Many people have contributed to the development of Breakthrough Business French. I am indebted to members of the French business community who gave their time to be interviewed and to participate in the various dialogues. Steve Burrough and Didier Riccard organized many of the recordings in Normandy, and the technical operations were directed by Gerald Ramshaw. Mohammed Saad was invaluable in advising on the business scene in France and on the appropriateness of business terminology, and Sue Jones helped in the compilation of the material. Colleagues at Macmillan, particularly Jane Wightwick and John Winckler, were constantly on hand with support and advice. The scrappy handwritten drafts could never have been understood without the expert help of Zamy Alibhai, who transformed the original material into professionally presented and comprehensible texts.

To all of the above I am extremely grateful. Without their invaluable help the course would never have seen the light of day.

The authors and publishers wish to thank the following for permission to use copyright material: Banque de France, France Telecom, Hertz France S.A., P&O Ferries Ltd, and SNCF for advertising material, and The New York Times Syndication Sales for a table from the 29 May 1987 edition of L'Express.

Every effort has been made to trace all the copyright holders, but if any have been inadvertently overlooked the publishers will be pleased to make the necessary arrangement at the first opportunity.
