ACKNOWLEDGEMENTS

I want to thank all my colleagues—historians and political scientists—in the research project “Stable Peace: The Case of Sweden” for good cooperation and valuable criticism. Special thanks to Associate Professor Magnus Jerneck and Dr. Rikard Bengtsson for their helpful advice and for creative discussions.

The project is supported by a generous grant from The Bank of Sweden Tercentenary Foundation.

My sincere gratitude goes to Professor Alexander George, both for initiating the entire Stable Peace research project and for his encouraging comments on my text.

I am also indebted to Professor Göran Hydén, Professor Rutger Lindahl and Dr. Adrian Hyde-Price for their willingness to give their opinions on the final manuscript. I wish to thank Sir David Ratford for invaluable language support, and Lena Rickard for her smooth assistance in preparing a camera-ready copy of the text.

Some of the ideas in chapters 3 and 8 have appeared in articles in Diplomacy & Statecraft (written together with Magnus Jerneck; vol. 8, no 3, 1997) and Cooperation & Conflict (vol. 35, no 3, 2000).

Finally, my deepest thanks to Monica and Ludvig for their unfaltering moral support!

Södra Sandby, April 2000
