

Part I

Lectures in full sessions

Epitome of Part I

Introduction to the conference theme

A.G.M. van Melsen, Science and religion

T.F. Torrance, Fundamental issues in theology and science

M. Bloemendal, Science and religion - the Jewish position

Reconciling developments in the natural sciences - the question of scientism

A. Gierer, Physics, life and mind

W. Weidlich, Reconciling concepts between natural science and theology

J.C. Polkinghorne F.R.S., A revived natural theology

Reconciling developments in theology - the question of dogmatism

W.B. Drees, Theology and cosmology beyond the Big Bang theory

J. Van der Veken, God's world and man becoming:

how can science possibly help us transcend dogmatism?

The divorce of science and religion - a process in retrospect

O. Pedersen, Historical interaction between science and religion

J.R. Durant, Is there a role for theology in an age of secular science?

Science and religion studies today and tomorrow

J. Hübner, Science and religion coming across

G. Vahanian, Creation and Big Bang: the word as space of creation

Each text is preceded by the particulars of the author.

A.G.M. van Melsen, chemist and philosopher,
Professor emeritus of philosophy, Katholieke Universiteit Nijmegen,
Nijmegen, The Netherlands