

Queer Studies and Education

Series Editors

William F. Pinar

Department of Curriculum and Pedagogy

University of British Columbia

Vancouver, BC, Canada

Nelson M. Rodriguez

Department of Women's, Gender, and Sexual Studies

The College of New Jersey

Ewing, NJ, USA

Reta Ugena Whitlock

Department of Educational Leadership

Kennesaw State University

Kennesaw, GA, USA

LGBTQ social, cultural, and political issues have become a defining feature of twenty-first century life, transforming on a global scale any number of institutions, including the institution of education. Situated within the context of these major transformations, this series is home to the most compelling, innovative, and timely scholarship emerging at the intersection of queer studies and education. Across a broad range of educational topics and locations, books in this series incorporate lesbian, gay, bisexual, transgender, and intersex categories, as well as scholarship in queer theory arising out of the postmodern turn in sexuality studies. The series is wide-ranging in terms of disciplinary/theoretical perspectives and methodological approaches, and will include and illuminate much needed intersectional scholarship. Always bold in outlook, the series also welcomes projects that challenge any number of normalizing tendencies within academic scholarship, from works that move beyond established frameworks of knowledge production within LGBTQ educational research to works that expand the range of what is institutionally defined within the field of education as relevant queer studies scholarship.

International Advisory Board:

Louisa Allen, The University of Auckland, New Zealand
Edward Brockenbrough, University of Pennsylvania, USA
James Burford, Thammasat University, Thailand
Anna Carastathis, Independent Scholar, Greece
Rob Cover, The University of Western Australia, Perth, Australia
Cindy Cruz, University of California, Santa Cruz, USA
Xinyan Fan, The University of British Columbia, Canada
Anne Harris, RMIT University, Australia
Tiffany Jones, Macquarie University, Australia
Jón Ingvar Kjaran, University of Iceland, Reykjavík, Iceland
Kevin Kumashiro, Kevin Kumashiro Consulting, USA
Alicia Lapointe, Western University, Canada
Máirtín Mac an Ghaill, Newman University, UK
Paul Chamness Miller, Akita International University, Japan
Robert Mizzi, University of Manitoba, Canada
Thabo Msibi, University of KwaZulu-Natal, South Africa
Aoife Neary, University of Limerick, Ireland
Z Nicolazzo, Northern Illinois University, USA
Gul Ozyegin, College of William & Mary, USA
Moira Pérez, University of Buenos Aires, Argentina
Christine Quinan, Utrecht University, The Netherlands
Mary Lou Rasmussen, Australian National University, Australia
Eva Reimers, University of Gothenburg, Sweden
Emma Renold, Cardiff University, UK
Finn Reygan, Human Sciences Research Council, South Africa
Nick Rumens, Middlesex University, UK
Jacqueline Ullman, Western Sydney University, Australia

More information about this series at <http://www.palgrave.com/gp/series/14522>

Louisa Allen

Sexuality Education and New Materialism

Queer Things

palgrave
macmillan

Louisa Allen
Faculty of Education and Social Work
University of Auckland
Auckland, New Zealand

Queer Studies and Education
ISBN 978-1-349-95299-1 ISBN 978-1-349-95300-4 (eBook)
<https://doi.org/10.1057/978-1-349-95300-4>

Library of Congress Control Number: 2018942896

© The Editor(s) (if applicable) and The Author(s) 2018

This work is subject to copyright. All rights are solely and exclusively licensed by the Publisher, whether the whole or part of the material is concerned, specifically the rights of translation, reprinting, reuse of illustrations, recitation, broadcasting, reproduction on microfilms or in any other physical way, and transmission or information storage and retrieval, electronic adaptation, computer software, or by similar or dissimilar methodology now known or hereafter developed.

The use of general descriptive names, registered names, trademarks, service marks, etc. in this publication does not imply, even in the absence of a specific statement, that such names are exempt from the relevant protective laws and regulations and therefore free for general use. The publisher, the authors, and the editors are safe to assume that the advice and information in this book are believed to be true and accurate at the date of publication. Neither the publisher nor the authors or the editors give a warranty, express or implied, with respect to the material contained herein or for any errors or omissions that may have been made. The publisher remains neutral with regard to jurisdictional claims in published maps and institutional affiliations.

Cover image: © Michele Falzone / Alamy Stock Photo

Printed on acid-free paper

This Palgrave Macmillan imprint is published by the registered company Nature America, Inc. part of Springer Nature.
The registered company address is: 1 New York Plaza, New York, NY 10004, U.S.A.

