

Governance and Public Management

Series Editors
Robert Fouchet
Universite Aix Marseille
France

Juraj Nemec
Masaryk University
Czech Republic

IIAS Series: Governance and Public Management

International Institute of Administrative Sciences (IIAS) – *Improving Administrative Sciences Worldwide

Website: <http://www.iias-iisa.org>

Governance and Public Management Series

The Governance and Public Management series, published in conjunction with the International Institute of Administrative Sciences (IIAS), brings the best research in public administration and management to a global audience. Encouraging a diversity of approach and perspective, the series reflects the Institute's conviction for a neutral and objective voice, grounded in the exigency of fact. How is governance conducted now? How could it be done better? What defines the law of administration and the management of public affairs, and can their implementation be enhanced? Such questions lie behind the Institute's core value of accountability: those who exercise authority must account for its use – to those on whose behalf they act.

Series edited by:

Robert Fouchet, Institute of Public Management and Territorial Governance, Aix-Marseille University, France and IIAS Director of Publications—Directeur des Publications

Juraj Nemec, Professor, Masaryk University, Czech Republic and Membre—Member IASIA—Membre AIEIA

Editorial Series Committee:

Masahiro Horie, IIAS PRAC Chair—President du PRAC

Jean Michel Eymeri Douzans, Member EGPA—Membre GEAP

Edgar Varela Barrios, Member LAGPA—Membre GLAP

Zhiyong Lan, Member AGPA—Membre GAAP

Andrew Massey, IRAS Editor in Chief—Redacteur en Chef—RISA

Sofiane Sahraoui, IIAS Director General—Directeur general de l'IISA

Fabienne Maron, IIAS Scientific Director—Directeur scientifique de l'IISA

Previous Series Editor:

Taco Brandsen, Professor, Radboud Universiteit Nijmegen, The Netherlands

More information about this series at <http://www.palgrave.com/gp/series/15021>

Edoardo Ongaro
Editor

Public Administration in Europe

The Contribution of EGPA

palgrave
macmillan

Editor

Edoardo Ongaro
The Open University
Milton Keynes, UK

Governance and Public Management

ISBN 978-3-319-92855-5 ISBN 978-3-319-92856-2 (eBook)

<https://doi.org/10.1007/978-3-319-92856-2>

Library of Congress Control Number: 2018954058

© The Editor(s) (if applicable) and The Author(s) 2019

This work is subject to copyright. All rights are solely and exclusively licensed by the Publisher, whether the whole or part of the material is concerned, specifically the rights of translation, reprinting, reuse of illustrations, recitation, broadcasting, reproduction on microfilms or in any other physical way, and transmission or information storage and retrieval, electronic adaptation, computer software, or by similar or dissimilar methodology now known or hereafter developed.

The use of general descriptive names, registered names, trademarks, service marks, etc. in this publication does not imply, even in the absence of a specific statement, that such names are exempt from the relevant protective laws and regulations and therefore free for general use. The publisher, the authors, and the editors are safe to assume that the advice and information in this book are believed to be true and accurate at the date of publication. Neither the publisher nor the authors or the editors give a warranty, express or implied, with respect to the material contained herein or for any errors or omissions that may have been made. The publisher remains neutral with regard to jurisdictional claims in published maps and institutional affiliations.

This Palgrave Macmillan imprint is published by the registered company Springer Nature Switzerland AG

The registered company address is: Gewerbestrasse 11, 6330 Cham, Switzerland

ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

This book is a collective effort: it has been inspired by the entire European Group for Public Administration (EGPA) community and its thriving activities on multiple fronts, and occasioned by the celebration of the 40th anniversary of EGPA in 2015. Thus, the first ‘thank you’ goes to all those—several thousand people—who participate and make EGPA a prosperous learned society and the home for public administration and management in Europe.

The second thank you is to the authors of this book, who contributed their time to prepare a bit of an unusual volume, one which narrates the story of a learned society and its collective identity, and through this lens investigates the evolution and the future of the different areas that compose the field of public administration and public management in the ‘Old Continent’.

Last but definitely not least, thanks go to the director and all the staff, past and present, of the secretariat of the International Institute of Administrative Sciences (IIAS), who have supported all the activities of EGPA, activities which have unfolded over now more than 40 years.

A special ‘thank you’ goes to Fabienne Maron, the EGPA executive secretary and IIAS scientific advisor over the past 15 years, currently serving as the scientific director of the IIAS: her talent is coupled with a total dedication and commitment, ennobled by the profound loyalty to the EGPA mission and vision, and enabled by a professionalism and expertise refined over nearly two decades of professional life at and for the IIAS-EGPA. Amongst many other things, also the preparation of this book would have simply been impossible without her.

Finally, thanks to the editor, Palgrave, and notably the Commissioning Editor Jemima Warren and Assistant Editor Oliver Foster for having supported the idea of this quite unique volume, from the very inception to its full implementation.

Summer 2018

Edoardo Ongaro

CONTENTS

1	Introduction: The Past and the Future of a Community at the Heart of the Administrative Sciences	1
	Edoardo Ongaro
Part I	The Intertwined Histories of EGPA and of the Field of Public Administration in Europe	9
2	German, American and European Roots of International Cooperation in Administrative Sciences. ‘The Speyer Conferences’ and the Origins of EGPA/GEAP up to 1975	11
	Stefan Fisch
3	The Idea of Publicness in Public Administration: Episodes and Reflections on European Group for Public Administration 40th Anniversary	19
	Fabio Rugge
4	“Unity in Diversity”: An Overused Motto—And Yet a Perfect Fit for EGPA	29
	Jacques Ziller

5	What Does It Mean a European Learned Society in Public Administration?	33
	Edoardo Ongaro
6	Welcoming Twice the EGPA Annual Conference in Toulouse: Avè plaisir!	37
	Jean-Michel Eyméri-Douzans
7	Doctoral Education in European Public Administration: The Contribution of EGPA's PhD Symposium	41
	Christoph Reichard and Eckhard Schröter
Part II	Europe and the World: The EGPA Dialogues on Public Administration and Management	59
8	The Transatlantic Dialogue (TAD) on Public Administration and Management and the Strategic Partnership Between ASPA and EGPA	61
	Fabienne Maron and Edoardo Ongaro
9	EGPA and the European Administrative Space: Strategic Partnership with NISPAce and the Trans-European Dialogue (TED)	71
	Tiina Randma-Liiv, Mirko Vintar, Isabella Proeller, and Marius Constantin Profiroiu
10	From MED to EURO MENA: The Many Paths of an Expanded Dialogue	83
	Robert Fouchet, Sofiane Sahraoui, Marco Meneguzzo, Céline du Boys, and Fabienne Maron
Part III	Forty Years of Public Administration Research in Europe: The EGPA Permanent Study Groups and French-Speaking Seminar	99
11	From Informatisation to e-Government and Beyond	101
	Frank Bannister

- 12 Thirty Years of Performance Research at the European Group of Public Administration 113
Wouter Van Dooren, Jostein Askim, and Steven Van de Walle
- 13 Public Personnel Policies and HRM: Developments Within the Field and in the (Long History) of the EGPA Study Group on Public Personnel Policy 123
Lotte Bøgh Andersen, Peter Leisink, and Wouter Vandenabeele
- 14 Combining European Research on Local Governance and Local Democracy 135
Tomas Bergström, Colin Copus, Jochen Franzke, José M. Ruano, Linze Schaap, and Hanna Vakkala
- 15 Subnational Government in the Research Spotlight: The Merit of EGPA Permanent Study Group 5 147
Sabine Kuhlmann, Martin Laffin, and Ellen Wayenberg
- 16 Reform Waves and the Structure of Government 167
Per Lægread and Koen Verhoest
- 17 Looking Back, Moving Forward: Reflections on the Developments in the Field of *Quality and Integrity of Governance 181
Michael Macaulay and Gjalt de Graaf
- 18 Civil Society and Citizens: From the Margins to the Heart of Public Administration Research 193
Bram Verschuere, Taco Brandsen, and Karen Johnston
- 19 Some Reflections on the Development of Education for Public Administration in Europe 203
Arthur Ringeling and Christoph Reichard
- 20 Law and Public Administration and the Quest for Reconciliation 213
Dacian C. Dragos, Polonca Kovač, and A. T. (Bert) Marseille

