

Global Cinema

Series Editors

Katarzyna Marciniak
Department of English
Ohio University
USA

Anikó Imre

University of Southern California
USA

Áine O’Healy

Department of Modern Languages and Literatures
Loyola Marymount University
USA

Global Cinema series publishes innovative scholarship on the transnational themes, industries, economies, and aesthetic elements that increasingly connect cinemas around the world. It promotes theoretically transformative and politically challenging projects that rethink film studies from cross-cultural, comparative perspectives, bringing into focus forms of cinematic production that resist nationalist or hegemonic frameworks.

Rather than aiming at comprehensive geographical coverage, it foregrounds transnational interconnections in the production, distribution, exhibition, study, and teaching of film. Dedicated to global aspects of cinema, this pioneering series combines original perspectives and new methodological paths with accessibility and coverage. Both 'global' and 'cinema' remain open to a range of approaches and interpretations, new and traditional. Books published in the series sustain a specific concern with the medium of cinema but do not defensively protect the boundaries of film studies, recognizing that film exists in a converging media environment. The series emphasizes a historically expanded rather than an exclusively presentist notion of globalization; it is mindful of repositioning 'the global' away from a US-centric/Eurocentric grid, and remains critical of celebratory notions of 'globalizing film studies.'

More information about this series at <http://www.palgrave.com/gp/series/15005>

Deborah Martin

The Child in Contemporary Latin American Cinema

palgrave
macmillan

Deborah Martin
Department of Spanish, Portuguese and Latin American Studies
University College London
London, UK

Global Cinema

ISBN 978-1-137-53060-8

ISBN 978-1-137-52822-3 (eBook)

<https://doi.org/10.1057/978-1-137-52822-3>

Library of Congress Control Number: 2018962974

© The Editor(s) (if applicable) and The Author(s) 2019

This work is subject to copyright. All rights are solely and exclusively licensed by the Publisher, whether the whole or part of the material is concerned, specifically the rights of translation, reprinting, reuse of illustrations, recitation, broadcasting, reproduction on microfilms or in any other physical way, and transmission or information storage and retrieval, electronic adaptation, computer software, or by similar or dissimilar methodology now known or hereafter developed.

The use of general descriptive names, registered names, trademarks, service marks, etc. in this publication does not imply, even in the absence of a specific statement, that such names are exempt from the relevant protective laws and regulations and therefore free for general use.

The publisher, the authors and the editors are safe to assume that the advice and information in this book are believed to be true and accurate at the date of publication. Neither the publisher nor the authors or the editors give a warranty, express or implied, with respect to the material contained herein or for any errors or omissions that may have been made. The publisher remains neutral with regard to jurisdictional claims in published maps and institutional affiliations.

Cover credit: John R. Harris
Cover designed by Tjaša Krivec

This Palgrave Macmillan imprint is published by the registered company Springer Nature America, Inc.

The registered company address is: 1 New York Plaza, New York, NY 10004, U.S.A.

For Patti

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

In its early stages, this project was supported by a generous Arts and Humanities Research Council Fellowship, which enabled travel to various Latin American countries and provided time for writing. I would like to thank Tony Kapcia and Joanna Page for advice and recommendations on carrying out research in Cuba and Argentina respectively, as well as numerous staff members at libraries and film institutes in those countries. I also wish to remember the help of Andrea Noble, sadly no longer with us, in orienting me for research in Mexico City. In Buenos Aires, the staff of the INCAA Library, especially Adrián Muoyo and Octavio Morelli, helped me considerably with reading and viewing suggestions, and their help continued to be invaluable as the project progressed. Marcela Casinelli of the Fundación Cinemateca Argentina made important suggestions and spent time discussing the project with me. In Mexico City, the staff of the Cineteca Nacional Library were extremely helpful, and I am especially grateful to Raúl Miranda for his enthusiasm and viewing suggestions, as well as his ongoing help with contacts and documentation. I am also grateful to the staff at the ICAIC for enabling me to view many films from their archives, and especially to Pablo Pacheco for his kindness and support before and during my stay in Havana, and the invaluable material he made available to me.