*For Ken, and all that mattered to him ...
family, friends, generosity, kindness, music, Texas and the All Blacks!*

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

Writing this book has been on my mind for some time and I am so very grateful to finally have gotten to do it. This opportunity has been made possible with the granting of Research and Study Leave from the Faculty of Education and Social Work. For this, I wish to thank my Head of School, Carol Mutch, and the Dean, Graeme Aitken, for allowing this precious time to read, think, and write.

Thinking with concepts like intra-action in this book, it has become even more apparent to me that nothing is ever achieved in isolation. This book is not and never was mine to write. It is an event that has been inaugurated by a myriad of relations involving funding from the University of Auckland; an Early Career Research Excellence Award and the Australian Research Council; school principals' support of the research, participating students, and teachers in schools from Aotearoa-NZ and Australia; project time with colleagues in Australia and Aotearoa-NZ; and iPads, computers, planes, conversations at conferences, books, home and work offices, and non-humans like Coco (our family dog), who has spent many hours by my side as this book was written. There are also of course things that are not representable in language or known to me which have contributed to this work.

Of other entities I know, this book could not have happened without the unfailing support of its publisher, Palgrave Macmillan, and commissioning editors, Andrew James and Mara Berkoff, who has succeeded him. Neither could this book have come to fruition without the copy-editing prowess of Dr Connie Chai, who whips the chaotic manuscripts I send her into examples of order and precision.

In my anthropocentrism, I cannot help but see people as vital to the becoming of this book. I would like to thank Mary Lou Rasmussen for her friendship and the many stimulating conversations we have shared whenever we have had the good fortune to be in the same global location. Thank you also to my many doctoral and masters students and colleagues Barbara Grant, Vivienne Elizabeth, Nic Mason, Sue Sutherland, and Claudia Rosaz, whose humour and pearls of wisdom sustain me in the corridors of academia in small and big ways, every day.

And to Andrew, Otis, Bob, and Lorraine, without each of you not much else matters.

Versions of chapters from this book have been originally published elsewhere. The author and publisher wish to thank the following for their permission to reproduce copyright material.

Taylor and Francis for material from

Allen, L. (2016). Learning about sexuality ‘between’ home and school’: A new materialist reading. In S. Dagkas & L. Burrows (Eds.), Families, young people, physical activity, and health: Critical perspectives (pp. 29–40). London: Routledge.

Sage for material from

Allen, L. (2015). The power of things! A ‘new’ ontology of sexuality at school. Sexualities, 8(18), 941–959.

Palgrave Macmillan for material from

Allen, L., & Quinlivan, K. (2015). A radical plurality: Re-thinking cultural and religious diversity in sexuality education in Aotearoa New Zealand. In V Sundaram & H Sauntson (Eds.), Global perspectives and key debates in sex and relationships education: Addressing issues of gender, sexuality, plurality and power (pp. 115–129). New York: Palgrave.

PKP and the journal Reconceptualizing Educational Research Methodologies for material from Allen, L. (2016). Photos of (no)thing: The becoming of data about sexuality at school. Reconceptualizing Educational Research Methodology, 17(1), 1–15.

CONTENTS

1	Sexuality Education Matters	1
2	New Materialism: An Experiment in Queer Thinking	17
3	The Power of Things! A ‘New’ Ontology of Sexualities at School	35
4	A Radical Plurality: Re-thinking Cultural and Religious Diversity in Sexuality Education Louisa Allen and Kathleen Quinlivan	57
5	Learning About Sexuality ‘Between’ Home and School	71
6	Methodological Matters: The Becoming of Data About Sexuality at School	85
7	Lessons in Research and Method from Abandoned Shopping Trolleys	105
8	Never(end)ing: Propositions for Sexuality Education	125
	Index	149

LIST OF FIGURES

Fig. 3.1	Danny's picture of the locker room	39
Fig. 3.2	The pink phone	46
Fig. 3.3	Two mobile phones and Hannah	48
Fig. 3.4	Hannah without chin cropped	50
Fig. 3.5	The hand holding the picture of the hand holding the penis	52
Fig. 6.1	Photo of (no)thing	86
Fig. 6.2	Photo of (no)thing	86
Fig. 6.3	Photo of (no)thing	87
Fig. 7.1	Shopping trolley	106
Fig. 7.2	Shopping trolley	110
Fig. 7.3	Shopping trolley	112
Fig. 7.4	Shopping trolley	114
Fig. 7.5	Shopping trolley	118