21	Strategic Management in Government: Looking Backward, Looking Forward	223
	Anne Drumaux and Paul Joyce
22	Financial Management and Public Sector Accounting in an Age of Reforms: Developments and Changes in Public Sector Financial Management	235
	Francesca Manes Rossi, Eugenio Caperchione, Sandra Cohen, and Isabel Brusca
23	Public Policy in Practice	247
	Aurélien Buffat, Peter Hupe, Harald Sætren, and Eva Thomann
24	EGPA and the Study of EU Public Administration	259
	Gijs Jan Brandsma, Eva G. Heidbreder, and Ellen Mastenbroek
25	Public Administration, Technology and Innovation: Government as Technology Maker?	267
	Erkki Karo and Rainer Kattel
26	Public and Nonprofit Marketing: Determinants and Developments, and the Contribution of an EGPA Study Group to the Field	281
	Ani Matei, José Luis Vazquez-Burguete, and Christophe Alaux
27	State and Society: Taking the Broad Perspective	291
	Jean-Michel Eymeri-Douzans and Daniela Piana
28	Court Management: A Young Field of Public Management	309
	Daniel Kettiger, Andreas Lienhard, Philip Langbroek, and Marco Fabri

29 Public Network Policy and Management: A Mainstay in Public Administration	317
Marco Meneguzzo, Daniela Cristofoli, Olivier Keramidias, and Andrea Bonomi Savignon
30 Harboursing Francophone Public Administration in an International Congress: Challenges, Benefits, and a Glance Forward	325
Emil Turc and Jan Mattijs
Part IV EGPA and the Future of Public Administration in Europe	343
31 Accreditation in European Public Administration	345
Maja Klun and Christoph Reichard
32 Conclusion: EGPA, EPPA and the Future of Public Administration in Europe	355
Geert Bouckaert, Werner Jann, Fabienne Maron, Edoardo Ongaro, and Sofiane Sahraoui
Appendix A: List of EGPA Presidents and the Annual Conferences	363
Appendix B: Taking Responsibility for Practice: The EGPA Policy Papers on European Governance	367
Appendix C: What Are the ‘European Perspectives for Public Administration’ (EPPA)?	375
Index	379

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Christophe Alaux is a senior lecturer and researcher at the Institute of Public Management and Territorial Governance of Aix-Marseille University. He is also “Agrégé” of social and economic sciences. Dean of the unique French Public Management Faculty (IMPGT), he manages the Master’s program “Public Marketing and Communication”. He is also a responsible adviser of Aix-Marseille University Vice-Presidency for the evaluation of programs and teachings by students. Director of the French Chair “New place attractiveness and marketing” which was created in 2013. It is now funded by 30 French local authorities and 2 companies. He is a scientific advisor for many French place-marketing strategies (Only Lyon, Aix-Marseille Provence Metropole, Nice, Lille Metropole etc.) and publishes regular writings, comments and interviews for practitioners’ journals or mass media. Being a lecturer and researcher in public marketing, his main topic of research is place marketing: place attractiveness and hospitality, place branding/images for cities and governance: metropolitan area and medium-sized cities. His other topics of interest in public marketing are quality for public services and social marketing. He participates and leads several action research in partnership with local authorities or non-for-profit organization. He is invited professor for seminars abroad (Switzerland, Morocco, Bahrain, Malaysia). He is co-chairman for European Group for Public Administration (EGPA) Study Group 16 “public not-for-profit and marketing” of the European Group of Public Administration and co-organizer of workshops for AIRMAP conference (French Association of Public Management). He is co-author of the Place Marketing book with Camille Chamard and Joel Gayet, published in 2014.

He also publishes scientific papers in ranked journals (RFAP, GMP), book chapters and communications at international conferences.

Lotte Bøgh Andersen is Professor of Public Management and Leadership at Aarhus University, Denmark, and the Danish Centre of Applied Social Science, Denmark. Her work focuses on leadership in public and private organizations, especially motivation and performance, leadership strategies, professional norms and economic incentives. Her research is based on experiments, registered data, surveys, interviews and observation. She is a board member of Public Management Research Association and also acts as a co-director of PSG3 (Public Personnel Policies) within EGPA. She is a member of the Danish National Leadership Commission.

Jostein Askim is Associate Professor of Political Science, University of Oslo. His teaching and research activities are on performance management, administrative reform at central and local government levels and core executive studies, including the selection of and the working relations between top administrative and political officials. He has published in, inter alia, Journal of Public Administration Research and Theory, Public Administration, Public Performance & Management Review, International Public Management Journal, International Review of Administrative Sciences, and Local Government Studies. He was co-chair of EGPA's PSG Performance in the Public Sector until 2017.

Frank Bannister is a Fellow Emeritus in Information Systems in the School of Computer Science and Statistics, Trinity College, Dublin. Previously he worked in the Irish civil service and as a management consultant for Price Waterhouse. He has published extensively including a number of books on Information System (IS) evaluation and e-government. His research interests include the impact of Information and communication technology (ICT) on public administration and governance and the relationships between technology, power, privacy, decision-making and trust. Since 2007 he has been co-director of the EGPA Permanent Study Group on e-government. He was the founding editor of the Electronic Journal of e-Government and is an associate editor for Government Information Quarterly and Information Polity. He was a founding member of the European Conference on e-Government. He is a Fellow of the Institute of Management Consultants in Ireland, a Fellow of the Irish Computer Society, and a Chartered Engineer.

Tomas Bergström is Associate Professor and Head of Department since 2009 at the Department of Political Science, Lund University. He has a PhD in Political Science (1988) from Lund University. His research interests and publications are very much focused on local government including the potential conflict between different kinds of democratic structures, the complexity of local leadership, the role of local organisational cultures in local government reform, the implementation of sustainable mobility in big cities, and the role of public administrations to transform conflicts in divided cities. He is also board member of ICLD (Swedish International Centre for Local Democracy). The ICLD's purpose, as part of Swedish development co-operation, is to promote local democracy in low- and middle-income countries. Bergström is co-director of the EGPA Permanent Study Group "Local governance and democracy".

Andrea Bonomi Savignon is an assistant professor at the Department of Management and Law, University of Rome "Tor Vergata", where he lectures for the courses in Public and Non-Profit Management and Strategy and Controls in the Public Sector, and serves as the coordinator of the track in Social Innovation and Government for the Master of Science in Business Administration. He is Programme Chair of the Strategic Interest Group on Public and Non-Profit Management at the European Academy of Management (EURAM) and a co-director of the EGPA Permanent Study Group on Public Network Policy and Management. His recent publications include articles on Journal of Management and Governance and Public Management Review, and the edited book Cross-Sectoral Relations in the Delivery of Public Services (2018).

Geert Bouckaert is currently in his second mandate as President of the IIAS (2013–2016–2019). He was the president of the EGPA (2004–2010) and the chair of the IIAS Programme and Research Advisory Committee (PRAC) (2010–2013). He is a professor at the KU Leuven Public Governance Institute (Faculty of Social Sciences) of the KU Leuven, Belgium. From 1997 to 2012, he was the director of its Public Management Institute (Instituut voor de Overheid—KU Leuven). His fields of research and teaching are Public Management, Public Sector reforms, Performance Management and Finance Management. He is also a visiting professor at the University of Potsdam (Germany). He also launched the EPPA (European Perspectives for Public Administration) strategic project, as the European version of the US Minnowbrook events (together with Professor Jann from Potsdam). Geert Bouckaert received seven honorary doctorates and other international awards in recognition of his scientific contributions in the field of Public Administration. One of his main publications, with Christopher Pollitt, is Public Management Reform, an International Comparison (2017, 4th ed.).

