

Part II

Probabilistic Models

The main types of probabilistic graphical models are presented, including Bayesian classifiers, hidden Markov models, Markov random fields, Bayesian networks, and dynamic and temporal Bayesian networks. A chapter is dedicated to each type of model, including representation, inference and learning; and practical application examples. The models covered in Part II do not include decisions, these are covered in Part III.