The project has benefitted from the support and assistance of a wide network of colleagues and friends in the UK and beyond. For reading my work—from the project's early stages to more polished drafts—I am very grateful to Emilio Bejel, Jordana Blejmar, Jo Evans, Wendy Everett, Geoffrey Kantaris and Karen Lury. I would also like to thank others who have given practical help or encouragement, or discussed aspects with me in ways that have contributed to the book's development, including Amanda Alfaro Córdoba, Maria Carlota Bruno, Constanza Ceresa, Maria Delgado, Charlotte Gleghorn, Catherine Leen, Claire Lindsay, John Harris, Stephen Hart, Lúcia Nagib, Trevor Norris, Deborah Shaw, Cecilia Sosa, Fernanda Tavares and Sarah Wright, as well as to students of my Latin American film classes at UCL, whose responses to the films have informed my own. Many thanks also to the film-makers Lucrecia Martel, Eugenio Polgovsky and Julia Solomonoff for discussing their work with me. Two conferences in particular have shaped the development of this book, and I wish to thank Rachel Randall and Geoffrey Maguire for the opportunity to speak at 'The Figure of the Child in Contemporary Latin American Visual Cultures', in Cambridge, May 2014, as well as for organising that event. Later, the colloquium 'Penser le cinéma au prisme de l'enfance et l'enfance au prisme du cinéma', in Paris, April 2018, provided a wonderful forum in which to discuss ideas; thank you to Bettina Henzler, Perrine Boutin and Emanuel Siety for organising that event and inviting me to present my work. I am also very grateful to the staff at Palgrave Macmillan, especially Shaun Vigil and Glenn Ramirez, for your patience with ever-extending deadlines, and your efficiency and care for the project. Part of Chapter 6 has appeared in Journal of Romance Studies and part of Chapter 7 in The Blackwell Companion to Latin American Cinema. At the former, I thank the anonymous reviewer, and at the latter, the editors, for their advice.

My family and friends make life much sweeter, and books easier to write. Special thanks to my parents, Lyn and Mike Martin, for their love and support. The final stages of writing have been made much easier by the fantastic childcare of Sultana and Sha Ahmed, which has given me the peace of mind I needed to focus. As always, I thank my dear Anna Poppa for her steadfast encouragement, love and belief. And now, wonderful Patti, for sparking off lots of new thoughts about children and childhood.

CONTENTS

1	Introduction	1
2	Child Death in Buenos Aires viceversa , La vendedora de rosas and La mujer sin cabeza	37
3	Children's Journeys: Central Do Brasil , Viva Cuba and Cochochi	71
4	The Childhood of a National Hero: José Martí: el ojo del canario	107
5	The Child in Post-dictatorship Southern Cone Film	133
6	Unruly Bodies: La rabia and El último verano de la boyita	165
7	Transnational Mobility, Authenticity and the Child: Alamar	193
	Bibliography	217
	Index	239

LIST OF FIGURES

Fig. 1.1	Chachita's teary-eyed, uplifted gaze in Nosotros los pobres	12
Fig. 1.2	Pedro throws an egg at the camera in Los olvidados	15
Fig. 1.3	Children run alongside a train, hoping to catch coins, in Tiré dié	17
Fig. 2.1	Shanty town children pose cutely for Daniela's camera in Buenos Aires viceversa	46
Fig. 2.2	Bocha beseeches the security guard not to shoot, in Buenos Aires viceversa	48
Fig. 2.3	Mónica dies in her grandmother's embrace, in La vendedora de rosas	59
Fig. 2.4	Mónica's face in close-up as she dies, in La vendedora de rosas	60
Fig. 2.5	Jaibo's death, in Los olvidados	61
Fig. 3.1	Josué cradles Dora in Central do Brasil	83
Fig. 3.2	Malú and Jorgito cling to each other at the edge of land and sea, in Viva Cuba	96
Fig. 4.1	Niño Pepe, eavesdropping on the adult world, in José Martí: el ojo del canario	112
Fig. 4.2	Niño Pepe spies the slave child, in José Martí: el ojo del canario	114
Fig. 4.3	The slave child looks back at Pepe, in José Martí: el ojo del canario	115
Fig. 5.1	Guillermina speaks to her father on the telephone for the last time, in Cordero de Dios	151
Fig. 5.2	Guillermina and her father's reflection, in Cordero de Dios	152
Fig. 6.1	Nati looks on as the pig's body is washed in La rabia	174
Fig. 6.2	It is difficult to read Nati's voyeuristic gaze as she watches her friend being beaten in La rabia	175

Fig. 6.3	A tactile and mimetic visuality: Luchi presses his hands up against the inside of a car window in La ciénaga	180
Fig. 6.4	Jorgelina and Mario invert gender norms in El último verano de la boyita	185
Fig. 7.1	Natan and Jorge befriend Blanquita in Alamar	201
Fig. 7.2	'Este papelito va a ir a Italia, o a México' ('This little piece of paper will go to Italy or Mexico'): Alamar	202