Taco Brandsen is Professor of Comparative Public Administration at Radboud University Nijmegen, the Netherlands; Secretary-General of the European Association for Public Administration Accreditation (EAPAA); and Editor-in-Chief of the journal Voluntas: International Journal of Voluntary and Nonprofit Organizations. His research has focused on the co-production of citizens in the delivery of services, social innovation, the interplay of third sector and the state, and the governance of social services, in areas such as education, housing and health care.

Gijs Jan Brandsma is Assistant Professor of European Union Politics and Administration at Utrecht University, the Netherlands, as well as visiting professor in the same fields at Universität Konstanz, Germany. He has been teaching and publishing extensively on EU decision-making, administrative development, accountability, transparency and multi-level governance. He also co-chairs the PSG EU and Multi-Level Governance within EGPA.

Isabel Brusca is Professor in Accounting in the Department of Accounting and Finance at the University of Zaragoza, Spain. Her research and professional interest is focused on public sector accounting and management. She has participated in numerous research projects in this field and is the author of several books and papers in prestigious journals, such as International Review of Administrative Sciences or Local Government Studies. She has been a consultant of the Committee on Local and Regional Democracy (CDLR) of the Council of Europe. She has participated in the study designing the basic guidelines for the reform of the budgetary and accounting system of the European Commission. She is Vice President of the Spanish Association of University Professors of Accounting and co-chair of the Permanent Study Group 12 of EGPA.

Aurélien Buffat holds a PhD in political science. He currently works as a policy advisor to the President of the State Council (executive authority) of the Canton of Vaud in Switzerland. Until 2015, he used to teach and research at the Institute of Political and International Studies, University of Lausanne, Switzerland. His main research interests are policy analysis and public administration, with a focus on policy implementation, street-level bureaucracy, frontline discretion and accountability issues. From 2012 to 2015, he co-chaired EGPA Permanent Study Group 13 “Public Policy” with Peter Hupe and Harald Saetren, hence establishing an international network of researchers on street-level bureaucracy. He published some articles on these topics in the International Review of Administrative Sciences and Public Management Review. With Peter Hupe and Michael Hill, he has also co-edited and published a book called Understanding Street-Level Bureaucracy (2015). More recently through his professional practice, he has developed an increasing interest for the study of policy advice, political advisors and their role in the decision-making process.

Eugenio Caperchione is Professor of Public Management and Public Sector Accounting at Modena and Reggio Emilia University, Italy. His main research area is public sector accounting, and he privileges the comparative approach. He has published extensively on this subject, and has taken intensively in the work of CIGAR network (Comparative International Governmental Accounting Research—<http://www.cigar-network.net>), where he is serving as the chairman of the board; and of EGPA, co-chairing the Permanent Study Group 12, Public Sector Financial Management. He has been an invited speaker and has presented papers in a number of international conferences and workshops.

Sandra Cohen is Associate Professor of Accounting in the Department of Business Administration at Athens University of Economics and Business, Greece. Her research interests lie in the fields of public sector accounting (accrual accounting adoption, accounting harmonization), management accounting and intellectual capital. Her research work has been published in several ranked journals such as Accounting, Auditing & Accountability Journal and Financial Accountability & Management, and has been presented in numerous international conferences. She is a member of the Greek National Accounting Standards Setter and co-chair of the Permanent Study Group 12 of EGPA. She is a co-author in four books in Greek and either author or co-author in numerous chapters in international books. She has participated in several consulting projects for both the private sector and the public sector, mainly related to cost accounting and she has been a member of the research team in several EC-funded projects.

Colin Copus is Professor and Director of the Local Governance Research Unit in the Department of Politics and Public Policy, De Montfort University where he is Professor of Local Politics. His academic interests are central-local relationships and the constitutional status of local government, localism, local party politics, local political leadership and the changing role of the councillor. Copus has worked closely with policy-makers and practitioners in central and local government. He is an academic advisor to the House of Commons Communities and Local Government Committee on the role of the councillor and was advisor to the Political and the Constitutional Reform Committee. He is currently the academic advisor to two All Party Parliamentary Groups. He has published widely in academic journals. Copus was the editor of Local Government Studies from 2001–2013. He has also served as a councillor on a London Borough council, a county and a district council and three parish councils.

Daniela Cristofoli is a research fellow at Università degli studi di Milano—Bicocca. Her main research interests involve network governance, network management and public leadership. She is co-director of the EGPA Permanent Study Group 19 on Public Network Policy and Management. She has been co-chair of the EGPA Transatlantic Dialogue 2014 at Università della Svizzera italiana (USI). Her recent publications include articles on Public Management Review (special issue 2017 on: Collaborative Administration: The Management of Successful Networks with M Meneguzzo and N Ricucci, and on public administration).

Gjalt de Graaf is Full Professor of Public Administration at the Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam. He co-chairs the Permanent EGPA Study Group on the Quality and Integrity of Governance. His research focuses on conflicting public values, integrity of academic education, the influence of social media on public governance, and whistleblowing.

Dacian C. Dragos is Jean Monnet Professor of Administrative and European Law; Co-director of the Center for Good Governance Studies at the Babes Bolyai University, Cluj Napoca, Romania. He was Marie Curie Fellow at Michigan State University (2005–2006); Scientific Coordinator of the Commission for drafting the Administrative Procedure Code of Romania (2006–2008); Expert in the Commission for drafting the Administrative Code (2010–2011); Member of the Presidential Commission for Analyzing the Constitutional System of Romania (2008–2009); and is Chair of the “Law and Administration” Panel of the European Group of Public Administration (since 2010). His research publications include 4 edited international books, over 30 chapters in international books, 5 books in Romanian as single author and 4 in collaboration, over 50 papers in scientific journals. Research interests include administrative law, European law, Europeanisation of national administrations, transparency in public administration and free access to public information, public procurement law, state aid, administrative procedure, alternative dispute resolution in administrative proceedings.

Anne Drumaux is a full-time professor and academic director at Solvay Brussels School of Economics and Management (SBSEM)—Université Libre de Bruxelles (ULB). She has been a visiting professor at ESCP (France), at Bocconi University (Italy) and at Aix-Marseille University (France). Since 2009, she is co-chairman with Paul Joyce of the Permanent Study Group ‘Strategic Management’ of the EGPA. She has contributed to several collective books: The Palgrave Handbook of Public Administration and Management in Europe (Palgrave Macmillan, 2018, edited by Edoardo Ongaro and Sandra van Thiel), Developments in Strategic and Public Management (Palgrave Macmillan, 2014, edited by Paul Joyce, John M. Bryson, and Marc Holzer). She is co-author with Paul Joyce of the book Strategic Management for Public Governance in Europe (Palgrave Macmillan, 2018) and co-editor of the book Strategic Management in Public Organizations (2014).

Céline du Boys is Associate Professor of Public Management and Finance at the Institute of Public Management and Territorial Governance (IMPGT), Aix-Marseille University, and a researcher at the Aix-Marseille Centre of Management Research (CERGAM). She holds a PhD in Finance from IAE Aix—Graduate School of Management. Since 2016, she is a member of the EGPA Steering Committee, and since 2010 a member of the permanent organisation committee of the EGPA Euro-Mediterranean and then Euro-MENA Dialogues on Public Management. Her main fields of research are on financial management and financial analysis in local governments with a particular focus on reactions to austerity and financial resilience. She published several articles and coordinated a book on sustainable development in the Mediterranean.

