Studies in Economic Transition

General Editors: Jens Hölscher, Reader in Economics, University of Brighton; and Horst Tomann, Professor of Economics, Free University Berlin

This series has been established in response to a growing demand for a greater understanding of the transformation of economic systems. It brings together theoretical and empirical studies on economic transition and economic development. The post-communist transition from planned to market economies is one of the main areas of applied theory because in this field the most dramatic examples of change and economic dynamics can be found. The series aims to contribute to the understanding of specific major economic changes as well as to advance the theory of economic development. The implications of economic policy will be a major point of focus.

Titles include:

Will Bartlett, Sanja Malekovic and Vassilis Monastiriotis (editors)
DECENTRALISATION AND LOCAL DEVELOPMENT IN SOUTH-EAST EUROPE

Tilman Bruk and Hartmut Lehmann (editors)
IN THE GRIP OF TRANSITION
Economic and Social Consequences of Restructuring in Russia and Ukraine

Lucian Cernat
EUROPEANIZATION, VARIETIES OF CAPITALISM AND ECONOMIC PERFORMANCE IN CENTRAL AND EASTERN EUROPE

Bruno Dallago (editor)
TRANSFORMATION AND EUROPEAN INTEGRATION
The Local Dimension

Bruno Dallago and Ichiro Iwasaki (editors)
CORPORATE RESTRUCTURING AND GOVERNANCE IN TRANSITION ECONOMIES

Hella Engerer
PRIVATIZATION AND ITS LIMITS IN CENTRAL AND EASTERN EUROPE
Property Rights in Transition

Saul Estrin, Grzegorz W. Kolodko and Milica Uvalic (editors)
TRANSITION AND BEYOND

Daniela Gabor
CENTRAL BANKING AND FINANCIALIZATION
A Romanian Account of how Eastern Europe became Subprime

Iraj Hoshi, Paul J.J. Welfens and Anna Wziatek-Kubiak (editors)
INDUSTRIAL COMPETITIVENESS AND RESTRUCTURING IN ENLARGED EUROPE
How Accession Countries Catch Up and Integrate in the European Union

Mihaela Keleman and Monika Kostera (editors)
CRITICAL MANAGEMENT RESEARCH IN EASTERN EUROPE
Managing the Transition

David Lane (editor)
THE TRANSFORMATION OF STATE SOCIALISM
System Change, Capitalism, or Something Else?

David Lane and Martin Myant (editors)
VARIETIES OF CAPITALISM IN POST-COMMUNIST COUNTRIES
Jens Lowitzsch
FINANCIAL PARTICIPATION OF EMPLOYEES IN THE EU-27

Sönke Maatsch
CENTRAL AND EAST EUROPEAN MIGRANTS’ CONTRIBUTIONS TO SOCIAL PROTECTION

Milan Nikolić
MONETARY POLICY IN TRANSITION
Inflation Nexus Money Supply in Postcommunist Russia

Julie Pellegrin
THE POLITICAL ECONOMY OF COMPETITIVENESS IN AN ENLARGED EUROPE

Johannes Stephan
THE TECHNOLOGICAL ROLE OF INWARD FOREIGN DIRECT INVESTMENT IN CENTRAL EAST EUROPE

Horst Tomann
MONETARY INTEGRATION IN EUROPE

Vera Trappmann
FALLEN HEROES IN GLOBAL CAPITALISM
Workers and the Restructuring of the Polish Steel Industry

Hans van Zon
RUSSIA’S DEVELOPMENT PROBLEM
The Cult of Power

The full list of titles available is on the website:
www.palgrave.com/economics/set.asp

Studies in Economic Transition
(outside North America only)

You can receive future titles in this series as they are published by placing a standing order. Please contact your bookseller or, in case of difficulty, write to us at the address below with your name and address, the title of the series and the ISBN quoted above.

