

Palgrave Studies in European Political Sociology

Series Editors

Carlo Ruzza

Department of Sociology and Social Research
University of Trento
Trento, Italy

Hans-Jörg Trezz

Department of Media, Cognition & Communication
University of Copenhagen
Copenhagen, Denmark

Palgrave Studies in European Political Sociology addresses contemporary themes in the field of Political Sociology. Over recent years, attention has turned increasingly to processes of Europeanization and globalization and the social and political spaces that are opened by them. These processes comprise both institutional-constitutional change and new dynamics of social transnationalism. Europeanization and globalization are also about changing power relations as they affect people's lives, social networks and forms of mobility. The Palgrave Studies in European Political Sociology series addresses linkages between regulation, institution building and the full range of societal repercussions at local, regional, national, European and global level, and will sharpen understanding of changing patterns of attitudes and behaviours of individuals and groups, the political use of new rights and opportunities by citizens, new conflict lines and coalitions, societal interactions and networking, and shifting loyalties and solidarity within and across the European space. We welcome proposals from across the spectrum of Political Sociology including on dimensions of citizenship; political attitudes and values; political communication and public spheres; states, communities, governance structure and political institutions; forms of political participation; populism and the radical right; and democracy and democratization.

More information about this series at <http://www.springer.com/series/14630>

Manuela Caiani • Simona Guerra
Editors

Euroscepticism, Democracy and the Media

Communicating Europe, Contesting Europe

palgrave
macmillan

Editors

Manuela Caiani
Scuola Normale Superiore
Firenze, Italy

Simona Guerra
University of Leicester
Leicester, United Kingdom

Palgrave Studies in European Political Sociology

ISBN 978-1-137-59642-0

ISBN 978-1-137-59643-7 (eBook)

DOI 10.1057/978-1-137-59643-7

Library of Congress Control Number: 2016958218

© The Editor(s) (if applicable) and The Author(s) 2017

The author(s) has/have asserted their right(s) to be identified as the author(s) of this work in accordance with the Copyright, Designs and Patents Act 1988.

This work is subject to copyright. All rights are solely and exclusively licensed by the Publisher, whether the whole or part of the material is concerned, specifically the rights of translation, reprinting, reuse of illustrations, recitation, broadcasting, reproduction on microfilms or in any other physical way, and transmission or information storage and retrieval, electronic adaptation, computer software, or by similar or dissimilar methodology now known or hereafter developed.

The use of general descriptive names, registered names, trademarks, service marks, etc. in this publication does not imply, even in the absence of a specific statement, that such names are exempt from the relevant protective laws and regulations and therefore free for general use.

The publisher, the authors and the editors are safe to assume that the advice and information in this book are believed to be true and accurate at the date of publication. Neither the publisher nor the authors or the editors give a warranty, express or implied, with respect to the material contained herein or for any errors or omissions that may have been made. The publisher remains neutral with regard to jurisdictional claims in published maps and institutional affiliations.

Cover image © Mikhail Tolstoy / Alamy Stock Photo

Printed on acid-free paper

This Palgrave Macmillan imprint is published by Springer Nature

The registered company is Macmillan Publishers Ltd.

The registered company address is The Campus, 4 Crinan Street, London, N1 9XW, United Kingdom

Contents

Communicating Europe, Contesting Europe: An Introduction	1
Manuela Caiani and Simona Guerra
Eurosceptic Voices: Beyond Party Systems, Across Civil Society	21
Simona Guerra
The Spiral of Euroscepticism: Media Negativity, Framing and Opposition to the EU	49
Charlotte Galpin and Hans-Jörg Trenz
EU Media Coverage in Times of Crisis: Euroscepticism Becoming Mainstream?	73
Patrick Bijsmans
Does the Information Source Matter? Newspaper Readership, Political Preferences and Attitudes Towards the EU in the UK, France and the Netherlands	95
Benjamin Leruth, Yordan Kutiyski, André Krouwel, and Nicholas J. Startin

