Migration, Diasporas and Citizenship

Series Editors

Robin Cohen
Department of International Development
University of Oxford
Oxford, United Kingdom

Zig Layton-Henry
Department of Politics & International Studies
University of Warwick
Kenilworth, United Kingdom

Editorial Board: Rainer Baubock, European University Institute, Italy; James F. Hollifield, Southern Methodist University, USA; Daniele Joly, University of Warwick, UK; Jan Rath, University of Amsterdam, The Netherlands.

The Migration, Diasporas and Citizenship series covers three important aspects of the migration process: firstly, the determinants, dynamics and characteristics of international migration. Secondly, the continuing attachment of many contemporary migrants to their places of origin, signified by the word 'diaspora', and thirdly the attempt, by contrast, to belong and gain acceptance in places of settlement, signified by the word 'citizenship'. The series publishes work that shows engagement with and a lively appreciation of the wider social and political issues that are influenced by international migration. This series develops from our Migraton, Minorities and Citizenship series, which published leading figures in the field including Steven Vertovec, Daniele Joly, Adrian Favell, John Rex, Ewa Morawska and Jan Rath.

More information about this series at http://www.springer.com/series/14044

Marieke van Houte

Return Migration to Afghanistan

Moving Back or Moving Forward?

palgrave
macmillan

Marieke van Houte
International Migration Institute
Department of International Development
University of Oxford
Oxford, United Kingdom

Migration, Diasporas and Citizenship
ISBN 978-3-319-40774-6 ISBN 978-3-319-40775-3 (eBook)
DOI 10.1007/978-3-319-40775-3

Library of Congress Control Number: 2016962630

© The Editor(s) (if applicable) and The Author(s) 2016
This work is subject to copyright. All rights are solely and exclusively licensed by the Publisher, whether the whole or part of the material is concerned, specifically the rights of translation, reprinting, reuse of illustrations, recitation, broadcasting, reproduction on microfilms or in any other physical way, and transmission or information storage and retrieval, electronic adaptation, computer software, or by similar or dissimilar methodology now known or hereafter developed.
The use of general descriptive names, registered names, trademarks, service marks, etc. in this publication does not imply, even in the absence of a specific statement, that such names are exempt from the relevant protective laws and regulations and therefore free for general use.
The publisher, the authors and the editors are safe to assume that the advice and information in this book are believed to be true and accurate at the date of publication. Neither the publisher nor the authors or the editors give a warranty, express or implied, with respect to the material contained herein or for any errors or omissions that may have been made.

Cover image © Oleksiy Maksymenko / Alamy Stock Photo

Printed on acid-free paper

This Palgrave Macmillan imprint is published by Springer Nature
The registered company is Springer International Publishing AG
The registered company address is: Gewerbestrasse 11, 6330 Cham, Switzerland

Ausländer sind wir alle—fast überall!
We are all foreigners—almost everywhere
German bumper sticker

Thuis daar zedde baas
Home is where you are in charge
Charles van Houte

Acknowledgements

I realize how much I asked from the participants of this study in Afghanistan, when I simply asked them to tell the story of their life, because these were never easy stories to tell and there were no direct benefits to gain. Thank you so much for sharing your beautiful, painful, funny and unforgettable stories.

The fieldwork and writing of this book was made possible with the generous contributions of UNU-MERIT and the Dutch development organizations Cordaid and PSO. Thanks to Cordaid Kabul for facilitating this research and for hosting me during my stay in Kabul. I thank my translators Walid Fazly and Reza for their dedication and friendship, and also the members of the Afghan NGO AHRDO for their inspiration and support during the fieldwork.

I am endlessly grateful to Melissa Siegel, Khalid Koser and Tine Davids, for their encouragement, feedback and discussions as I was writing this book. Many thanks also to Ronald Skeldon, Jean-Pierre Cassarino, Hein de Haas and Ceri Oeppen, for reviewing and giving their feedback on an earlier version of this book.

