Part II

Tributes and Recollections from Former Students
In the course of his long and distinguished career, Professor Bekey had many associates. It is perhaps not unfair to say that some of the strongest bonds he formed were with his graduate students, many of whom stay in regular touch with him (and with each other) to this day. This part of the book gives a brief survey of Professor Bekey’s career and an account of his students (the Bekey ’Tribe’). It also includes some tributes and recollections by his former students.
