

Contemporary Gulf Studies

Series Editors

Steven Wright

College of Humanities and Social Sciences

Hamad bin Khalifa University

Doha, Qatar

Abdullah Baabood

National University of Singapore

Singapore, Singapore

Salient Features:

- The Gulf lies at the intersection of regional conflicts and the competing interests of global powers and therefore publications in the series reflect this complex environment.
- The series will see publication on the dynamic nature of how the Gulf region has been undergoing enormous changes attracting regional and international interests.
- The series is managed through Gulf Studies Center at Qatar University, which has emerged as the leading institution within the Gulf region offering graduate degrees in Gulf Studies at both masters and doctoral level.

Aims and Scope:

This series offer a platform from which scholarly work on the most pressing issues within the Gulf region will be examined. The scope of the book series will encompass work being done on the member states of the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC): Saudi Arabia, Oman, United Arab Emirates, Qatar, Bahrain, Kuwait in addition to Iraq, Iran and Yemen. The series will focus on three types of volumes: Single and jointly authored monograph; Thematic edited books; Course text books. The scope of the series will include publications relating to the countries of focus, in terms of the following themes which will allow for interdisciplinary and multidisciplinary inquiry on the Gulf region to flourish:

Politics and political development
Regional and international relations
Regional cooperation and integration
Defense and security
Economics and development
Food and water security
Energy and environment
Civil society and the private sector
Identity, migration, youth, gender and employment
Health and education
Media, literature, arts & culture

More information about this series at <http://www.palgrave.com/gp/series/15318>

Luciano Zaccara
Editor

Foreign Policy of Iran
under President
Hassan Rouhani's
First Term
(2013–2017)

palgrave
macmillan

Editor

Luciano Zaccara
Gulf Studies Center
Qatar University
Doha, Qatar

ISSN 2662-320X

ISSN 2662-3218 (electronic)

Contemporary Gulf Studies

ISBN 978-981-15-3923-7

ISBN 978-981-15-3924-4 (eBook)

<https://doi.org/10.1007/978-981-15-3924-4>

© The Editor(s) (if applicable) and The Author(s), under exclusive licence to Springer Nature Singapore Pte Ltd. 2020

This work is subject to copyright. All rights are solely and exclusively licensed by the Publisher, whether the whole or part of the material is concerned, specifically the rights of translation, reprinting, reuse of illustrations, recitation, broadcasting, reproduction on microfilms or in any other physical way, and transmission or information storage and retrieval, electronic adaptation, computer software, or by similar or dissimilar methodology now known or hereafter developed.

The use of general descriptive names, registered names, trademarks, service marks, etc. in this publication does not imply, even in the absence of a specific statement, that such names are exempt from the relevant protective laws and regulations and therefore free for general use. The publisher, the authors and the editors are safe to assume that the advice and information in this book are believed to be true and accurate at the date of publication. Neither the publisher nor the authors or the editors give a warranty, expressed or implied, with respect to the material contained herein or for any errors or omissions that may have been made. The publisher remains neutral with regard to jurisdictional claims in published maps and institutional affiliations.

Cover design: eStudio Calamar

Cover image: Fernando Tatay, shutterstock.com

This Palgrave Macmillan imprint is published by the registered company Springer Nature Singapore Pte Ltd.

The registered company address is: 152 Beach Road, #21-01/04 Gateway East, Singapore 189721, Singapore

ACKNOWLEDGMENTS

The editor would like to thank all the authors involved in this book as well as those from the Gulf Studies Center at Qatar University who made it possible, particularly the current and former directors Mahjoob Zweiri and Abdullah Baabood, and the support staff and editors, Arwa Kamal Eldin, Wafa Sultana Mohiddin, Lorraine Charles and Farah Anwar AlQawasmi.

This project was partially funded by the Qatar University Faculty Grant, “The Performance of Iranian President Hassan Rouhani and his Impact on the Gulf Region” QUUG-CAS-GSC/2017-2.