Several people commented on earlier drafts of chapters of this book. Special thanks are due to Özge Bilgili, Ayla Bonfiglio, Kim Caarls, Teun Eikenaar, Remco Heijmans, Sara Kinsbergen, Arjen Leerkes, Joyce Römkens and Marieke Wissink, as well as anonymous reviewers for reading chapters and providing extremely valuable feedback. Thanks to Karlijn Driessen for making the illustrations. Also, many thanks to the editors of Palgrave Macmillan for the pleasant cooperation while preparing this book.

Thanks for the support from my colleagues at the Radboud University Nijmegen, the Maastricht Graduate School of Governance and UNU-MERIT, and the International Migration Institute at the University of Oxford.

While I am immensely grateful for my participants and for the support from funders, colleagues and institutes, this book would not have been here without the transformative intervention of a handful of people. Thanks to George and Tiny van Houte for showing me how to live, Kees Kentin for showing me how to care, Hans Fabrie for showing me how to play the game, and Remco Heijmans for showing me how to love.

Marieke van Houte

Contents

1 Introduction 1
- 1.1 The Rise of Return Migration as a Multi-tool for Policy 1
- 1.2 Research Question 15
- 1.3 Theoretical Perspectives on Return and Development: Structure, Agency, or Structure and Agency? 17
- 1.4 Methods 25
- 1.5 Outline of This Book 26
- 1.6 Conclusion 29

2 Afghanistan 39
- 2.1 Why Afghanistan as a Case Study? 39
- 2.2 A Political History of Conflict, Migration and Return 40
- 2.3 Afghan Migration to Europe 55
- 2.4 Conclusion 61

3 Meanings of and Motivations for Return 69
- 3.1 Introduction 69
- 3.2 Structure and Agency, Capacities and Desires in Return 72

3.3 Structural Reality of Afghan Conflict and Migration 77
3.4 Narratives of Return 80
3.5 Conclusion: Deconstructing the Meanings of and Motivations for Return 87

4 The Hierarchization of Migration 95
4.1 Introduction 95
4.2 Multidimensional Embeddedness 97
4.3 "Waves" of Afghan Migration 99
4.4 Voluntary and Involuntary Return 101
4.5 Discussion: Migration and Return Migration as a Reinforcement of Socio-Economic Stratification 109
4.6 Conclusion 112

5 Love (n)or Marriage 119
5.1 Introduction 119
5.2 Sample and Methods 122
5.3 Identity, Marriage, Migration and Change 125
5.4 Conclusion 138

6 Returnees for Change? 145
6.1 Introduction 145
6.2 Return Migrants as Agents of Change? 147
6.3 Challenges of "Post-conflict" Afghanistan 151
6.4 Identification with Conflict and Potential to Be Agents of Change 155
6.5 Conclusion 167

7 Conclusion 175
7.1 Return Migrants as Agents of Change? 175
7.2 Main Findings 176
7.3 Conclusion and Policy Implications 183

Methods 195

Glossary 211

References 213

Index 233

List of Figures

Fig. 1.1 Return, development and peace-building goals, needs and policies 7
Fig. 2.1 Annual return to Afghanistan 2002–2013 48
Fig. 3.1 Interplay between structure, agency, desire and capacity 75
Fig. 7.1 Development potential of and development budget for return migrants 186
Fig. 7.2 Disentangling return, development and peace-building goals, needs and policies 190

List of Tables

Table 1.1	Thematic and conceptual focus of each chapter	27
Table 2.1	Afghan mobility: Afghan IDPs, migrants and returnees	54
Table 2.2	Total asylum claims of Afghans in EU member states	55
Table 3.1	Structures, capacities and desires on each dimension of embeddedness	77
Table 4.1	Types of return migrants in the case study	99
Table 4.2	Circumstances of departure of voluntary and involuntary return migrants	101
Table 4.3	Post-return circumstances of voluntary and involuntary return migrants	103
Table 4.4	Patterns of migration and return	110