Preface

The chapters in this volume are the fruits of a major multinational programme coordinated from the University of Nottingham. The programme was funded under the European Union's Stimulation Plan for Economic Science (SPES). SPES was created to encourage collaboration between researchers across the EU. SPES support on this particular initiative brought together researchers from eight of the Member States in a comparative analysis of intra-industry trade in Europe. As this volume and a related series of journal articles testify, that collaboration proved to be very successful. Moreover, it has also proved to be durable in that a number of sub-sets of these researchers have moved on to collaborate on other projects.

I am very grateful for the support provided by the EU and for the efforts which colleagues put into what turned out to be a stimulating and informative programme. Finally I would like to record my thanks to Marius Brühlhart and Bob Hine for their expert editorial work on this important volume.
