

Dynamics of Community Formation

Robert W. Compton, Jr. • Ho Hon Leung
Yaser Robles
Editors

Dynamics of Community Formation

Developing Identity and Notions of Home

palgrave
macmillan

Editors

Robert W. Compton, Jr.
College at Oneonta
The State University of New York
Oneonta, New York, USA

Ho Hon Leung
College at Oneonta
The State University of New York
Oneonta, New York, USA

Yaser Robles
Choate Rosemary Hall
Wallingford, Connecticut, USA

ISBN 978-1-137-53358-6      ISBN 978-1-137-53359-3 (eBook)
DOI 10.1057/978-1-137-53359-3

Library of Congress Control Number: 2017953541

© The Editor(s) (if applicable) and The Author(s) 2018

This work is subject to copyright. All rights are solely and exclusively licensed by the Publisher, whether the whole or part of the material is concerned, specifically the rights of translation, reprinting, reuse of illustrations, recitation, broadcasting, reproduction on microfilms or in any other physical way, and transmission or information storage and retrieval, electronic adaptation, computer software, or by similar or dissimilar methodology now known or hereafter developed.

The use of general descriptive names, registered names, trademarks, service marks, etc. in this publication does not imply, even in the absence of a specific statement, that such names are exempt from the relevant protective laws and regulations and therefore free for general use.

The publisher, the authors and the editors are safe to assume that the advice and information in this book are believed to be true and accurate at the date of publication. Neither the publisher nor the authors or the editors give a warranty, express or implied, with respect to the material contained herein or for any errors or omissions that may have been made. The publisher remains neutral with regard to jurisdictional claims in published maps and institutional affiliations.

Cover illustration: © Jorg Greuel / GettyImages
Cover design by Henry Petrides

Printed on acid-free paper

This Palgrave Macmillan imprint is published by Springer Nature
The registered company is Nature America Inc.
The registered company address is: 1 New York Plaza, New York, NY 10004, U.S.A.

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This edited volume is a result of papers presented at Urban Space and Social Life: Theory and Practice annual conferences from 2010 to 2016. Each conference seeks to provide a platform for stimulating inter- and multi-disciplinary approach to the understanding and improvement of our everyday urban space and social life. While the past conferences featured different themes such as identities, life course, heritage preservation, issues in natural and built environments and so on, one common theme kept emerging: the notion of home. This should not be surprising. The notion of home intersects all experiences we have in different political, economic, social, cultural, and natural settings and across place and time. Home is dear to everyone. 4C5M Studio, the organizer of the conference, decided to publish an edited volume based on the theme of home. We solicited relevant papers and invited some others to expand the scope of the book. The collected papers reflect a good example of inter- and multi-disciplinary approaches for exploring this contentious and timely topic with cases spanning different parts of the world.

The Urban Space and Social Life: Theory and Practice conference organizer would like to take this opportunity to thank many friends, colleagues, and students who made the conferences possible. In particular, without the continuous support from World Heritage Institute of Training and Research for Asia and the Pacific Region (WHITRAP), under the auspices of UNESCO, the conferences could never have materialized.

Finally, thanks also go to the editorial assistants at Palgrave Macmillan. Their professional advice and support made the process of editing smooth and straightforward. Leanna Fong's efforts in proofreading and formatting were indispensable in the project's success. Her patience and professional services are greatly appreciated. Any mistakes in the book are the responsibilities of the editors.

CONTENTS

Part I Home and Community Building	1
1 Introduction: Home, Community and Identity Ho Hon Leung	3
2 The Homemaking Trajectories and Challenges of Chinese Immigrants in Canada Ho Hon Leung	13
3 Latino Experience in the Barrios of the South Bronx, New York City: The Other Side of the American Dream Yaser Robles	35
4 Cultural Memory in Mainland Immigrants’ Settlement of Taiwan: A Case Study of Zuoying Naval Veterans’ Villages Danzhou Li	57
Part II Preservation, Reconstruction, and Development	79
5 Homes in Transition: Youths’ Experiences in Singapore’s Rental Housing Derek Goh and T.C. Chang	81

