ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

This book is the result of my career as a scholar of comparative literature. I would like to thank the colleagues with whom I discussed general and particular details of this book in conferences at the Committee on Literary Theory, ICLA, AAS, ACLA, and AAIS, as well as in talks at the University of Connecticut and the University of Pennsylvania, and in particular Lino Pertile, Sowon Park, Takayuki Yokota-Murakami, and Paul Oldfield. It goes without saying that any errors of fact or judgment and infelicities of style remain entirely my own. I am grateful to Busan University of Foreign Studies, Harvard University, the University of Pennsylvania, and Korea University (ICKS) for providing me with positions and opportunities for concentrating on this work. I also express my appreciation to all the staff at Palgrave Macmillan involved in this book. I especially thank my family for their help and encouragement.

Certain parts of this book have been published previously, as follows: Chap. 1 in Arcadia 43 (2008); Chap. 2 in the book Other Modernisms in an Age of Globalization (Heidelberg: Carl Winter. 2002); Chap. 3 in Korea Journal 48:1 (2008); Chap. 4 in Acta Koreana 15:2 (2012); and Chap. 5 in Journal of Global Initiatives 5:2 (2010). I am grateful to the editors for their generous permission to republish the aforementioned parts.
