Palgrave Studies in Literature, Science and Medicine is an exciting new series that focuses on one of the most vibrant and interdisciplinary areas in literary studies: the intersection of literature, science and medicine. Comprised of academic monographs, essay collections, and Palgrave Pivot books, the series will emphasize a historical approach to its subjects, in conjunction with a range of other theoretical approaches. The series will cover all aspects of this rich and varied field and is open to new and emerging topics as well as established ones.

Editorial board: Steven Connor, Professor of English, University of Cambridge, UK; Lisa Diedrich, Associate Professor in Women's and Gender Studies, Stony Brook University, USA; Kate Hayles, Professor of English, Duke University, USA; Peter Middleton, Professor of English, University of Southampton, UK; Sally Shuttleworth, Professorial Fellow in English, St Anne's College, University of Oxford, UK; Susan Squier, Professor of Women's Studies and English, Pennsylvania State University, USA; Martin Willis, Professor of English, University of Westminster, UK

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

My thanks go first and always to Colin Milburn and Scott Shershow, who saw potential in the earliest messes of this project, who equipped me to play with these ideas, and whose guidance has been pure gift.

The many members of the writing groups to which I have belonged have shown me how to write and pointed out how not to; I owe Nathan Milos especial thanks for his patience with my very incomplete, very rough drafts. Likewise, thanks are due to Jennifer Jones for her thoughtfulness with drafts I had seen too many times. In between, many others have helped me sound clearer and think better, and I am grateful.

Too many colleagues to name, in the British Society for Literature and Science, in the Science Fiction Research Association, and in the Society for Literature, Science, and the Arts have asked invaluable questions and helped clarify the work as it was in progress; among these Carina Bartleet, Daniel Cordle, Folkert Degenring, John Holmes, Martin Willis, and Lisa Yaszek deserve special thanks.

Last, but never least, my thanks go to Jordan Dominy and Jonathan Elmore, who are more than a writing group; I am a better person for their collegiality, energy, thoughtfulness, and friendship.
