Acknowledgements

In the process of developing this book, I have accumulated an immense array of personal and intellectual debts to a number of friends and colleagues. The largest debt is to my parents Atika and Ahmad. Without their help and encouragement, this book would never have been written. No words can match the love, support and encouragement of my partner, Dorothea Kappatasch, whom I would like to thank for standing by me.

I would like to express my gratitude to Professor John Redmond for his close interest in the progress of my work. His many suggestions and criticisms were vital for the completion of this project. I also owe an immense debt for the help, encouragement and invaluable insights which I have had from Professors Mathew Watson, Magnus Ryner and Colin Hay. My book has been transformed considerably and this is in no small part due to the enormous influence they had on me.

I would also like to extend my gratitude to Deniz Aksin, Lenin Valencia and Monica Cepak for their help and assistance in the completion of this project.

I would finally like to thank Liz Blackmore Holwell (Palgrave editor) and Andrew Baird for being so understanding and patient with me and Veena N. for editing this book.

I presented portions of the research upon which this book is based at several others including journal articles, book chapters, conferences or presentations:
