING-IN-PUBLICATION DATA

White, George, b. 1764.

[Brief account of the life, experience, travels and Gospel labours of George White, an African]

Black itinerants of the Gospel : the narratives of John Jea and George White / edited with an introduction by Graham Russell Hodges.

p. cm.

Originally published: 1st ed. Madison : Madison House, 1993.

Includes bibliographical references and index.

Contents: A brief account of the life, experience, travels and Gospel labours of George White, an African / George White — The life, history, and unparalleled sufferings of John Jea, the African preacher / John Jea.

ISBN 978-0-312-29445-8 (pbk.)

1. White, George, b. 1764. 2. Jea, John, b. 1773. 3. Afro-American clergy—Biography.

I. Hodges, Graham Russell, 1946- II. Jea, John, b. 1773. Life, history, and unparalleled sufferings of John Jea, the African preacher. III. Title.

BR563.N4 W49 2001

287'.8'0922—dc21

[B]

2001038758

First published in the United States in 1993 by Madison House Publishers, Inc.

First PALGRAVE edition: January 2002

10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1

A catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library.

Contents

List of Illustrations	vi
Acknowledgments	vii
Introduction	1
George White	51
A Brief Account of the Life, Experience, Travels and Gospel Labours of George White, An African.
John Jea	89
The Life, History, and Unparalleled Sufferings of John Jea, the African Preacher.
Appendix 1	165
Hymns from A Collection of Hymns Compiled and Selected by John Jea, African Preacher of the Gospel.
Appendix 2	179
Membership by Race in the Methodist Episcopal Church, New York–New Jersey Area, 1788–1828.
Bibliography	181
Index	193

Illustrations

- “Woolman Hickson Preaching His First Sermon in Brooklyn, 1787,” in Edwin Warriner, Old Sands Street Methodist Episcopal Church of Brooklyn, New York. New York: Phillips and Hunt, 1885. 5
- Advertisement from Trenton Mercury and Weekly Advertiser, October 9, 1787. Courtesy of the American Antiquarian Society. 11
- Longworth’s Map of the City of New York, 1797. Courtesy of the Rare Book Room, Cornell University Library. 17
- Henry Osawa Tanner. The Resurrection of Lazarus. Courtesy of the Musée d’Orsay, Paris. 31
- Title Page from A Brief Account of the Life, Experience, Travels, and Gospel Labours of George White, An African. Courtesy of the United Library of the Garrett-Evangelical and Seabury-Western Theological Seminary. 50
- “Un Planteur au Lit de la Mere Donne la Liberte a ses Esclaves,” from Henri Gregoire, Manuel de piété a l’usage des homes de couleur et des noirs. Paris: Badouin freres, 1822. Courtesy of the Rare Book Room, Cornell University Library. 55
- Frontispiece from The Life, History, and Unparalleled Sufferings of John Jea, the African Preacher. Courtesy of the Bodleian Library, Oxford University. 87
- Title Page from The Life, History, and Unparalleled Sufferings of John Jea, the African Preacher. Courtesy of the Bodleian Library, Oxford University. 88
- “Notre Pere qui etes aux Cieux,” from Henri Gregoire, Manuel de piété a l’usage des homes de couleur et des noirs. Paris: Badouin freres, 1822. Courtesy of the Rare Book Room, Cornell University Library. 133
- Title Page from A Collection of Hymns Compiled and Selected by John Jea, African Preacher of the Gospel. Courtesy of the Bodleian Library, Oxford University. 164

Acknowledgments

I owe substantial debts to scholars and friends who helped me reconstruct the worlds of George White and John Jea. Mechal Sobel of the University of Haifa first taught me about George White in an excellent seminar at the Northeast Seminar on African-American Religion at the Schomburg Library in 1989. My first awareness of John Jea came through reading Henry Louis Gates's Signifying Monkey: A Theory of African-American Criticism. I learned of Jea's hymns in the useful anthology Black Writers in Britain, 1760-1890, ed. Paul Edwards and David Dabydeen. I have acknowledged other historical and literary debts within the text.

Many institutions enabled this project. I found valuable materials on John Jea in England at the Portsmouth Record Office, the City of Portsmouth Library, the British Museum and Library, the Public Record Office, the Methodist Historical Society, and the Bodleian Library at Oxford University. I learned much about White at the American Antiquarian Society, the Maryland State Archives, the New-York Historical Society, the New York Municipal Archives, the New York Public Library, the Rutgers University Library, the State Library and Archives of New Jersey, the Virginia State Library and Archives, and the Library of Congress. Mr. Alva R. Caldwell, librarian at the United Library of Garrett-Evangelical and Seabury-Western Theological Seminary was immensely helpful in obtaining a copy of the frontispiece of George White's narrative.

A number of foundations, state and federal grant programs, and university councils generously provided support for research on this study. They include the American Council of Learned Societies Major Grant Program, the New Jersey Historical Commission, the National Endowment for the Humanities Summer Stipend and Travel-to-Collections Program, and the Colgate University Dean of Faculty, and Faculty Research Council.

Numerous students at Colgate and my stepchildren James B. and Celeste B. Creel listened patiently to my excited words about unknown preachers. Special help came from Colgate students John D. Ruppert III and Alan Brown. Alan prepared the table which appears as Appendix 2.

Several scholars have helped enormously with this task. Marcus Rediker of Georgetown University read the first draft of the introduction and made many cogent suggestions. John Wigger of Notre Dame University and Phillip Richards of Colgate University, made several excellent suggestions. Steve Kaplan and Daniel Baugh of Cornell University helped me avoid mistakes in tracing Jea's travels. Dewey Mosby, director of the Picker Gallery at Colgate University, generously supplied me with information about Henry Osawa Tanner's painting, Lazarus. Thanks also to John P. Kaminski and his staff at Scholars Editorial Services, Inc. for their excellent proofreading. Gregory M. Britton of Madison House proved to be a supportive, patient, yet exacting editor. My father and mother, the Reverend Graham R. and Elsie R. Hodges, helped identify biblical quotations in the two narratives. Reverend and Mrs. Hodges, like the two preachers inscribed in this work, personify devotion to the profession of parish ministry.

As always, my greatest debt is to my wife and intellectual companion, Margaret Washington.