CONTENTS

1	Introduction	1
	Luciano Zaccara and Wafa Sultana Mohiddin
2	Exploring President Rouhani’s Foreign Policy Doctrine 2013–2017	15
	Mahdi Ahouie
3	Revisiting Rouhani’s School of Thought: A Critical Discussion of Its Developmental and Foreign Policy Doctrines	43
	Ali Fathollah-Nejad
4	Rouhani, the Nuclear Deal, and New Horizons for Iran–US Relations	57
	Luciano Zaccara and Mehran Haghirian
5	The Sectarian Divide in Iran–Saudi Relations	87
	Shahram Akbarzadeh
6	Iran’s Own ‘War on Terror’: Iranian Foreign Policy Towards Syria and Iraq During the Rouhani Era	107
	Edward Wastnidge

7	Iran and Russia: Between Pragmatism and Possibilities of a Strategic Alliance	131
	Nikolay Kozhanov
8	Regaining Space: Iranian Foreign Policy Toward Latin America During the First Presidential Term of Hassan Rouhani (2013–2017)	157
	Sergio I. Moya Mena
9	From Ahmadinejad to Rouhani: Iran’s Presence in Africa	177
	Mahjoob Zweiri and Alieu Manjang
10	The Feasibility of Energy Cooperation between Iran and the Gulf Arab States	205
	Anna Aleksandra Gawlik
11	From Isolation to Accommodation: Lessons Learnt from Hassan Rouhani’s First Term in Office	229
	Anoushiravan Ehteshami

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Mahdi Ahoiue is Assistant Professor of international politics, and a member of the ‘Iranian Studies’ department at the Faculty of World Studies, University of Tehran. He has received a PhD in international relations from the Graduate Institute of International and Development Studies (IHEID), University of Geneva, Switzerland. He holds a Master’s degree in the same field from the University of Geneva specializing in international history and politics, and a BA from the School of International Relations in Tehran. Ahoiue’s main areas of research include Iran’s contemporary history, Iran’s political geography, Iranian foreign policy, and Middle East geopolitics.

Shahram Akbarzadeh is Convenor of Middle East Studies Forum and Deputy Director (International) of the Alfred Deakin Institute for Citizenship and Globalisation, Deakin University (Australia). He researches Iranian foreign policy, regional politics in the Persian Gulf, and the role of religion in international relations. He held a prestigious Australian Research Council Future Fellowship (2012–2016) on Islam in Iranian foreign policy, and a joint project on sectarianism in the Middle East sponsored by Qatar Foundation. He is lead researcher on a project examining proxy wars in the region, sponsored by Carnegie Corporation New York. He is the co-author of The Politics and International Relations of the Middle East: Crisis Zone (2018), editor of the Routledge Handbook of International Relations in the Middle East (2019), and has a host of related papers in International Politics, Middle East Policy, The Washington Quarterly, and Third World Quarterly to his name.

Anoushiravan Ehteshami is Professor of international relations in the School of Government and International Affairs, Durham University. He is also the Nasser al-Mohammad al-Sabah Chair in International Relations and director of the HH Sheikh Nasser al-Mohammad al-Sabah Programme in International Relations, Regional Politics and Security. He is, further, director of the Institute for Middle Eastern & Islamic Studies (IMEIS) at Durham. He was Durham University's first Dean of Internationalization, 2009–2011, and was the founding head of the School of Government and International Affairs (2004–2009). He has been a fellow of the World Economic Forum, and served as a member of the WEF's foremost body, the Global Agenda Councils, 2010–2012, focusing on energy. He was vice-president and Chair of Council of the British Society for Middle Eastern Studies (BRISMES), 2000–2003. He is Editor of two major book series on the Middle East and the wider Muslim world, and is member of Editorial Board of seven international journals.

Ali Fathollah-Nejad is a visiting fellow at the Brookings Institution in Doha and Lecturer in Middle East and comparative politics in the University of Tübingen's joint Master's program with the American University in Cairo (AUC). He holds a PhD in international relations from the Department of Development Studies at SOAS (School of Oriental and African Studies, University of London). His chapter derives from his upcoming Iran in an Emerging New World Order: From Ahmadinejad to Rouhani (Palgrave Macmillan's Studies in Iranian Politics). Ali is also author of the Brookings Analysis paper "The Islamic Republic of Iran four decades on: The 2017/18 protests amid a triple crisis."

Anna Aleksandra Gawlik graduated in Middle Eastern studies from Jagiellonian University in Poland, where she specialized in Iranian studies. Before acquiring the MA degree, she participated in exchange programs with La Sapienza University in Rome, Oriental Studies Department and Tehran University, Iranian Specialization. As a PhD candidate at Qatar University she took various courses on the international relations in the Gulf, its foreign policy analysis, political economy of the region, as well as in courses on the qualitative and quantitative dissertations. She has spent more than ten years in the Gulf region working in the foreign service of Poland, which allowed her to reach interesting personages of political and academic background. Proficiency in communicating with people in the local languages—Persian, Arabic, and English—allows her to gather the first-hand data directly from the party concerned. At the same time being well-settled in the European culture enables her to have an objective standpoint on the analyzed matter.