Jean-Michel Eymeri-Douzans is a professor at Sciences Po Toulouse, where he has served as First-Vice-Rector and as Director of the Laboratory of the Social Sciences of the Polity (LaSSP). A graduate from Sciences Po Paris (1990), he took his PhD from the Sorbonne (1999), served as a senior lecturer at the EIPA, Maastricht, and then as an assistant professor at University Paris 1, before joining Toulouse. He chairs EGPA’s PSG XVII “Sociology of the State: Reforms and Resilience”, and has recently joined the Steering Committee of EGPA. His main research interests are the higher civil service in its relation with the political level, the institutions and processes of government, in France as well as in a comparative European perspective. Some of his publications are: La fabrique des énarques (Economica, 2001); Pouvoir politique et haute administration. Une comparaison européenne (EIPA, 2001); with Françoise Dreyfus, Science politique de l'administration. Une approche comparative (Economica, 2006); with Jon Pierre, Administrative Reforms and Democratic Governance (2010); with Geert Bouckaert, La France et ses administrations. Un état des savoirs (Bruylant, 2013); with Xavier Bioy and Stéphane Mouton, Le Règne des entourages. Cabinets et conseillers de l'Exécutif (Presses de Sciences Po, 2016).

Marco Fabri is a senior researcher and acting director of the Research Institute on Judicial Systems of the National Research Council of Italy (IRSIG-CNR), Bologna, Italy. He has been a research fellow at the College of Law of the University of Denver and at the National Center for State Courts, Williamsburg, Virginia (USA). He has been a researcher at IRSIG-CNR since its inception in 1993. He has coordinated several European research projects on the administration of justice, and he has served as a scientific expert for institutions such as the Council of Europe, the Court of Justice of the European Communities, the World Bank, and Organization for Security and Co-operation in Europe (OSCE). His research interests and publications are in the areas of judicial administration, justice reform, court management, courts and public prosecutors' governance, information and communication technology in the justice system, criminal procedure, always with a comparative perspective.

Stefan Fisch holds the chair of Modern and Contemporary History, especially Constitutional History and History of Public Administration at the German University of Administrative Sciences Speyer where he also served as Rector and Vice-Rector. Within the IIAS, he acts as chairperson of its Working Group 'History of Public Administration'. He is a co-editor of Die Verwaltung. Zeitschrift für Verwaltungsrecht und Verwaltungswissenschaften, and a member of the board of Administory. Zeitschrift für Verwaltungsgeschichte (an open access journal). Among his recent publications are Wirtschaftspolitik in Deutschland 1917–1990, 4 vol. (2016, De Gruyter, co-editor of this history of the German Ministry of Economics), Geschichte der europäischen Universität (2015, Beck), National Approaches to the Governance of Historical Heritage over Time (2008, editor). Many articles cover constitutional issues and administrative practices and cultures, often with a comparative focus on Europe and China.

Robert Fouchet is a professor (Professeur des Universités). He was the founding director of the Institute of Public Management and Territorial Governance at Aix-Marseille University, where he is currently the director of research. His research has led him to work on the strategic management of change, performance, the evolution of university systems, new modes of governance and management of culture. Member of numerous scientific committees and commissions related to the public sector, Professor Robert Fouchet is Publications Director at the International Institute of Administrative Sciences. He is an expert at the High Council for the Evaluation of Research and Higher Education, as well as for international institutions.

Jochen Franzke is Professor of Administrative Science at the faculty of Economics and Social Sciences at the University of Potsdam. He is Co-chair of the Study Group “Local Governance and Democracy” of the EGPA and member of the Board of the Institute of Local Government Studies of the University of Potsdam. His recent publications are: Traditions, Problems and Challenges of Inter-municipal Cooperation in the German federal state Brandenburg, in: Filipe Teles and Pawel Swianiewicz (eds.): Inter-Municipal Cooperation in Europe, Palgrave Macmillan, London, 2017, pp. 189–208; Structure of the Local Tiers in Germany: Trends and Challenges in Local Governance and Autonomy, in: Ugur Sadioglu/Kadir Dede (eds.): Comparative Studies and Regionally-Focused Cases Examining Local Governments, IGI Global, 2016, pp. 51–70.

Eva G. Heidbreder is Professor of Multilevel Governance in Europe at the Otto von Guericke University of Magdeburg. Previous positions include a junior professorship at the Heinrich Heine University Düsseldorf, where she also completed her Habilitation. She held visiting professorships at the University of Konstanz, the Humboldt University as well as the Free University Berlin. After completing her PhD at the European University Institute in Florence, she held postdoc positions at the Free University and the Hertie School of Governance in Berlin. She completed MA in Modern European Studies at the University of North London, a Magister in European Studies at the University of Osnabrück, as well as a postgraduate diploma in the same field at the Institute for Advanced Studies in Vienna. Her research foci comprise topics such as effective and legitimate governance in the EU, horizontal implementation networks in EU policy-making, civil society involvement, including such concrete research questions as the negotiating process of the British EU exit. She is co-speaker of various sections or working groups in national and international professional organisations, including the International Political Science Association (IPSA), the EGPA and the German Association for Political Science (DVPW).

Peter Hupe chose a career as a policymaker at the Dutch Ministry of Social Affairs and Employment, before getting a doctorate at Leiden University. With Erasmus University Rotterdam as an institutional basis, he taught and did research in Public Administration having academic affiliations in Leiden, Leuven, London, Oxford, and Potsdam. Since he retired from his position in Rotterdam, he is a visiting professor at the Public Governance Institute, KU Leuven, and an honorary senior research fellow at the University of Birmingham. He is especially interested in the work of professionals in public service, and its consequences for government performance. His publications appeared in, among others, Policy & Politics, Public Administration, and Public Management Review. With Michael Hill, he wrote Implementing Public Policy (3rd ed., 2014).

Werner Jann is Senior Professor of Political Science, Administration and Organisation at Potsdam University, Germany. His main research interests and publications are in the field of comparative public policy and administration, modernization of the public sector, and better regulation and public governance. He has experiences both as a higher civil servant and as government consultant, and has served on a number of government commissions, amongst others, for public sector reform and labour market administration. He is past president of the EGPA and was for eight years member of the UN Committee of Experts on Public Administration (CEPA) in New York. He has been a visiting professor at the School of Government, Victoria University, Wellington, New Zealand, the National Institute of Development Administration (NIDA), Bangkok, Thailand, and adjunct professor at the Department of Administration and Organization Theory, University of Bergen, Norway.

Karen Johnston is Professor of Organisational Studies at the University of Portsmouth, UK. Her research focuses on public management and leadership, public governance, gender equality and representative bureaucracies. She has extensive academic and research experience having worked in leading universities in South Africa, the USA and the UK, and for government and civil society organizations. She has published extensively in highly ranked journals such as Public Administration; and books such as the Handbook on International Public Administration and Governance and Making and Managing Public Policy. She was editor of the journal Public Policy and Administration. Prof. Johnston is executive member of a number of learned societies such as the International Research Society for Public Management and the EGPA.

Paul Joyce is an affiliated researcher in the Department of Public Management at the Solvay Brussels School of Economics and Management (Université Libre de Bruxelles). He is also an associate at the Institute of Local Government Studies, University of Birmingham (United Kingdom). He is a co-chair of a Permanent Study Group of EGPA on Strategic Management in Government. His recent publications include: Strategic Management for Public Governance in Europe (Palgrave Macmillan, 2018, co-authored with Anne Drumaux); Strategic Leadership in the Public Sector (2nd ed.) (2017); Strategic Management in the Public Sector (2015); Strategic Management in Public Organizations: European Practices and Perspectives (2014, co-edited with Anne Drumaux); and Developments in Strategic and Public Management: Studies in the US and Europe (Palgrave Macmillan, 2014, co-edited with John Bryson and Marc Holzer).

