ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This volume results from a project for which the editors had taken the initiative in October 2003. In the course of that project, they organized a workshop with the title Culture and the decline of fertility: religious norms, education, and the changing status of women in Venice, Italy, on October 15-16, 2004 at Venice International University, San Servolo, Venice

Financial support for the workshop was provided by the Dipartimento di Studi Storici, Università Ca' Foscari, Venice; the European Doctorate in Social History of Europe and the Mediterranean, Università Ca' Foscari, Venice; the Comune di Venezia, Assessorato alla Cittadinanza delle donne e Cultura delle differenze; the Provincia di Venezia, Assessorato alla Cultura; the Venezia Servizi Territoriali Ambientali and Venice International University.

We would like to express our gratitude to Geraldine Ludbrook of Università Ca' Foscari, Venice for the English editing of the text, to Michela Tombel, research assistant at Università Ca' Foscari, Venice for the revision of the manuscript, to Evelien Bakker, Associate Publishing Editor of Springer Science+Business Media for her help in the publication of this volume, to Jacqueline van der Helm of NIDI for her assistance in preparing the manuscript and to Mark van 't Walderveen of Nadorp Druk b.v. (Poeldijk, Netherlands) for preparing the camera-copy.

Special mention has to be made of the generous support given to us by Loredana Aurelio Celegato, at the time of the workshop Assessore alla Cittadinanza delle donne e Cultura delle differenze of the Comune di Venezia.

This volume could be published thanks to the financial support of the Netherlands Interdisciplinary Demographic Institute (NIDI) at The Hague, Netherlands.
