

Part IV

Future Missions to the Ocean Worlds

“Certainly one of the most enthralling things about human life is the recognition that we live in what, for practical purposes, is a universe without bounds.”

– James Van Allen

We are living at the beginning of a new age of exploration. The momentum for the investigation of ocean worlds is growing among the public and scientists. In this fourth and last part, we will cover the confirmed missions currently being put in place by ESA and NASA as well as the proposed missions either waiting to be selected or in need of further development.