Great Thinkers in Economics Series

Series Editor: A.P. Thirlwall is Professor of Applied Economics, University of Kent, UK.

Great Thinkers in Economics is designed to illuminate the economics of some of the great historical and contemporary economists by exploring the interactions between their lives and work, and the events surrounding them. The books are brief and written in a style that makes them not only of interest to professional economists, but also intelligible for students of economics and the interested lay person.

Our warmest thanks to our editor, Tony Thirlwall, who read the entire draft and wrote abundant notes that improved the quality of the manuscript. We are also grateful to David Collard, who read a long chapter and offered helpful suggestions. Thanks also to participants of three conferences: the International Workshop on Welfare Economics and the Welfare State, Historical Re-Examination, Sano-Shoin, Hitotsubashi University, Tokyo, in March 2013; the mini-conference on A.C. Pigou, Robinson College, Cambridge University, in November 2013; and the HOPE Conference on Market Failures, Duke University, in April 2014. We are indebted to Professor Ryo Hongo for his generosity in sharing some of Pigou’s work to which we lacked access. In compiling our bibliography of Pigou’s work, we benefited from Professor Hongo’s own bibliography, which he has made available online. Thanks to Philip Noel-Baker and David Gaunt for valuable conversations.

For permission to quote unpublished copyrighted material, we acknowledge the following: Ms Emily Boyle for permission to publish from the papers of C. Ryle Fay; the Syndics of Cambridge University Library for permission to publish from the minutes of meetings of the Faculty Board of Economics and Politics; the Provost and Scholars of King’s College Cambridge for permission to publish from the papers of John Maynard Keynes; the British Library of Political and Economic Science for permission to publish from the papers of Lionel Robbins; the Master and Fellows of Magdalene College for permission to publish from the Arthur Benson diaries; and Mr Philip Noel-Baker for permission to publish from the papers of Baron Philip Noel-Baker. We thank the Cambridge Central Library for permission to reproduce the photograph of Pigou from the Cambridgeshire Collection. Peter Groenewegen, Michael McLure, Doug Munro, Peter Ludlow, and Hugh Gault were generous in helping us locate copyright holders of some private papers.

For archival assistance, we are grateful to the archivists and librarians of Churchill College, King’s College, the Marshall Library of Economics, Magdalene College, and the University Library at Cambridge University; the British Library; Harrow School Archive; the University of Sheffield; and the British Library of Political and Economic Science (LSE). We are especially indebted to archivists at King’s College, Cambridge—Jacky Cox and Patricia McGuire – for their help in deciphering Pigou’s challenging handwriting.

We thank the Journal of the History of Economic Thought for permission to reproduce passages from ‘Keynes as Editor: The Economic Journal, the Keynesian Revolution, and the Pigou Affair, 1936–1938’; Economia – History/Methodology/Philosophy for permission to reproduce sections from ‘On Pigou’s Theory of Economic Policy Analysis’; and History of Political Economy for permission to draw on ‘The British Tariff Reform Controversy and the Genesis of Pigou’s Wealth and Welfare, 1903–1912.’ For editorial assistance, we thank Linda Fette Knox and Christopher Liljestrand. Our special thanks go to Robert S. Berardo for research assistance.

Research on this book was supported by a sabbatical grant, Grants-in-Aid-for Creativity, Jack T. Kvernland Chair, and the Leon Hess Business School Business Council, Monmouth University. We gratefully acknowledge a Franklin Research Grant awarded by the American Philosophical Society and a visiting fellowship at Clare Hall College, Cambridge.
