

Urban

Europe in Progress

Sabine Urban (Ed.)

Europe in Progress

Model and Facts

With the contributions of:

Jürgen Backhaus, Wolfgang Billmann, Maria Constantopoulou,
Peter Eichhorn, François Leroux, Hana Machkova,
Kostas Nanopoulos, John Nicholls, Giovanni Palmerio, Hossein Safizadeh, Peter Standish

GABLER

Sabine Urban is a Professor at Strasburg University (Robert Schuman) and heads the CESAG (Centre of Managerial Research)/I.E.C.S. which is affiliated to it. She teaches international economics and corporate strategies in several universities both in France and abroad, and is in charge of the International Commerce degree at the I.E.C.S.-European Management School. She sits on the board of several industrial and financial firms. Her main research fields are International Business and the European economy.

Acknowledgement

The editor is grateful to the Société des Amis des Universités de l'Académie de Strasbourg and to the Conseil Général du Bas-Rhin for their financial support.

Die Deutsche Bibliothek – CIP-Einheitsaufnahme

Europe in progress : model and facts / Sabine Urban (Ed.). With the contributions of: Jürgen Backhaus ... - Wiesbaden : Gabler, 1995 ISBN-13: 978-3-409-13237-4 NE: Urban, Sabine M.-L. [Hrsg.]; Backhaus, Jürgen

Copyright © Gabler Verlag, Wiesbaden 1995

Gabler Verlag is a subsidiary company of Bertelsmann Professional Information

Publishing editor: Barbara Marks / Annegret Heckmann

No part of this publication may be reproduced, stored in a retrieval system or transmitted in any form or by any means: electronic, magnetic tape, photocopying, recording or otherwise, without permission in writing from the publisher.

ISBN-13: 978-3-409-13237-4 e-ISBN-13: 978-3-322-83823-0
DOI: 10.1007/978-3-322-83823-0

Contents

List of Contributors	7
1. Introduction Sabine Urban	11
2. Europe's Economic Future: Advantages and Drawbacks for Italy's Activities Giovanni Palmerio	17
3. Public Accounting and Auditing in the European Union Peter Standish	45
4. Welfare Enterprises in Europe: The Case of France, Germany, Italy, Spain and UK Peter Eichhorn	75
5. American Foreign Investment in Central and Eastern Europe: Short-term Risk vs. Long-term Profits Hossein Safizadeh	95
6. The New German Federal State-A Starting Point for Creating Businesses in Eastern European Countries ? Wolfgang Billmann	117
7. Appraisal of Foreign Direct Investments in the Czech Republic (The Case of French Foreign Investments) Hana Machkova	139

8. The Internationalisation of Small and Medium Sized Food and Drink Firms John Nicholls (and alii)	167
9. International Financial Markets in ECU: The Impact of a Difficult Consensus François Leroux	193
10. Subsidiarity and Ecologically Based Taxation: Aspirations and Options Jürgen Backhaus	223
11. Technology and the Size of the Public Sector Maria Constantopoulou	265
12. Privacy Protection, Statistical Confidentiality, National Statistical Systems Kostas Nanopoulos	287

Contributors

Jürgen Backhaus

has been the professor of Public Economics at the University of Limburg at Maastricht (The Netherlands) since 1986. He holds doctorates in Law and Economics from the University of Konstanz (1976 and 1985 respectively). His research emphasizes all fields of applied public finance taxation, including public accountability, public enterprise economics, environmental economics, health economics and the history of public economics. In his work he emphasizes a law and economics approach. In 1993, he founded (with Frank Stephen) the European Journal of Law and Economics, which is published with Kluwer Academic Publishers.

Wolfgang Billmann

Deputy Rector of Science, Professor neuen Rechts (W) at Leipzig Commercial College (1991). Senior Lecturer at the University of Leipzig, Chair of Personnel Management Studies (1992). Member of "Eurometropolis Club". Publications: Books and articles on personnel planning, organisation of labour, manpower assignment.

Maria Constantopoulou

Professor of Economics at the Athens University of Economics and Business and Head of the Department of Management Science and Marketing. She holds a Ph.D. from the London School of Economics and has occupied senior administrative posts in the Greek public sector. Her research interests lie in the fields of international trade and development, welfare economics and more recently in the design and evaluation of interactive multimedia applications for improved education and more effective communication.

Peter Eichhorn

is the head of the chair of Public Management in the Faculty of Business Administration at Mannheim University. His main fields of research are public administration, public enterprises, especially hospitals, and institutions of public enterprises (f.i. non-profit organisations).

François Leroux

is professor at the University of Montreal Business School (HEC) where he teaches International Finance and Applied Economics. He is the author of several books and articles, mainly on international capital markets. He is associate-director, in charge of research activities at the HEC International Business Center (CETAI).

Hana Machkova is the director of the French-Czech Institute of Management (IFTG) at the University of Economics in Prague. Since 1993 she became the executive director of the French-Czech Association for Development of Managerial Teaching. Her research field is International Marketing and as Senior Lecturer at the University of Economics in Prague, she is responsible for the subject of Export/Import Operations.

Kostas Nanopoulos

Statistician, Maître de Conférences in Management Science, pedagogical program director at the IECS Strasbourg (University Robert Schuman). His research subjects are international management, statistical information systems and the management of industrial networks.

John Nicholls

is a Lecturer in International Marketing at the University of Bath School of Management, UK. He has been Director of Studies for their full time MBA degree, and also for the International Management degree. His main research interests are the internationalisation process of the firm, and the agri-business sector.

Giovanni Palmerio

is Full Professor of Economics at Luiss University (Rome) and President of ISCO (National Institute for Economic Forecasts). He is the author of many books and articles on cycles, growth and development theory, public finance and inflation.

Hossein Safizadeh

is an associate professor of Operations Management in the Wallace E. Carroll School of Management at Boston College, where he teaches operations management at the undergraduate and graduate level. He received his Ph.D. from Oklahoma State University in 1980. He has four years of managerial experience in banking and has conducted management seminars and served as a consultant to numerous manufacturing and service firms such as NCR Corporation, the Coleman Company, Cessna Aircraft, Pizza Hut. His research interest includes manufacturing management, international management, and simulation analysis. He has published extensively in academic journals. His recent publications have appeared in ORSA Journal on Computing, International Journal of Production Research, Naval Research Logistics, Decision Sciences, California Management Review, Journal of Business Research. He is a member of the Institute of Management Science and Decision Sciences Institute.

Peter Standish

Professor of European Accounting, Nottingham-Trent University. Visiting Professor, Université de Paris-Dauphine. Honorary Member, Conseil National de la Comptabilité, Paris. Primary research interest in comparative international accounting and auditing, particularly between in Britain and France.

Sabine Urban

is a Professor at Strasbourg University (Robert Schuman) and heads the CESAG (Centre of Managerial Research)/IECS Strasbourg which is affiliated to it. She teaches international economics and corporate strategies in several universities both in France and abroad, and is in charge of the International Commerce degree at the IECS Strasbourg. She sits on the board of several industrial and financial firms. Her main research fields are International Business and the European economy.