Preface

We are delighted to invite you to participate in the 2011 2nd International Conference on Education and Educational Technology (EET 2011) in Chengdu, China, October 1–2.

Chengdu is the capital of Sichuan Province, which is known as the "Heavenly State" (Tian Fu Zhi Guo). Being the natural habitat of cute giant pandas, Chengdu is located in the west of Sichuan Basin and in the center of Chengdu Plain. It covers a total area of 12.3 thousand square kilometres (4,749 square miles) with a population of over 11 million.

Benefiting from Dujiangyan Irrigation Project which was constructed in 256 B.C., Sichuan Province is reputed as "Tian Fu Zhi Guo", literally a place richly endowed with natural resources. Chengdu, as the capital, is extremely productive. The Min and Tuo Rivers, two branches of the Yangtze River, connected to forty other rivers, supply an irrigation area of more than 700 square kilometres (270.27 square miles) with 150-180 million kilowatts of water. Consisting of abundant mineral resources, the land is extremely fertile. The history of Chengdu can be traced back 2,400 years when the first emperor built his capital here and named the city. Through thousands of years its original name has been kept and its position as the capital and as the significant center of politics, commerce and military of the Sichuan area (once called Shu) has remained unchanged. Since the Han (206B.C.-220) and Tang (618-907) Dynasties when its handicraft industry flourished, Chengdu has been famous for its brocades and embroideries. Shu embroideries still enjoy a high reputation for their bright colors and delicate designs, ranking among the four main embroideries in China. Chengdu was the place where the bronze culture, an indispensable part of ancient Chinese culture, originated, the place where the Southern Silk Road started, and the place where the earliest paper currency, Jiaozi (not the dumpling!), was first printed. It is listed among the first 24 state-approved historical and cultural cities and owns 23 state and provincial cultural relic units.

The objective of EET 2011 is to provide a forum for researchers, educators, engineers, and government officials involved in the general areas of Education and Educational Technology to disseminate their latest research results and exchange views on the future research directions of these fields.

2011 2nd International Conference on Education and Educational Technology (EET 2011) is sponsored by Beijing Normal University. The mission is to bring together innovative academics and industrial experts in the field of Education and Educational Technology. The EET 2011 will also include presentations of contributed papers and state-of-the-art lectures by invited keynote speakers. The conference will bring together leading researchers, engineers and scientists in the domain of interest.

We would like to thank the program chairs, organization staff, and the members of the program committees for their hard work. Special thanks go to Springer Publisher.

We hope that EET 2011 will be successful and enjoyable to all participants. We look forward to seeing all of you next year at the EET 2012.