6	Lessons from Post-Disaster Home Reconstruction: Dujiangyan City, China	99
	XiaoHua Zhong and HuaiYun Kou
7	The Narrative Construction of Fang-Nu (房奴): An Urban Identity in Post-Modern China	119
	Shiao-Yun Chiang
8	Challenges of Heritage Development Projects in Macau and Penang: Preservation and Anti-Preservation	135
	Peter Zabielskis
Part III	Collaboration, Belonging, and National Identity	159
9	Constructing Home and Family in Accra	161
	Kathleen O'Mara
10	Home Formation and the Use of Violence in Zimbabwe	187
	Robert W. Compton Jr.
11	Building Consensus? Russian Nationalism as Social Cohesion and Division	211
	Nataliia Kasianenko and Robert Ostergard Jr.
Part IV	Epilogue	235
12	Transforming Catacombs and the City of Paris: The Spatial Relationship Between the Home for the Living and the Dead	237
	Raymond Lau, Mariela Bellido, Alexandra Reichert, and Ellen Y.C. Leung
Index		249

NOTES ON THE CONTRIBUTORS

Mariela Bellido is a full-time student in her senior year of college at SUNY Oneonta. She completed her Bachelor Degree of Science in Sociology with a concentration in Pre-Professional Services. Under the guidance of Professor Ho Hon Leung, she assisted in the 4C5M Studio's Conference in Hainan, China over the summer of 2016. Her research includes the life of the elderly in upstate New York and, and is studying the homes of the living and the dead from the perspective of architectural sociology.

T.C. Chang is an Associate Professor at the Department of Geography, National University of Singapore. He is the co-editor of Interconnected Worlds: Tourism in Southeast Asia (Pergamon) and Asia On Tour: Exploring the Rise of Asian Tourism (Routledge). His research interests include Asian tourism, urban development, arts, culture and creativity.

Shiao-Yun Chiang is a professor of communication studies at SUNY Oneonta, New York. His primary research interests include international/intercultural education, migration, and communication. He has published in many prestigious academic journals, including Journal of Pragmatics, Discourse & Society, Intercultural Pragmatics, Journal of Multilingual & Multicultural Development, Language & Education, English Today, Intercultural Education, Journal of Language, Identity & Education, Discourse & Communication, Critical Discourse Studies, Language Awareness, Journal of International Migration and Integration, and so forth.

Robert W. Compton Jr is Professor of Africana and Latino Studies and Political Science at SUNY, College at Oneonta. His research interests include political development and international political economy of Southern Africa and East Asia. A Fulbright Scholar to Zimbabwe (2008), he has published in numerous journals, including Regions and Cohesion; Praxis: A Gender and Cultural Critique; Journal of African Policy Studies; the International Journal on World Peace; Africa Today; Perspectives on Politics; and Africa Today. He is an editor of and contributor to Imaging Globalization (Palgrave Macmillan: 2009) and Transforming East Asian Domestic and International Politics (Ashgate: 2002) and author of East Asian Democratization (Praeger: 2000). He was also a political development consultant with the Center for International Development (CID), SUNY on projects including Zimbabwe and Uganda.

Derek Gob is an educator in the social sciences, and is currently based in Singapore. Broadly, he has research interests in educational policy, youth geographies and urban theory.

Nataliia Kasianenko is a doctoral candidate in the Political Science department at the University of Nevada, Reno. Her research focuses on Comparative Politics and International Relations, with an emphasis on nationalism, ethnic politics and human rights in the countries of Eastern Europe and the former Soviet Union.

Huaiyun Kou is an Associate Researcher at Tongji University and a Certified Urban Planner of China. Her research focuses on urban and rural historic preservation, in particular with community participation. She has been involved in some important projects in China such as the World Bank loan Guizhou Province cultural and natural heritage protection and development project and the post-earthquake reconstruction of Wenchuan, Sichuan Province. The former one has gained the 2016 UNESCO Asia-Pacific Awards (Honourable Mention) for Cultural Heritage Conservation Program, and the latter won the National Award of Outstanding Urban and Rural Planning and Design (2016). She received a research grant from the National Natural Science Foundation of China (NSFC) in 2016.

Raymond Lau graduated from McGill University, Canada and Architectural Association (AA), UK. Raymond is a chartered architect of Royal Institute of British Architects. He is the founder and chief architect of GAP Architects and the co-founder of 4C5M Studio. Worked with several renowned firms including Studio Fuksus and Zaha Hadid Architects, taught in AA in London, Tsinghua University in Beijing, and Hong Kong University, his working and teaching experiences in the diverse living environments and cultures, education and professional lineage have been shaping Raymond's unique insights of the complex and interwoven relationships between eastern and western cultures, in both architectural and sociological realms.

Ellen Y.C. Leung graduated from Victoria Park Collegiate Institute and is the recipient of an International Baccalaureate diploma. She is currently an undergraduate student at Ryerson University pursuing her Bachelors Degree of Science in Nursing. After taking French courses throughout her academic career, she is also pursuing a minor in French.

Ho Hon Leung is Professor of Sociology at SUNY, College at Oneonta. Leung is the chair for the Center for Social Science Research at his college. He is also a co-founder of 4C5M Studio, an independent research center that is devoted to research and practice the understanding and improvement of urban space and social life. His research interests include ethnic relations, immigration, urban studies, architectural sociology and comparative aging. His most recent work is focused on a cross-cultural comparative project that examines cultural heritage values of local time-honored restaurants that can stand test of time. He is the led-editor of and contributor to Imaging Globalization: Language, Identities, and Boundaries (Palgrave Macmillan: 2009). His recent chapter, Chinese-Canadian Symbolic and Cultural Mobilities and Transnational Practices in the Pacific Mall, appears in Trans-Pacific Mobilities: The Chinese and Canada (UBC Press, March 2017).

Danzhou Li is an assistant professor at the Institute of Urban Governance, Shenzhen University, China. With a PhD's degree in Cultural Studies, her theoretical interests revolve around Urban Culture, Visual Anthropology, and Cultural Heritage Preservation, and thus her work focuses on place-making and heritage-making at the boundary of these categories.

Kathleen O'Mara, a historian of Africa whose work focuses on West and North Africa, is Professor of History and Africana & Latinx Studies at SUNY Oneonta. In addition to research on the economies and culture of urban Africa, she has published on sexualities and genders in Africa and the United States and about neoliberal managerialism in higher education, for example, "Making Community and Claiming Sexual Citizenship in Contemporary Ghana," in Sexual Diversity in Africa: Politics, Theory, and

Citizenship (McGill-Queens University Press, 2013) edited by S.N. Nyeck and Marc Epprecht, and “Kodjo Besia, Supi, Yags and Eagles: Being Tactic Subjects in Ghana,” in Women, Gender and Sexualities in Africa (North Carolina Academic press, 2013) edited by Toyin Falola and Nana Akua Amponsah, and “Diversity, Queers and Minoritized Groups in the Neoliberal Academy: discourse matters,” co-authored with Liz Morrish, Journal of Homosexuality, Vol. 58 (Summer, 2011).

Robert Ostergard Jr is Associate Professor and Director of Graduate Studies in the University of Nevada, Reno’s Department of Political Science and affiliated faculty in the Gender, Race, and Identity Program (GRI). His research focus has been on HIV/AIDS, civil-military relations, and political economy in Africa. He has authored over 30 articles and five books, and has been active as a consultant for agencies and organizations including the Rand Corp., the Canadian Ministry of Defense, the United States Department of Defense and the World Economic Forum.

Alexandra Reichert is a student in her senior year at SUNY, College at Oneonta. She is pursuing a Bachelor Degree of Science in Geography.

Yaser Robles is a faculty member in the History, Philosophy, Religion and Social Sciences department (HPRSS) at Choate Rosemary Hall. He previously taught at SUNY-University at Albany, CUNY- Bronx Community College and SUNY-College at Oneonta. His research interests include Colonial Latin America, Latin American and Caribbean Diasporas to the United States, and Afro-Latin American Cultures. His interest in interdisciplinary work has led him to work in a number of countries including Brazil, Cuba, Peru, Mexico, South Africa, Israel, and Honduras. He has additionally been involved with organizations such as The United Nations, SPIRA of New York Inc., and the Bronx Borough Board of Elections of the City of New York. His work has enabled him to teach and develop curriculums, perform research and scholarly activities, serve as a community liaison, produce education performance reports, administer large budgets, and made public presentations.

Peter Zabielskis is Associate Professor of Anthropology at the University of Macau. A Fulbright scholar to Malaysia, he has taught at New York University and the Cooper Union for the Advancement of Science and has published numerous articles on urbanism, heritage preservation, religion, the environment, public space, and the development of civil society in mainland China, Macau, and Malaysia, where he has conducted extensive field research.

Xiaobua Zhong is Assistant Professor of Sociology at Tongji University and a consultant on a number of local social enterprises contributing to urban heritage conservation and sustainable development in Shanghai. Her research focuses on urban regeneration, community governance, heritage conservation, creative industry cluster, etc. She has recently published a book on “How Tianzifang became Possible” (Fudan University Press, 2016). She is currently conducting research projects on neighborhood social planning and community commerce.

LIST OF FIGURES

Fig. 2.1	The dynamics of development of ethnic polity	16
Fig. 6.1	Map with locations of the cases for reconstruction and rebuilding	104
Fig. 7.1	Estimated monthly income	123