How the Media Make European Citizens More Eurosceptical Nicolò Conti and Vincenzo Memoli	121
Comparing News Diets, Electoral Choices and EU Attitudes in Germany, Italy and the UK in the 2014 European Parliament Election Lorenzo Mosca and Mario Quaranta	141
‘Not in My Europe’: Extreme Right Online Networks and Their Contestation of EU Legitimacy Elena Pavan and Manuela Caiani	169
Divided They Tweet? A Comparative Analysis of Twitter Networks of Pro- and Anti-EU Parties Annett Heft, Sophia Wittwer, and Barbara Pfetsch	195
Left’s Love and Hate for Europe: Syriza, Podemos and Critical Visions of Europe During the Crisis Donatella della Porta, Hara Kouki, and Joseba Fernández	219
EU u-Government: A Solution for More Citizen Participation in EU Policy-Making Evangelos Fanoulis and Anasol Peña-Rios	241
Europe Facing New Challenges of Contestation and Communication: Conclusion Simona Guerra and Manuela Caiani	263
Index	273

Notes on the Contributors

Patrick Bijsmans is Assistant Professor of European Studies in the Department of Political Science, Maastricht University. His research interests include the European public sphere, media coverage of EU affairs, Euroscepticism, EU information and communication policies and EU transparency, and EU democracy, and also issues related to study choice of prospective students and retention and completion rates.

Manuela Caiani is Associate Professor at the Institute for Humanities and Social Sciences at the Scuola Normale Superiore (SNS) of Florence. Her research interests focus on Europeanization of civil society actors, social movements and political mobilization, social capital and public sphere, right-wing extremism in Europe and the USA, political violence and terrorism. She published in, among others, the following journals: Mobilization, Acta Politica, European Union Politics, South European Society and Politics and RISP and for the following publishers: Oxford University Press, Ashgate, and Palgrave. Among her very recent publications are: Mobilizing on the Extreme Right (with D. della Porta and C. Wagemann, 2012); European and American Extreme Right Groups and the Internet (with L. Parenti, 2013) and Varieties of Populism: Insights from the Italian Case (with P. Graziano, 2016).

Nicolò Conti is Associate Professor of Political Science at the Unitelma Sapienza University of Rome. His main research focus is on parties, elites, public opinion and the EU. He has published articles in journals such as West European Politics, Acta Politica, International Political Science Review, South European

Society and Politics, European Political Science, Perspectives on European Politics and Society, Contemporary Italian Politics, and Italian Political Science Review. He has recently edited The Challenge of Coalition Government: The Italian Case (with F. Marangoni, 2015) and Party Attitudes towards the EU in the Member States. Parties for Europe, Parties against Europe (2014).

Donatella Della Porta is Professor of Political Science and dean of the Institute for Humanities and the Social Sciences at the Scuola Normale Superiore in Florence, where she directs the Center on Social Movement Studies (Cosmos). She directs a major ERC project named Mobilizing for Democracy, on civil society participation in democratization processes in Europe, the Middle East, Asia and Latin America. In 2011, she was the recipient of the Mattei Dogan Prize for distinguished achievements in the field of political sociology and PhD honoris causa from the universities of Lausanne, Bucharest and Goteborg. Among her very recent publications are Social Movements in Times of Austerity (2014); Methodological Practices in Social Movement Research (2014); Can Democracy Be Saved? (2013); Clandestine Political Violence (2013); Mobilizing on the Extreme Right (with M. Caiani and C. Wagemann, 2012); Meeting Democracy (ed. With D. Rucht, 2012).

Evangelos Fanoulis is a Post-doctoral Research Fellow at the Centre for Security Studies (C4SS), Metropolitan University Prague. He was previously Lecturer in Politics at the University of Leicester and a fellow at the University of Essex. He has published on European Security and has contributed with book chapters in four edited volumes. His main research interests lie within EU democracy, theory of agonistic democracy, European security governance, civil, non-traditional and human security.

Joseba Fernández is a Research Associate at Cosmos. He is involved in a research project on Podemos as a new case of party movement. He is also a member of Cosmos (University Pompeu Fabra). His main academic interests are focused on social movements and democracy. He holds a PhD from the University of the Basque Country with a dissertation on the Spanish Student Movement against the Bologna Process. He has also been working in different researches on political participation, environmental policies, social movements, youth and democratic legacy.