Customer Services Department, Macmillan Distribution Ltd, Houndmills, Basingstoke, Hampshire RG21 6XS, England
Fallen Heroes in Global Capitalism
Workers and the Restructuring of the Polish Steel Industry

Vera Trappmann
Contents

List of Illustrations vi
Acknowledgements vii

Introduction 1

Part I
1 The Steel Sector in the Global Economy 11
2 The Context of Restructuring in Poland 26
3 Capitalism Unleashed? The EU as a Promoter of Economic Change in the Region 38

Part II
4 The Polish Steel Industry before and during Accession 1990–2006 57
5 The Embeddedness of Steel Restructuring in Social Dialogue 80
6 Labour-market and Regional Policy 108

Part III
7 From Socialist Landmark to Subsidiary: The Case of Huta Lenina 131
8 Limitations of State Support for Sustaining Steel 162

Part IV
9 Fallen Heroes: Steelworkers in the New Capitalist System 179
10 Perspectives for the Community: Revitalising a Region from the Bottom up 210

Conclusion 227

Annex 235
Notes 240
References 254
Index 281
List of Illustrations

Figures

3.1 Misfit model 48
4.1 Production by open-hearth furnaces 60
4.2 Production of crude steel 61
4.3 Employment level beneficiary mills 74
4.4 Ownership structure of iron and steel sector in Poland 2006 76
10.1 Mural painting at Nowa Huta 215

Tables

1.1 Crude steel production 2011 12
1.2 Employment in the EU15 during 1975–2005, in thousands 16
3.1 Europeanisation models 50
4.1 Continuous casting, in percentage of crude steel production 61
4.2 Employment in the sector 1990–1998, in thousands 62
4.3 Planned costs of iron and steel industry restructuring over the period 1998–2005 65
4.4 Employment in the sector during 1980–2001 in thousand persons 66
4.5 Employment reduction during HPS 66
4.6 Imports and exports of steel products in 2005 76
6.1 Overview of entitlements for early and pre-retirement 111
7.1 Employment at Huta Sendzimira during 1990–1998 135
7.2 Costs of Steelmakers Social Package 137
7.3 Employment reduction during HPS 1999–2001 at Huta Sendzimira 138
7.4 Overview of instruments offered by Mittal 2004–2006 147
7.5 Age structure at Kraków plant 154
C.1 Levels and actors studied 227
Acknowledgements

This book is the result of the endeavour and support of many people. I am grateful for the unanticipated degree of generosity and openness of many of the individuals and organizations I had interacted with during this research, especially the workers, the trade unions and the management of Arcelor Mittal Poland. To them I owe my greatest debt of gratitude.

There were also a substantial number of people who helped directly in carrying out this research, by opening doors, offering me a place to stay, translating interviews or by taking care of my dog. I would especially like to thank Jacek Dargiewicz, Agata Dutkowska, Ulf Gerlach, Iwona Karpacz, Kamil Langie, Małgorzata Mamajko, Katharina Nagel, Ewa Ochwiejewicz, Tina Rosner, Grzegorz Szklarczyk, Jessica Trappmann, Maria Weymayr and Kasia Zimmerer. To Barty Begley, I owe a special thank you for the careful and close proofreading of the English, and for comments which often forced me to consider my ideas more clearly.

Various colleagues have read and discussed parts of the book and contributed with valuable feedback to the final shape of the book. Special thanks must go to Katharina Bluhm, Silke vanDyk, Juliusz Gardawski, Aleksandra Janovskaia, Amelie Kutter, Martin Krzywdzinski, Iga Magda, Karin Pieper, Anna Schwarz, Alexandra Schwell, Uli Sedelmeier, Aleksandra Sznajder-Lee, Rafał Towalski, Anne White, Jan Wielgohs and Guglielmo Meardi, who dedicated so much time sharpening my argumentation.

In addition, institutional support was important. The German Stahl-Zentrum and the World Steel Institute as well as the Polish Steel Association provided me with valuable internal sources and statistics. I gratefully acknowledge the financial support of two scholarships from the German Ministry of Education and Science, and from the Association for Polish-German Cooperation as well as the collaborative encouragement of the Europe Fellows Programme at the Institute of Transformation Studies in Frankfurt (Oder). Colleagues at two institutes where I worked during the writing of this book, the Sozialforschungsstelle Dortmund and the Institute of Sociology at Jena also provided me with friendly support in intellectual and institutional terms. Gemma Shields from Palgrave Macmillan has been a very helpful and patient adviser while producing the book.

The book is an extensively revised and updated version of my PhD thesis submitted under the title ‘The multi-level making of transformation: Nowa Huta as a prism for restructuring in the new Europe’ at the European University Viadrina in Frankfurt (Oder) (2009).

Above and beyond all this, doing research and writing books is an outcome of the decision to dedicate a large part of one’s life to the need to understand what is going on ‘out there’. Many people during my life have affected this relationship with the world; some have supported it, others have tolerated it, while some others have forced me to put my own views to the test. I’d like to thank all those friends, family and colleagues who have shaped my thinking and accompanied me in this voyage, in many cases unconsciously.