Erkki Karo is the director and a senior research fellow at the Ragnar Nurkse Department of Innovation and Governance, Tallinn University of Technology (Estonia) and co-chair of the EGPA PSG XV: Public Administration, Technology and Innovation. His research focuses on the role of the state in innovation, with a specific focus on policy and administrative capacities needed for innovation.

Rainer Kattel is a professor at Institute for Innovation and Public Purpose, University College London, and research professor at the Ragnar Nurkse Department of Innovation and Governance, Tallinn University of Technology (Estonia), and co-chair of the EGPA PSG XV: Public Administration, Technology and Innovation. His research focuses on the role of the state in innovation, digital transformation, and dynamic capacities of the public sector.

Daniel Kettiger is an attorney at law and consultant for the public sector as well as a senior researcher at the Center of Competence for Public Management at the University of Bern (Switzerland). From 1988 to 2002 he worked in leading positions in the public administration. In this period he also was deputy head of the NPM-project of the canton of Bern. In 2000 he got a master's degree from the German University of Administrative Science Speyer. Together with Andreas Lienhard, he directed the Swiss National Science Foundation project "Court Management in Switzerland". Together with Philip Langbroek, Marco Fabri and Andreas Lienhard, he chairs the Permanent Study Group on "Justice and Court Administration" of the EGPA. He teaches Public Management at the Bern University of Applied Sciences and published on constitutional and administrative law, jurisprudence, governance, court management and new public management.

Maja Klun is Professor of Economics in Public Sector at Faculty of Administration, University of Ljubljana. She started her career at Ministry of Economic Relationship and Development, and soon after that, she gained the position at University of Ljubljana. She was a guest lecturer at different universities across Europe (in Prague, Rotterdam, Ghent, Lisbon, Rijeka, Bratislava). Her main field of research are public finance and economics of public sector. She publishes in different journals and conference papers. She is co-author and co-editor of scientific monographs: Sustainable development of agriculture in Slovenian regions (2016), Effectiveness of environmental policy: economic, administrative and legal view (2011), Comparative view of selected fields in public sector (2012). Since September 2009, she is the vice-dean for scientific research at the Faculty of Administration. She was also deputy of secretary general at EAPAA for four years.

Polonca Kovač is Associate Professor of Administrative Law at the Faculty of Administration, University of Ljubljana. She is a Steering Committee member of the Network of Institutes and Schools of Public Administration in Central and Eastern Europe (NISPAce) and a co-director of the Law and Administration panel of the EGPA. She has over 20 years of working experience in public administration and in higher education, including serving as a visiting professor in Brno, Zagreb, Cluj, and others, and an Organisation for Economic Co-operation and Development (OECD), World Bank (WB), Support for Improvement in Governance and Management (SIGMA) and Regional School of Public Administration (ReSPA) expert regarding Europeanisation of public administration and modernisation of administrative (procedural) law. She is an editor-in-chief of International Public Administration Review, (co)author and (co)editor of numerous scientific monographs, articles and conference papers, including The Laws of Transparency in Action: A European Perspective (Palgrave, 2018), European Administrative Space (2017), Public Administration Reforms in Eastern EU MS (2017), Inspection Supervision (Official Gazette of RS, 2016), Contemporary Governance Models and Practices in CEE (2015), Administrative-Legal Dilemmas (2015, 2012), Commentary on the Slovene Constitution (2011), Regulatory Impact Assessment (2009), and so on.

Sabine Kuhlmann is Professor of Public Administration and Organization at the University of Potsdam in Germany. She also is the vice-chair of the German National Regulatory Control Council at the German Federal Chancellery and she serves as the Vice-President for Western Europe of the IIAS and the Vice-President of EGPA, having been Co-director of the EGPA Study Group V on “Regional and Local Government” since 2009. She is also the deputy editor of the International Review of Administrative Sciences. She has published in Public Administration Review, Public Management Review, and Public Administration, among other journals. Her recent books are: Local Public Sector Reforms in Times of Crisis: National Trajectories and International Comparisons (Palgrave, 2016, co-edited with Geert Bouckaert); The Future of Local Government in Europe: Lessons from Research and Practice in 31 Countries (2017, co-edited with Geert Bouckaert and Christian Schwab); Introduction to Comparative Public Administration: Administrative Systems and Reforms in Europe (2014; co-authored with Hellmut Wollmann).

Per Læg Reid is a professor at the Department of Administration and Organization Theory, University of Bergen, and a senior researcher at Uni Research Rokkan Centre. He is co-chair of the EGPA Permanent Study Group on Governance of Public Sector Organizations. His research interests include public sector reforms from a broad institutional approach. He has published extensively in international journals such as Public Administration, Governance, and Public Administration Review. His recent books include Government Agencies: Practices and Lessons from 30 Countries (with K. Verhoest, S. van Thiel and G. Bouckaert, eds.), Palgrave Macmillan; Organizing for Coordination in the Public Sector. Practices and Lessons from 12 European Countries. (with L. H. Rykkja, K. Sarapuu and T. Randma-Liiv, eds.), Palgrave Macmillan; The Routledge Handbook to Accountability and Welfare State Reforms in Europe (with T. Christensen, eds.); and Nordic Administrative Reforms. Lessons for Public Management (with C. Greve, and L.H. Rykkja, eds.), Palgrave Macmillan.

Martin Laffin is Professor of Public Management, School of Business and Management, Queen Mary University of London and was Head of School between 2011 and 2016. He served as the public sector member of the Business and Management Sub-Panel in the UK Research Excellence Framework 2014. His research has been in the fields of central-local relations, devolved public services, politician-bureaucrat relationships, professionalism in the public sector, intergovernmental relations and regional government. His present research interests include a comparative study of local government associations, the role of ideas in public management and the politics of housing. He has published in journals including Public Administration, Policy & Politics, Environment and Planning C, Local Government Studies and Public Policy and Administration.

Philip Langbroek is Professor of Justice Administration and Judicial Organisation at the Utrecht School of Law, Utrecht University, the Netherlands. Philip Langbroek has focused his research on court and justice administration, and organised and directed several international comparative research projects in this field. Langbroek co-chaired the EGPA Study Group on Management and Delivery of Justice and the EGPA Study Group on Law and Public Administration. Currently he chairs the EGPA study group on Justice and Court Administration. He is a member of the editorial board of Utrecht Law Review and is the managing editor of the International Journal for Court Administration (www.iacajournal.org). Within Utrecht School of Law, he is the director of the Montaigne Centre for Judicial Administration and Conflict Resolution. A recent book expected to be published in February 2018 is: Philip M. Langbroek and Mirjam R.M. Westenberg, Court Administration and Quality Work in Four European Judiciaries: Empirical Exploration and Constitutional Implications, Justizforschung series.

Peter Leisink is Professor of Public Administration and Organization Science at the Utrecht University School of Governance, the Netherlands. His research interests are in the areas of management and organization of public service organizations, the contribution of strategic human resource management to public value creation in public and non-profit organizations, leadership and motivation in public organizations, and public service performance under austerity. Since 2009 he has served as co-chair of the EGPA Study Group Public Personnel Policies. His research has been published in various international journals. One recent publication is the chapter co-authored with Eva Knies: Public Personnel Reforms and Public Sector HRM in Europe, in The Palgrave Handbook of Public Administration and Management in Europe, edited by Edoardo Ongaro and Sandra van Thiel.

Andreas Lienhard is Full Professor of Constitutional and Administrative Law at the University of Bern (Switzerland). He is Managing Director of the Center of Competence for Public Management and Co-Director of the Institute for Public Law at the University of Bern. In addition, he is a member of the board of the inter-university Swiss Public Administration

Network (SPAN). From 2012 to 2016, Andreas Lienhard has managed together with Daniel Kettiger the Swiss National Science Foundation project “Court Management in Switzerland”. Together with Philip Langbroek, Marco Fabri and Daniel Kettiger, he chairs the Permanent Study Group on “Justice and Court Administration” of the EGPA. Andreas Lienhard is Co-Editor of the International Journal for Court Administration (IJCA) and of the Swiss journal for judges, Justice—Justiz—Giustizia.