Charlotte Galpin is a Post-doctoral Researcher in the Department of Media, Cognition and Communication at the University of Copenhagen where she is working on Euroscepticism and the media. She holds a PhD in Political Science and International Studies from the University of Birmingham and previously taught German and European politics and society at the University of Bath. Her research interests lie in European identities and solidarity, Euroscepticism and the European public sphere, EU democracy, the construction and contestation of crisis, and German politics. She has previously been a visiting researcher at the Free University Berlin and the University of Wrocław, Poland. Her monograph The Euro Crisis and European Identities: Political and Media Discourse in Germany, Ireland and Poland (Palgrave Macmillan) is forthcoming. She has also recently published an article entitled 'Has Germany Fallen Out of Love With Europe? The Euro Crisis and the "Normalization" of Germany's European Identity' in the journal German Politics and Society and is a regular contributor to the Journal of Common Market Studies Annual Review of the European Union.

Simona Guerra is Associate Professor in Politics in the School of History, Politics & International Relations at the University of Leicester. Her main research interests focus on the domestic politics of EU integration, Euroscepticism and populism, and religion and politics. Her recent publications include her first monograph Central and Eastern European Attitudes towards the EU (Palgrave) and comparative analyses of attitudes towards the EU in refereed journals and edited books. She has submitted a co-edited book, with Simon Usherwood and Nick Startin, Euroscepticism in the EU: New Dimensions in Opposition to European Integration, and is working on her second monograph on Religion and Euroscepticism in Post-Communist Europe.

Annett Heft is a Research Associate at the Institute for Media and Communication Studies, Freie Universität Berlin, Germany. Her research interests are comparative study of political communication in Europe, transnational communication and the European public sphere, media use and media effects in the context of migration and integration, and quantitative research methods. She holds a doctorate in Communication Science from Freie Universität Berlin and studied communication science, sociology and cultural communication at the Universities of Berlin and Valencia.

Hara Kouki is a Junior Research Fellow at Durham University and a member of Cosmos. Trained as a historian in Athens and holding an MA in Film and History from the University of Kent and an MRes in History and Civilization from the EUI, Hara received her PhD from the Law Department of Birkbeck College, University of London. She has been a Research Associate at the EUI (Robert Schuman Centre for Advanced Studies), in Florence, Italy. Among other publications, Hara has co-edited Protest beyond Borders: Contentious Politics in Europe since 1945 (2011), The Greek Crisis and European Modernity (Palgrave, 2013) and has participated in several research projects ranging from political and protest culture to European identities and migration.

André Krouwel teaches comparative political science and communication science at the Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam and is Academic Director of Kieskompas (Election Compass). Krouwel's research focuses on political parties and elections. He has published articles and book chapters on parliamentary and presidential elections, voting behaviour, political parties, party competition, populism and Euroscepticism.

Yordan Kutiyski is an M.Sc. graduate of Political Science from the VU University Amsterdam and holds an MA in Latin American studies from the Centre of Latin American Research and Documentation (CEDLA) at the University of Amsterdam. His research interests include electoral behaviour, European and Latin American politics.

Benjamin Leruth is a Research Associate at the School of Social Policy, Sociology and Social Research (SSPSSR) at the University of Kent. He holds a PhD in Politics from the University of Edinburgh and an LLM in European Law from the University of Kent. His research focuses on differentiated integration in the European Union, Euroscepticism and public attitudes towards the future of the welfare state in Europe. He recently co-edited a Journal of European Public Policy special issue on differentiated integration (published as a book by 2015) and a volume on transnational and pan-European Euroscepticism (forthcoming).

Vincenzo Memoli is Assistant Professor of Political Science at the University of Catania. His main research interests are in the fields of democracy, media, public opinion and political behaviour. He is the author of Why Policy Representation Matters: The Consequences of Ideological Congruence between Citizens and Their Governments (with L. Curini and W. Joe, 2015). His works have appeared in journals such as the British Journal of Political Science, Governance, West European Politics, Democratization, Acta Politica, The International Journal of Press/Politics, International Political Science Review, and Italian Political Science Review.

Lorenzo Mosca is an Associate Professor at the Institute for Humanities and Social Sciences at the SNS and a fellow of Cosmos. His research interests are focused on political communication, online politics, political participation and social movements. On these topics he has been involved in several national and European research projects such as Europub.Com—The Transformation of Political Mobilisation and Communication in European Public Spheres, Demos—Democracy in Europe and the Mobilization of Society, Younex—Youth, Unemployment, and Exclusion in Europe. He coordinates a research unit in the project Comparing Social Media and Political Participation across the EU. He has authored several articles, book chapters and books on the research topics of his interest.

