

HOLLYWOOD KNIGHTS

STUDIES IN ARTHURIAN AND COURTLY CULTURES

The dynamic field of Arthurian Studies is the subject for this book series, Studies in Arthurian and Courtly Cultures, which explores the great variety of literary and cultural expression inspired by the lore of King Arthur, the Round Table, and the Grail. In forms that range from medieval chronicles to popular films, from chivalric romances to contemporary comics, from magic realism to feminist fantasy—and from the sixth through the twenty-first centuries—few literary subjects provide such fertile ground for cultural elaboration. Including works in literary criticism, cultural studies, and history, Studies in Arthurian and Courtly Cultures highlights the most significant new Arthurian Studies.

Bonnie Wheeler, Southern Methodist University
Series Editor

Editorial Board:

James Carley, York University
Jeffrey Jerome Cohen, American University
Virginie Greene, Harvard University
Siân Echard, University of British Columbia
Sharon Kinoshita, University of California, Santa Cruz
Alan Lupack, University of Rochester
Andrew Lynch, University of Western Australia

HOLLYWOOD KNIGHTS

ARTHURIAN CINEMA AND THE POLITICS OF NOSTALGIA

Susan Aronstein

palgrave
macmillan

HOLLYWOOD KNIGHTS

© Susan Aronstein, 2005.

Softcover reprint of the hardcover 1st edition 2005 978-1-4039-6649-0

All rights reserved. No part of this book may be used or reproduced in any manner whatsoever without written permission except in the case of brief quotations embodied in critical articles or reviews.

First published in 2005 by

PALGRAVE MACMILLAN™

175 Fifth Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10010 and

Houndmills, Basingstoke, Hampshire, England RG21 6XS

Companies and representatives throughout the world.

PALGRAVE MACMILLAN is the global academic imprint of the Palgrave Macmillan division of St. Martin's Press, LLC and of Palgrave Macmillan Ltd. Macmillan® is a registered trademark in the United States, United Kingdom and other countries. Palgrave is a registered trademark in the European Union and other countries.

ISBN 978-1-349-73343-9

ISBN 978-1-137-12400-5 (eBook)

DOI 10.1007/978-1-137-12400-5

Library of Congress Cataloging-in-Publication Data

Aronstein, Susan Lynn.

Hollywood Knights : Arthurian cinema and the politics of nostalgia / Susan Aronstein.

p. cm.—(New Middle Ages)

Includes bibliographical references and index.

1. Arthurian romances in motion pictures. I. Title. II. New Middle Ages (Palgrave Macmillan (Firm))

PN1995.9.A75A76 2005

791.43'651—dc22

2005051025

A catalogue record for this book is available from the British Library.

Design by Newgen Imaging Systems (P) Ltd., Chennai, India.

First edition: October 2005

10 9 8 7 6 5 4 3 2 1

Transferred to Digital Printing 2008

CONTENTS

List of Illustrations	vi
Acknowledgments	viii
Introduction	1
1. Back to the Future: The Birth of Modern Medievalism in England and America	11
2. The Birth of Camelot: The Literary Origins of the Hollywood Arthuriana	29
3. The Knights of the Round Table: Camelot in Hollywood	55
4. “Once There Was a Spot”: Camelot and the Crisis of the 1960s	79
5. “Let’s Not Go to Camelot”: Deconstructing Myth	99
6. Old Myths Are New Again: Ronald Reagan, Indiana Jones, Knightriders , and the Pursuit of the Past	117
7. The Return of the King: Arthur and the Quest for True Manhood	145
8. Democratizing Camelot: Yankees in King Arthur’s Court	167
9. Revisiting the Round Table: Arthur’s American Dream	191
Notes	215
Selected Bibliography	247
Index	257

LIST OF ILLUSTRATIONS

- 3.1 “A bond between brother and brother.” Lancelot (Robert Taylor) swears fealty to Arthur (Mel Ferrer), while Guinevere (Ava Gardner) looks on in Richard Thorpe’s 1953 film Knights of the Round Table. 67
- 4.1 “What kind of a knight could you make of me?” Arthur (Richard Harris) encounters Mordred (David Hemmings) in Joshua Logan’s 1967 film of Lerner and Loewe’s Camelot. 89
- 5.1 “When December weds with May.” Lancelot (Cornel Wilde) carries a swooning Guinevere (Jean Wallace) to her wedding bed while the groom (Brian Aherne) looks on in Wilde’s 1963 film The Sword of Lancelot. 101
- 5.2 “Come and see the violence inherent in the system!” King Arthur (Graham Chapman) represses the irrepressible Dennis (Michael Palin) in Monty Python and the Holy Grail (1975). 111
- 6.1 “Not exactly a knight.” Indiana Jones (Harrison Ford) encounters the last of the Grail knights in Steven Spielberg’s 1989 conclusion to the Indiana Jones’ trilogy, The Last Crusade. 123
- 7.1 “The king and the land are one.” The wasteland blooms as Arthur (Nigel Terry) rides to his final battle in John Boorman’s 1981 film, Excalibur. 151
- 8.1 “Any old cowhand could have done as good.” Hank Martin (Will Rogers) faces Sir Sagramor (Brandon Hurst) in Fox’s 1931 version of A Connecticut Yankee. 170
- 8.2 “Useful miracles.” Hank Martin (Bing Crosby) woos Alisande (Rhonda Fleming) with a safety pin

- in Paramount's 1949 remake of A Connecticut Yankee in King Arthur's Court. 175
- 8.3 "And you, Leo, are no King Arthur." Jamal (Martin Lawrence) rallies the troops in Black Knight (2001). 187

All stills courtesy of the Ellbogen Center for Teaching and Learning and are reproduced here solely for the purpose of critical analysis.

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

Like many of the films it discusses, this book was years in the making (many thanks to the University of Wyoming for a 2001 Sabbatical leave) and involved a cast of thousands. I would like to thank my “supporting cast,” beginning with University of Wyoming’s English Department for providing a collegial and supportive environment: Carolyn Anderson, Caroline McCracken-Flesher, Paul Flesher, Janice Harris, Cedric Reverand (who also provided invaluable editorial suggestions), and Susan Frye all listened patiently as I hashed out various arguments, and many of the initial ideas for this book—especially on Indiana Jones and The Fisher King—were generated while team-teaching with Robert Torry, who generously read and commented on the manuscript. I am also indebted to colleagues outside of my department: Laurie Finke, Kevin J. Harty, Donald Hoffman, Kathleen Kelly, Martin Shichtman, and Elisabeth Sklar have provided feedback and support, a forum for discussing Arthurian film, and a reason to look forward to academic conferences. Kevin Harty also provided technical advice on the organization and presentation of stills. In addition, I am grateful to Bonnie Wheeler and an anonymous reader for insightful critiques that have made this a better and more complete book, and to my various editors at Palgrave—Farideh Koochi-Kamali, Melissa Nosal, and Lynn Vande Stouwe—for their advice and help as I moved through the publication process.

Without the support of my family, Hollywood Knights would never have been written. My mother pitched in with laundry and childcare; my sons, Robin and Taran, put up with their mother’s frequent absences and even more frequent absentmindedness, and my husband, Kent Drummond, both picked up much more than his share of household duties and was subjected to long disquisitions on Arthurian film and American political history. I am deeply grateful to them all and promise to make it up in brownies and chocolate chip cookies.