Michael Macaulay is the associate dean (Professional Programmes) at the Victoria Business School, Victoria University of Wellington, NZ. He was previously Professor of Public Management at Teesside University, UK, and is the former director for the Institute for Governance and Policy Studies, NZ. Michael has acted as co-chair of the EGPA Permanent Study Group on Integrity and Quality of Governance since 2012. He is currently a visiting professor at the Universities of Sunderland, UK, and York St John, UK, and is a former visiting professor at the University of Johannesburg, South Africa. He is Associate Managing Editor of Public Integrity and is a former (2013–2016) co-executive editor of International Journal of Public Administration and sits on the editorial boards of several other journals.

Francesca Manes Rossi is Associate Professor of Accounting at Salerno University (Italy), where she teaches and conducts research on accounting and auditing. She has also trained government officials in Italy and has been active in providing consulting services to public sector entities. Her research interests regard performance measurement in local government and cultural organizations, intellectual capital, sustainability and integrated reporting, auditing and accounting standards in both the private and public sectors. She has participated in the study, designing the basic guidelines for the reform of the budgetary and accounting system of the European Commission. She has developed special skills in the field of International Accounting Standards (IAS)/International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) and IPSASs and is co-chair of the Permanent Study Group 12 of EGPA.

Fabienne Maron, PhD is Scientific Director at the International Institute of Administrative Sciences and she is in charge of EGPA secretariat and scientific management. She is Publications Coordinator at IIAS. She is also a lecturer at Reims Champagne Ardenne (URCA) at the Faculty of Law and Political Sciences and Instructor, at BIPA (Bahrain)/Aix-Marseilles University for MPM Training Programme.

A. T. (Bert) Marseille is Professor of Public Administration at the Department of Constitutional Law, Administrative Law and Public Administration of the University of Groningen. His research focuses on procedures of dispute resolution in Administrative Law. He is the chairman of the editorial board for the Nederlands Tijdschrift voor Bestuursrecht, co-chair of the Permanent Study Group Law and Public Administration of the EGPA, Member of the Advisory Committee for Objections of the Province of Drenthe and of the Advisory Committee for Objections of the Municipality of Delfzijl.

Ellen Mastenbroek is Professor of European Public Policy at the Department of Public Administration and Political Science at Radboud University, Nijmegen, the Netherlands. She is also a visiting professor at the Department of Political Science at the University of Copenhagen, Denmark. Her main research interests are the Europeanization of national governments, EU compliance, ex-post evaluation of EU legislation and European administrative networks. She has published various articles on these topics, in journals such as Public Administration, Regulation and Governance, Journal of Common Market Studies and Journal of European Public Policy. She chairs EUROPAL, a multidisciplinary research group on Europeanization of Policy and Law based at Radboud University.

Ani Matei is Professor of Public Economics, Logics and Analysis of the Administrative Systems at the Faculty of Public Administration of the National University of Political Studies and Public Administration in Bucharest, Romania. Together with Lucica Matei, he is an active promoter of EGPA in Romanian higher education and research, contributing in 2011 to the organization of EGPA Annual Conference in Bucharest as well as to the creation of a new PSG in the framework of EGPA Conference: Public and Nonprofit Marketing. With a broad experience in higher education, he is author or co-author of publications concerning The European Administration. Models, Processes and Empirical Assessment; Local Development. Theoretical and Empirical Models; The Rationality of Public Policies, as well as chapters in prestigious international publishing houses.

Jan Mattijs is Professor of Public Management at Solvay Brussels School of Economics and Management, Université Libre de Bruxelles (Belgium) and Co-director of the Public management research department of Centre

Emile Bernheim (SBSEM). His research interests range from strategy, performance management, and management control, to issues of equity and reform in the public sector. He is invested in animating research networks of public administration (EGPA's Francophone Seminar; Politiques et Management Publics; CIRIEC) but also as an expert for local, national, and European institutions (Assemblée des Régions d'Europe, SELOR, SPF Justice, Comité d'audit du Service Public de Wallonie). His recent research contributions include future studies applied to the administration of justice ("La justice pénale en prospective: six scénarios à l'horizon 2020", Bruylant) and sustainable development ("La prospective, démarche stratégique au service du développement durable", Bruylant).

Marco Meneguzzo is Professor of Strategic Management, Non Profit Management and Public Management at the University of Rome "Tor Vergata", and Professor of Public and Non Profit Management at USI University of Italian Switzerland, Lugano. He is the director of the Government and Civil Society Research Group (Department of Management and Law, University of Rome "Tor Vergata") and of the Laboratory for Public and Health Management at USI Faculty of Economics. He is a co-director and founder of the EGPA Permanent Study Group on Public Network Policy and Management and he has been co-chair of the 2012 International Research Society for Public Management (IRSPM) Annual conference at the University Roma Tor Vergata, co-chair (with Daniela Cristofoli) of the EGPA Transatlantic Dialogue 2014 at USI and co-chair of EGPA MED Dialogue 2014 at University Roma Tor Vergata.

Edoardo Ongaro is Professor of Public Management at The Open University, UK. Previously he held positions at Northumbria University, as Professor of International Public Services Management, and SDA Bocconi School of Management and Bocconi University, where he still serves as Visiting Professor of Management of International and Supranational Organizations. Since September 2013, he serves as the President of EGPA, having been in the Steering Committee of EGPA since 2009. He is also an editor of Public Policy and Administration.

His recent publications are: The Palgrave Handbook of Public Administration and Management in Europe (Palgrave, 2018, co-edited with Sandra van Thiel); Philosophy and Public Administration: An Introduction (2017); Strategic Management in Public Services Organizations: Concepts, Schools and Contemporary Issues (2015, co-authored with Ewan Ferlie); Multi-Level Governance: The Missing Linkages (editor, 2015)

Daniela Piana is Professor of Political Science at the University of Bologna—Department of Arts where she works on institutional designs and rule of law in a comparative perspective. Member of the Italian monitoring body of the Cabinet of the Ministry of Justice (Italy) on the impact of the judicial reform and international fellow at the Institut des Hautes Etudes sur la Justice in Paris. She has extensively published on quality of justice, access to justice and rule of law. Recently she launched a stream of research on trust building and law/society interplay in the EU countries having as main focus the urban contexts. Among her books are, Judicial Accountabilities in New Europe, 2010, Networking the Rule of Law, 2015 (with Cristina Dallara), Ugual per tutti? 2016, and forthcoming Equality and Freedom in the European Democracies After the Great Recession, Oxford UP with Leonardo Morlino, Raffaele Marchetti, Mario Quaranta and Claudius Wagemann.

Isabella Proeller is a professor and holds the chair for Public and Nonprofit Management at the University of Potsdam. She is the spokesperson of the Potsdam Center for Policy and Management (PCPM). She started her education with studies at the university of St. Gallen in Switzerland and the Ecole Supérieur de Commerce de Paris (ESCP) in France, and completed her basic education with master's degrees in Business Administration and in Law from the University of St. Gallen in Switzerland. Proeller had been a member of the Steering Committee of the EGPA and serves in the editorial board of several journals. Her research focus is on strategic management in public administration, administrative reform, performance management as well as international comparative public management.