Elena Pavan is an Assistant Professor at the Institute for Humanities and Social Sciences at the SNS and a fellow of Cosmos. She developed her expertise in the study and the use of online and offline network analysis in various fields of research—from supra national governance processes to human rights and human-computer interactions—and in conjunction with other analytical techniques, such as lexicon-content analysis, digital research methods, big and digital data analysis. Her most recent research interests pertain to the relationships between collective action/political participation and digital media. She publishes in and serves as a reviewer for top-ranked national and international journals.

Anasol Peña-Rios is a Post-doctoral Researcher within the School of Computer Science and Electronic Engineering at the University of Essex, UK. Her research interest focuses on the different interactions within mixed reality distributed environments and its applications, having published various papers on the topic. She is a board member of the Immersive Learning Research Network, an associate editor for MERLOT's Computer Science Task Force and a member of IEEE, ACM, BCS and ALT.

Barbara Pfetsch is Professor of Communication Theory and Media Effects at Freie Universität Berlin, Germany. Her research interests focus on comparative analyses of political communication and the mediated public sphere. She has published several books, including Political Communication Cultures in Europe. Attitudes of Political Actors and Journalists in Nine Countries (Palgrave Macmillan, 2014) and Comparing Political Communication (2004), and numerous articles and book chapters.

Mario Quaranta is a Post-doctoral Fellow at the Institute for Humanities and Social Sciences at the SNS, Florence. His research interests lie in political behaviour, public opinion and democracy. His most recent articles appeared in Acta Politica; Current Sociology; Electoral Studies; Information, Communication & Society; Nonprofit and Voluntary Sector Quarterly and Social Indicators Research.

He has also published a book entitled Political Protest in Western Europe. Exploring the Role of Context in Political Action (Springer, 2015).

Nicholas Startin is Senior Lecturer in French and European Politics and Deputy Head of Department in the Department of Politics, Languages and International Studies (PoLIS) at the University of Bath. He has a doctoral thesis in Politics from Brunel University, an MPhil in French Studies from Birmingham University and a PGCE in Languages from the University of Warwick. His main areas of research are the impact of Euroscepticism on nation-states at the level of parties, public opinion and media; the rise of the Far Right in Contemporary Europe; French elections and political parties.

Hans-Jörg Trenz is a Professor in the Department of Media, Cognition and Communication at the University of Copenhagen, and an adjunct professor at ARENA, Centre for European Studies at the University of Oslo. His main research interests are in the areas of media, communication and public sphere, civil society, European civilization and identity, political sociology and democracy. His most recent publications include Narrating European Society. Toward a Sociology of European Integration (2016), The Internet and European Integration. Pro- and Anti-EU Debates in Online News Media (together with A. Michailidou and P. de Wilde, 2014), Rethinking the Public Sphere through Transnationalizing Processes: Europe and Beyond (edited together with Armando Salvatore and Oliver Schmidtke, Palgrave Macmillan, 2013), The Politicization of Europe (together with P. Statham, 2012).

Sophia Wittwer has finished her studies in media and communication science at Freie Universität Berlin, Germany in February 2016. In her research, she focused on political communication, online media and research methods. In the presented project, she continues research ideas developed within her BA thesis. Since October 2015, she is studying to become a secondary school teacher at the Goethe-University Frankfurt/Main.

List of Abbreviations

AfD	Alternative für Deutschland , Alternative for Germany
BNP	British National Party
CAWI	Computer Assisted Web Interviewing
CDA	Christen-Demokratisch Appèl , Christian Democratic Appeal
CSO	Civil Society Organisations
C2G	Citizens to Government
CU	Christen Unie , Christian Union
DG	Directorate-General
DIGIT	EU Commission's Directorate-General for Informatics
EC	European Commission
ECT	European Constitutional Treaty
EES	European Election Study
EFDD	Europe of Freedom and Direct Democracy
eID	(unified) Electronic identification
EMU	Economic and Monetary Union
EP	European Parliament
ER	Extreme Right
ERC	European Conservatives and Reformists
EU	European Union
F	France

