

Energy Storage

Manuel Bailera · Pilar Lisbona ·
Begoña Peña · Luis M. Romeo

Energy Storage

Hybridization of Power-to-Gas Technology and Carbon Capture

Springer

Manuel Bailera
Department of Mechanical Engineering
School of Engineering and Architecture
University of Zaragoza
Zaragoza, Spain

Pilar Lisbona
Aragonese Foundation for Research &
Development (ARAID)
Zaragoza, Spain

Begoña Peña
Department of Mechanical Engineering
School of Engineering and Architecture
University of Zaragoza
Zaragoza, Spain

Luis M. Romeo
Department of Mechanical Engineering
School of Engineering and Architecture
University of Zaragoza
Zaragoza, Spain

ISBN 978-3-030-46526-1                      ISBN 978-3-030-46527-8 (eBook)
<https://doi.org/10.1007/978-3-030-46527-8>

© The Editor(s) (if applicable) and The Author(s), under exclusive license to Springer Nature Switzerland AG 2020

This work is subject to copyright. All rights are solely and exclusively licensed by the Publisher, whether the whole or part of the material is concerned, specifically the rights of translation, reprinting, reuse of illustrations, recitation, broadcasting, reproduction on microfilms or in any other physical way, and transmission or information storage and retrieval, electronic adaptation, computer software, or by similar or dissimilar methodology now known or hereafter developed.

The use of general descriptive names, registered names, trademarks, service marks, etc. in this publication does not imply, even in the absence of a specific statement, that such names are exempt from the relevant protective laws and regulations and therefore free for general use.

The publisher, the authors and the editors are safe to assume that the advice and information in this book are believed to be true and accurate at the date of publication. Neither the publisher nor the authors or the editors give a warranty, expressed or implied, with respect to the material contained herein or for any errors or omissions that may have been made. The publisher remains neutral with regard to jurisdictional claims in published maps and institutional affiliations.

This Springer imprint is published by the registered company Springer Nature Switzerland AG
The registered company address is: Gewerbestrasse 11, 6330 Cham, Switzerland

Acknowledgements

The work described in this paper is supported by the R+D Spanish National Program from Ministerio de Ciencia, Innovación y Universidades (Ministry of Universities, Science and Innovation) and the European Regional Development Funds (European Commission), under project ENE2016-76850-R.

This work has also been supported by the Government of Aragon and co-financed by FEDER 2014–2020 “Construyendo Europa desde Aragón” (Research Group DGA T46_17R, and project LMP134_18).

Contents

|                                                                                                     |    |
|-----------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|----|
| 1 The Role of Energy Storage and Carbon Capture in Electricity Markets . . . . .             | 1  |
| 1.1 Introduction . . . . .                                                                          | 1  |
| 1.2 Energy Storage Technologies . . . . .                                                           | 4  |
| 1.2.1 Types of Energy Storage . . . . .                                                             | 5  |
| 1.2.2 Energy Storage Services . . . . .                                                             | 13 |
| 1.2.3 Power to Fuel . . . . .                                                                       | 17 |
| 1.3 Carbon Capture Technologies and Decarbonisation Routes . . . . .                                | 21 |
| 1.3.1 Carbon Capture Technologies . . . . .                                                         | 22 |
| 1.3.2 Carbon Utilization Technologies . . . . .                                                     | 27 |
| References . . . . .                                                                                | 29 |
| 2 Integration of Power to Gas and Carbon Capture . . . . .                                   | 39 |
| 2.1 Power to Gas and Carbon Capture . . . . .                                                       | 39 |
| 2.1.1 Sizing . . . . .                                                                              | 40 |
| 2.1.2 Energy Requirements . . . . .                                                                 | 41 |
| 2.1.3 End-Use of Produced Gas and CO <sub>2</sub> Emissions . . . . .                               | 44 |
| 2.1.4 Water Utilization . . . . .                                                                   | 46 |
| 2.1.5 Conclusions . . . . .                                                                         | 46 |
| 2.2 Configurations for the Integration of Power to Gas and Carbon Capture . . . . .                 | 47 |
| 2.2.1 Amine Carbon Capture Integrated with CO <sub>2</sub> Recycled . . . . .                       | 47 |
| 2.2.2 Oxyfuel Combustion with CO <sub>2</sub> Recycled . . . . .                                    | 49 |
| 2.2.3 Comparison of Technologies . . . . .                                                          | 52 |
| 2.3 The Implications of Transient Operation in Power to Gas (Energy Storage) Applications . . . . . | 53 |
| 2.3.1 Storage Vessels . . . . .                                                                     | 53 |
| 2.3.2 Operational Hours, Sizing and Economic Considerations . . . . .                               | 56 |
| References . . . . .                                                                                | 58 |

|          |                                                                                                  |     |
|----------|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|-----|
| 3 | Status Review of PtG-CCU Hybridization                                                    | 61  |
| 3.1      | Power to Gas Within the Context of Hybrid Technologiesfor Storing Energy and CO <sub>2</sub> | 61  |
| 3.2      | Overview of Power to Gas Technology                                                              | 64  |
| 3.2.1    | Electrolysis                                                                                     | 64  |
| 3.2.2    | Methanation                                                                                      | 68  |
| 3.3      | Research Projects on PtG-CCU Hybridization                                                       | 72  |
| 3.3.1    | Projects Based on Biological Methanation                                                         | 73  |
| 3.3.2    | Projects Based on Catalytic Methanation                                                          | 75  |
|          | References                                                                                       | 79  |
| 4 | Integration of Oxy-Fuel Combustion and Power to Gas                                       | 85  |
| 4.1      | Concept and Technical Description                                                                | 85  |
| 4.1.1    | Oxy-Fuel Boiler Integrated with Power to Gas                                                     | 86  |
| 4.2      | Operational Ranges of the Hybrid System and Fuel Influence                                       | 90  |
| 4.3      | Potential Applications and Case Studies                                                          | 93  |
| 4.3.1    | Renewable Back-Up Power in Combined Cycles                                                       | 94  |
| 4.3.2    | District Heating                                                                                 | 99  |
| 4.3.3    | Cogeneration in Urban Buildings                                                                  | 101 |
|          | References                                                                                       | 107 |
| 5 | Integration of Amine Scrubbing and Power to Gas                                           | 109 |
| 5.1      | Description and Technical Assessment                                                             | 109 |
| 5.1.1    | Amine Scrubbing Integrated with Power to Gas                                                     | 110 |
| 5.2      | Potential Applications and Case Studies                                                          | 113 |
| 5.2.1    | Power to Gas-Electrochemical Industry Hybridization                                              | 114 |
| 5.2.2    | Power to Gas-Nuclear Power Hybridization                                                         | 124 |
|          | References                                                                                       | 133 |