Marius Constantin Profiroiu is a professor and the vice rector for International Affairs at the Bucharest University of Economic Studies (ASE) and lectures in public policy, European institutions, good governance, strategic management. He was the president of the NISPAcee from 2014 to 2016. He is also Visiting Professor at the University of Toulouse Capitole, Complutense University, Madrid, and Senior Fulbright at Martin School of Administration and Public Policy, University of Kentucky, USA. Profiroiu was director-general of the European Integration Department in the Ministry of Public Administration from 2001 to 2002 and also held the post of State Secretary within the Ministry of Public Administration and Interior between 2002 and 2004. He was in charge of the co-ordination of the public administration reform and responsible with the Phare program in the field of civil service reform and decentralization process in Romania. Profiroiu is author of numerous publications in the field of civil service, decentralization, and governance.

Tiina Randma-Liiv is Professor of Public Policy at Tallinn University of Technology, Estonia, where she currently also acts as vice-dean for research of the Faculty of Business and Governance. She previously served as Professor of Public Management at the University of Tartu, and as a visiting professor at the Catholic University of Leuven, the University of Gdansk, Vienna University of Economics and Business Administration, and Florida International University. She has been a member of the steering committees of the EGPA, and of the NISPAcee. Randma-Liiv is currently a member of the Advisory Board to the Estonian Minister of Public Administration. Her research interests include the impact of fiscal crisis on public administration, public sector organization, transitional public administration, civil service reforms, policy transfer and small states.

Christoph Reichard is Professor Emeritus of Public Management and a member of the PCPM at the University of Potsdam. He is a visiting professor at several universities and serves as reviewer and member of editorial boards of several international academic journals. For 15 years he was the chair of the EAPAA and for 10 years he coordinated the PhD-symposium of EGPA. His main fields of research include (new) public management, public financial management, public sector personnel management and state-owned enterprises. Some of his recent research topics are budgeting issues, accounting reforms in Europe (e.g. International Public Sector Accounting Standards (IPSAS) and Public Sector Accounting Standards in the EU (EPSAS)), performance management, corporate governance of public enterprises, education and training in the public sector. Reichard has published about 280 books and articles.

Arthur Ringeling is Professor Emeritus of Public Administration at Erasmus University Rotterdam, the Netherlands. He is the dean of the Metropool program of the Netherlands School of Public Administration in The Hague. His areas of interest are public policy, police studies, problems of democracy local government and the development of the study of public administration. From 2009 to 2015 he was the chair of the Accreditation Committee of the EAPAA. Among his publications are The Image of Government (second edition 2004), Between Remoteness and Involvement (2007) and (with Arie van Sluis e.a.), Contested Police Systems, Divergence & Convergence in Five Western European Countries (2013). Recently he published Public Administration as a Study of the Public Sphere (2017).

José M. Ruano is a professor at the Complutense University of Madrid (UCM). His main research fields are public policy analysis, comparative public administration and reform of the State. Currently he is Vice-President of the Association Entretiens Universitaires Réguliers pour l'Administration en Europe (EUROPA) and President of its Scientific Council and Director of the Centre for Advanced Management Studies of the UCM. His recent publications are The Palgrave Handbook of Decentralisation in Europe (2017, co-edited with Marius Profiroiu); Manual de Gobiernos locales en Iberoamérica (2016, co-edited with Camilo Vial); “Local Structure and Municipal Associations in Spain: Facts, Trends and Problems”, in: Sadioglu, U. & Dede, K. 2016 (eds.): Comparative Studies and Regionally-Focused Cases. Examining Local Governments; and “Local Strategic Planning in Spain. A Case Study” Transylvanian Review of Administrative Sciences, Special Issue 2015, vol. 11, pp. 71–85.

Fabio Rugge is Professor of History at the University of Pavia (Italia). His field is comparative government and administration. He has extensively published on this subject in Italy and abroad. He has chaired the History WG of the IIAS. He was Humboldt stipendiat at the Technische Universitaet in Berlin, Jemolo Fellow at Nuffield College (Oxford), and Fellow of the Woodrow Wilson Center in Washington DC. He is presently serving as rector of the University of Pavia and delegate of the Italian Rectors for international relations.

Harald Sætren is Professor Emeritus of Administration and Organization Science at the University of Bergen, Norway. He has been co-director of the EGPA Permanent Study Group in Public Policy since 2010. He has also been a visiting professor at Harvard University several times and most recently at University of Arizona and Stanford University. An enduring research interest throughout his academic career has been comparative studies of the dynamic relationship between policy formulation/design and implementation. Publications in later years have been bibliometric based state-of-the-art assessments of implementation research more generally. The most recent publication here was a chapter contribution co-authored with Peter Hupe in The Palgrave Handbook of Public Administration and Management in Europe edited by Edoardo Ongaro and Sandra van Thiel, Palgrave, 2018.

Sofiane Sahraoui is the director general of the IIAS, based in Brussels, Belgium, and was the recipient of the Jose Edgardo Campos Collaborative Leadership Award from the World Bank Group in 2017. Sahraoui is a founding member of the MENAPAR (Middle East & North Africa Initiative for Public Administration Research) network, of which he is the director of Research and Executive Coordinator and founding president of the Arab Governance Institute (AGI). Sahraoui holds a PhD from the University of Pittsburgh (Katz Graduate School of Business) and an MSc from the University of Oxford (College of St Anne's). He has published two books and more than 50 research articles in leading academic journals and conference proceedings and speaks regularly at international professional gatherings.

Linze Schaap is Associate Professor of Public Administration at Tilburg University, the Netherlands. His main research topics are (good) urban/city-regional governance, local government scale, local democracy, mayors, and local government performance assessment. He is co-founder of the EGPA Permanent Study Group on Local Governance and Democracy. Between 1999 and 2005, he was a member of the Provincial Council of the Province of South Holland. In addition to academic research, he conducts applied studies and provides training to local councillors, municipal clerks, and aldermen. Recent publications are The Quest for Good Urban Governance. Theoretical Reflections and Practical Challenges (2014, co-edited with Leon van den Dool, Frank Hendriks and Alberto Gianoli) and "The citizen in city-regions: Patterns and variations" (2018, Journal of Urban Affairs, co-authored with Anders Lidström).

Eckhard Schröter is Professor of Public Administration at the German University of the Police, Münster. Previously, he held faculty positions at Zeppelin University, Friedrichshafen (Germany), where he also served as Head of Department and Academic Head of Programs, and in the Department of Political Science at the University of California, Berkeley, and at Humboldt-University Berlin. He was educated at Free University Berlin and the London School of Economics and Political Science. His major research interests are in comparative public sector reform, administrative culture, metropolitan governance, and representative bureaucracy. His recent book publications are Representative Bureaucracy in Action (2013) and The Politics of Representative Bureaucracy: Power, Legitimacy and Performance (2015) (both co-edited with Guy Peters and Patrick von Maravic). Since 2013, he has also served as chair of the annual EGPA Symposium PhD candidates and young researchers.

Eva Thomann is Senior Lecturer in Public Policy at the Department of Politics at the University of Exeter. She specializes in policy implementation research and qualitative comparative research methodology. Her work on street-level bureaucracy, public accountability and for-profit policy implementation has appeared, amongst others, in journals like Governance, Public Administration, the Policy Studies Journal, and the Public Management Review. She has published about multilevel implementation and the customization of EU policies by member states in the Journal of European Public Policy, and a monograph on this topic is forthcoming with Palgrave. Thomann co-chairs EGPA's Permanent Study Group 13 on public policies, and she is a member of the Steering Committee of the COMPArative Methods for Systematic cross-caSe analysiS (COMPASSS) network.

Emil Turc is a senior lecturer at Aix-Marseille Université, France. He studies strategic changes in public and private organizations with a focus on the implementation of budgeting tools in central and deconcentrated administrations, and on the diffusion of performance management models and tools in local government organizations. A former member of EGPA's Steering Committee and of the Scientific Council of Université Paul Cézanne (France), he is involved in the organization of multiple research events (EGPA's Francophone Seminar; EGPA-ASPAs Transatlantic Dialogue 2011; EFMD conference 2006; AGRH 2017). He participated as researcher, group leader, or adviser in international research projects and consortia (LIPSE-FP7, COST-LocRef). His current research focus includes austerity management in French local governments.