FN	Front National , National Front
FPÖ	Freiheitliche Partei Österreich , Freedom Party of Austria
GER	Germany
G2C	Government to Citizens
G2G	Government to Government
GUE/NGL	European United Left/Nordic Green Left
HCI	Human-Computer Interactions
ICT	Information and Communication Technologies
KCL	King's College London
LP	British Labour Party
LPF	Lijst Pim Fortuyn , Pim Fortuyn List
MEP	Member of the European Parliament
M5S	MoVimento 5 Stelle , Five Star Movement
NP	Nowa Prawica , New Right
NPD	Nationaldemocratic Party of Germany , National Democratic Party of Germany
PL	Poland
PP	Partido Popular, People's Party
PRRPs	Populist Radical Right Parties
PS	Parti Socialiste , Socialist Party
PSOE	Partido Socialista Obrero Español, Spanish Socialist Workers' Party
PvdA	Partij van de Arbeid , Labour Party
PvdD	Partij voor de Dieren , Party for the Animals
PVV	Partijvoor de Vrijheid , Party for Freedom
RFID	Radio Frequency Identification
SGP	Staatkundig Gereformeerde Partij , Reformed Political Party
SLD	Sojusz Lewicy Demokratycznej , Democratic Left Alliance
SPD	Sozialdemokratische Partei Deutschlands , Social Democratic Party of Germany
TTIP	Transatlantic Trade and Investment Partnership
UK	United Kingdom
UKIP	United Kingdom Independence Party

UMP	Union pour un Mouvement Populaire , Union for a Popular Movement
UN	United Nations
US/USA	United States/United States of America
VVD	Volkspartij voor Vrijheid en Democratie , People's Party for Freedom and Democracy

List of Figures

Fig. 1	Britain and benefits from EU membership (1983–2011) ( Data: Eurobarometer)	35
Fig. 1	British attitudes towards the EU per newspaper readership	109
Fig. 2	French attitudes towards the EU per newspaper	112
Fig. 3	Dutch attitudes towards the EU per newspaper	115
Fig. 1	Citizens' perceptions about EU membership (mean of all EU member states)	123
Fig. 2	Average marginal effects of National political information on representation as European political information varies (with 90 per cent CIs)	132
Fig. 3	Average marginal effects of use of internet on representation as use of online social networks varies (with 90 per cent CIs)	133
Fig. 1	Attitudes towards EU membership, satisfaction with EU democracy, trust in the EP and Commission, in Germany, Italy, the UK, the EU 15, from 1990 to 2013 ( Note: percentage of respondents who say that membership is a 'good thing'; who are 'very' satisfied or 'fairly' satisfied with democracy in the EU; who 'tend to trust' the European Parliament and Commission)	145
Fig. 2	Differences between satisfaction with EU democracy and country democracy, and between trust in the EP and national parliament, in Germany, Italy, the UK, the EU 15, from 1990 to 2013	147

xviii      List of Figures

Fig. 1	Anti-EU frames in the six online networks	181
Fig. 2	Pro-EU frames in the six online networks	181
Fig. 1	Interaction networks within and across Europhile and Eurosceptic parties, all interactions	209
Fig. 2	Interaction networks of German, British, French, and Polish Europhile and Eurosceptic parties, all interactions	212
Fig. 1	Proposed process flow	250
Fig. 2	Conceptual model	255

List of Tables

Table 1	Constructed weeks	79
Table 2	Possible positions on European integration and EU policies	80
Table 3	Positions on European integration and EU policies (2009)	82
Table 4	Positions on European integration and EU policies (2014)	86
Table 1	Expert survey on British, French and Dutch newspapers	101
Table 2	UK Newspaper readership per vote choice in the 2014 European elections (in percentage)	107
Table 3	French newspaper readership per vote choice in the 2014 European elections (in percentage)	110
Table 4	Dutch newspaper readership per vote choice in the 2014 European elections (in percentage)	114
Table 1	Factor analysis of citizens' responses	127
Table 2	Linear regression with the representation index as dependent variable (only statistically significant coefficients shown)	130
Table 1	Ordinal logistic regressions predicting confidence in the EU in Germany, Italy and the UK	157
Table 2	Logistic regressions predicting voter abstention in Germany, Italy and the UK	158
Table 3	Logistic regressions predicting vote for Eurosceptic parties in Germany, Italy and the UK	159
Table 1	Composition of the ER online communities, by type of organization	176

xx List of Tables

Table 2	Measures of cohesion of the European (online) right-wing networks	177
Table A.1	Indegree of ER websites in the six countries	186
Table 1	Study design	205
Table 2	Total interactions compiled per party and proportion of interactions between networks (shared sources and targets)	208
Table 3	Party networks and ideological position of connected actors (%)	210
Table 4	Party networks and scope of connected actors (%)	213