Mehran Haghirian is a PhD candidate at Qatar University, and a researcher and assistant director at the Ibn Khaldon Center for Humanities and Social Sciences. He is a graduate of American University's School of International Service in Washington, DC, with a master's degree in International Affairs and a research focus on Iran and the Persian Gulf region.

Nikolay Kozhanov is a research associate professor at the Gulf Studies Center of Qatar University and Consulting Fellow at the Russia and Eurasia Programme of Chatham House. His research focuses on the geopolitics of Gulf energy, Russian foreign policy in the Middle East, as well as Iran's economy and international relations. Kozhanov holds his PhD in economics from St. Petersburg State University (2010). He also has an MA degree in Oriental Studies (2006, St. Petersburg State University) and MA degree in Middle Eastern Studies (2012, University of Exeter). Nikolay recent publications include Russia and the Syrian Conflict: Moscow's Domestic, Regional and Strategic Interests (2016) and Iran's Strategic Thinking: The Evolution of Iran's Foreign Policy 1979–2017 (2018).

Aliou Manjang is a Gambian diplomat in Qatar and a graduate student at the College of Public Policy at Hamad Bin Khalifa University. Before joining diplomatic corps, Manjang worked in Qatar University as a Graduate Teaching and Research Assistant. Manjang holds double masters: MA in Gulf Studies (Qatar University) and MA in Public Policy in Islam (Faculty of Islamic Studies, Hamad Bin Khalifa University, Qatar, 2012). He obtained his BA in Journalism and Mass Communication from the Al-Azhar University, Egypt (2009). His areas of interest include, foreign policy (foreign policies of Gulf States toward Africa) and policy analysis (education and family).

Wafa Sultana Mohiddin is an MA student and a graduate research assistant in the Gulf Studies Program at Qatar University. Having a bachelor's in law, her research interests largely focuses on conflict resolution, regional peace, and security studies in the Persian Gulf States.

Sergio I. Moya Mena is Coordinator of the Center for Middle East and North African Studies at the School of International Studies at the National University of Costa Rica. He is Professor of political science at the University of Costa Rica. He received his BS in international relations and theology from the National University and his PhD in philosophy from the University of Costa Rica. His books include The Middle East: Image and Conflict, Islamism in Tunisia: From Independence to the Rise of Salafism, At Your Service oh Hussein: The Shiite Militias and the Fight Against the Islamic State and Latin American Foreign Policies Towards the Middle East.

Edward Wastnidge is Lecturer in politics and international relations at the Open University, United Kingdom. Wastnidge's research concerns the politics and international relations of the Middle East and Central Asia, focusing on Iranian foreign policy. His current work explores the intersection of ideas and foreign policy, cultural and religious diplomacy, and questions of identity in Iran's international relations. His monograph, Diplomacy and Reform in Iran: Foreign Policy under Khatami, was published in 2016. Wastnidge is deputy director of the Sectarianism, Proxies and Desectarianisation project (SEPAD), and co-editor of the Identities and Geopolitics of the Middle East book series.

Luciano Zaccara is Research Assistant Professor in Gulf politics at the Qatar University, Gulf Studies Center. He is also a visiting assistant professor at the Georgetown University in Qatar, and director of the Observatory on Politics and Elections in the Arab and Muslim World in Spain. He obtained a BA in political science from National University of Rosario, Argentina, and a PhD in Arab and Islamic Studies from Autonomía University of Madrid, Spain. He has been also post-doctoral fellow at Autonomía University of Barcelona, a visiting researcher at Exeter University, Institute for Arab and Islamic Studies, and a visiting researcher at Princeton University, Center for Iran and Persian Gulf Studies. His research interests are Iranian politics and foreign policy, Gulf politics, international relations in the Persian Gulf, and electoral systems in MENA region.

Mahjoob Zweiri is the director of Gulf Studies Center. He is Associate Professor of contemporary politics of the Middle East at Qatar University. He was a visiting professor to School of Government & International Affairs at Durham University. From March 2003 to December 2006 he was a research fellow and then a director of the Centre for Iranian Studies in the Institute for Middle Eastern and Islamic Studies at Durham University. Zweiri has more than 60 publications in the areas of Iran and Contemporary Middle East History and Politics.