Hanna Vakkala is Senior Lecturer of Public Administration at the University of Lapland, in Rovaniemi, Finland. She received her doctoral degree in 2012 at the Faculty of Social Sciences, University of Lapland. Her main research interests are in local government reforms and local democracy, and in human resource management and leadership. She is also interested in knowledge culture and digital governance in reform context. Since 2007, she has been involved in several evaluation researches on national local governance reforms, funded by the Ministry of Finance and The Association of Local Authorities. She has also been working in the board of the Finnish Association of Local Government Studies, acting as the chair of the board for two years.

Wouter Vandenabeele is Associate Professor of Human Resources Management at Utrecht University and a visiting professor at the Catholic University of Leuven (Belgium). He is a member of the executive board and treasurer of the IRSPM. He is also a member of the EGPA, the ASPA and the Public Management Research Association. He is an editorial board member of various national and international academic journals.

Steven Van de Walle is Professor of Public Management at the Public Governance Institute, KU Leuven, Belgium. Prior to joining KU Leuven in 2016, he held the chair of Public Management at Erasmus University Rotterdam. His research focuses on public sector reform, public service failure, socialisation of new recruits, and attitudes of public sector workers towards citizens. His most recent books are Public Administration Reforms in Europe: The View from the Top (2016), and Theory and Practice of Public Sector Reform (2016).

Wouter Van Dooren is Professor of Public Administration at the Department of Political Science in Antwerp and a lecturer at the Antwerp Management School. Before, he was postdoctoral fellow of the Flemish Research Foundation at the KU Leuven and seconded expert at the Governance Directorate of the OECD in Paris. From 2006 to 2014, he co-chaired the EGPA study group on public sector performance. His main research interests are performance measurement and management in the public sector. The performance research fits into a broader agenda on the use of information and evidence in policy and public administration. Topics include information in citizen-state interactions as well as information use in infrastructure planning. Van Dooren co-authored Performance Management in the Public Sector (2015, with Geert Bouckaert and John Halligan).

José Luis Vazquez-Burguete is Associate Professor of Marketing at the University of León, Spain, and has taught as visiting professor at other Spanish, Brazilian, French, Portuguese, Romanian, and Hungarian universities, holding a honoris causa degree from the University of Oradea (Romania), a honoris causa degree from the Trakia University Stara Zagora (Bulgaria) and a senator honoris causa by the University of Szeged (Hungary). He has over 25 years of experience in the universities, has been author or co-author of some 350 publications (including 25 complete books, 36 book chapters and 96 peer reviewed articles) and is serving as EU Evaluator Expert (Fifth Research Framework Programme, COST).

He also serves in the editorial board of several international leading journals and is also the founder and current president of the International Association on Public and Nonprofit Marketing (AIMPN/IAPNM). He started his relationship with EGPA activities in 2005 and serves as the co-chair for PSG XVI Public and Nonprofit Marketing since 2011.

Koen Verhoest is Research Professor of Public Administration at the Research Group on Public Administration and Management, within the Department of Politics, University of Antwerp (Belgium). His research focuses on autonomy, control and coordination of (regulatory) agencies, on multi-level regulation in liberalized markets as well as on collaboration through public-private partnerships. He has published widely on these issues in international top journals like Regulation & Governance, Organization Studies and Public Management Review as well as five international books with Palgrave Macmillan and Edward Elgar. Two latest books are Multi-Level Regulation in Telecommunications (Palgrave) and Trust in Regulatory Regimes. He is currently the co-chair of the EGPA PSG on Governance of Public Sector Organizations, and was the co-chair of the Standing Group on Regulatory Governance of the European Consortium of Political Research (ECPR) from 2012 to 2016.

Bram Verschuere is Associate Professor of Public Management, Faculty of Economics and Business Administration, Ghent University, Belgium. He is the co-chair of the EGPA Permanent Study Group on ‘Civil Society, Citizens and Government’. His research interest is in co-production of public services, citizen participation, state-civil society relationships, and management of public and non-profit organisations. Recently he published articles in Voluntas, Local Government Studies, The British Journal of Social Work and International Review of Administrative Sciences. He is co-editor (with T. Brandsen and W. Trommel) of Manufacturing Civil Society: Principles, Practices and Effects (Palgrave Macmillan, 2014), and (with T. Brandsen and T. Steen) of Co-Production and Co-Creation: Engaging Citizens in Public Services (2018).

Mirko Vintar is Professor of E-government and Administrative Information Systems at the University of Ljubljana, Faculty of Public Administration. He has more than 30 years of experience in teaching, consulting, development and research of public sector management and ICT-based solutions. He has also been dean (1993–1995), vice-dean for research (1999–2009), founder and Head of the Institute for Informatization of Public Administration (1999–2012). He is one of the co-founders of NISPAcee, was a member of its Steering Committee (1994–1998; 2012–2015) and was the President (2012–2014). He has been EGPA Steering Committee member (2000–2006). He is a member of several editorial boards and published more than 200 scientific articles, books and textbooks.

Ellen Wayenberg is a professor at the Faculty of Economics and Business Administration, Ghent University, Belgium. She specializes in public policy and public administration with a specific interest for policy analysis and evaluation, local government and multi-level governance. She is one of the co-chairs of the EGPA Study Group on Regional and Local Government and was actively involved in COST Action IS1207: Local Public Sector Reforms: An International Comparison. Over the last years, Wayenberg has (co-)authored contributions to various international journals, books and conferences including the International Review of Administrative Sciences (2016, article on ‘Institutional impact assessments in multi-level systems’), Local Public Sector Reforms in Times of Crisis (2016, chapter on ‘Explaining trajectories of municipal amalgamations’) and the International Conference on Public Policy (2015, paper on ‘Centrally moving away from conformance implementation in case of local planning reform but where to?’).

Jacques Ziller is Professor of European Union Law at the University of Pavia, Italy. He is President of the Societas Iuris Publici Europaei and former President of EGPA. He previously was Professor of Public Law at the University of Paris 1 Panthéon-Sorbonne and at the European University Institute in Florence, and earlier at the European Institute of Public Administration in Maastricht. He has been member of the Steering Committee of EGPA from 1993 to 1996 and from 2004 to 2010. He has been Director of Research and Publications at the Institut International d’Administration publique and Editor of the Revue française d’administration publique from 1992 to 1995 and has published numerous books and articles in the field of comparative public administration, comparative administrative law and constitutional law and especially in EU law.

LIST OF FIGURES

Fig. 18.1	Defining civil society (Adapted from Van de Donk, W. (2008). Maatschappelijk besturen: sector of idee? Brugge: Die Keure, 32p)	197
Fig. 21.1	Main concerns of strategic management papers at Study Group conference sessions 2009–2015	229
Fig. 21.2	The four big themes in the research of the EGPA Permanent Study Group on strategic management in government	231
Fig. 25.1	Government as technology maker	275

LIST OF TABLES

Table 9.1	TEDs 2008–2016	76
Table 10.1	List of Euro-Mediterranean and EURO MENA dialogue conferences 2008–2016	90
Table 10.2	Partners of MEDs and EURO MENA	92
Table 13.1	Study group themes over time	126
Table 13.2	Examples of different types of study group publications	128
Table 19.1	Examples of issues discussed in the annual meetings of PSG 9	206
Table 23.1	Publications and joint projects (PSG chairs)	254
Table 26.1	Overview of themes at the annual gatherings of the public and nonprofit marketing PSG	288
Table 27.1	Table of contents of the book: Prefects, governors &amp; commissioners	297
Table 30.1	Comparative topics of francophone PA conferences and special issues 2011–2015	332